ARMAMENT AIMS TOLD

Results Wanted, Kellogg Says

Progressive Limitation of Land Forces Urged in Plattsburg Speech

Secretary Asserts America Eager to Co-operate in Geneva Parleys

PLATTSBURG (N. Y.) Aug. 18. (AP) The Washington government "wants results" in the shape of progressive international agreements to limit and ultimately reduce armaments, particularly naval armaments, Secretary Kellogg said here today in an address chiefly devoted to a review of American policy in connection with the Geneva preliminary arms limitation conference.

He denied categorically that the Washington administration contemplates withdrawal from the Geneva discussion. On the contrary, he said, the government is working and will continue to work for the success of that effort to clear the road for actual steps to cut down military burdens.

The occasion of the address was the unveiling of a monument here to Commodore Thomas MacDonough, Great Lakes to victory in the War of who led American naval forces on the 1812. That battle, Mr. Kellogg said, "initiated the friendship between the two great branches of the Anglo-Saxon race which has endured over 100 years."

"It is inconceivable," he said, "that anything can bring these nations again into the conflict of war."

NO SELFISH INTERESTS

Mr. Kellogg's review of American policy at Geneva was presented after a stay of several days at the summer White House at Paul Smith's in conference with President Coolidge on foreign relations. He declared the time to be opportune to summarize what the American delegation at Geneva has been trying to accomplish. He began this summary by saying that the United States has "no selfish interests to serve at Geneva."

"We have advocated the desirability of starting with regional agreements which would strike at the root of the problem by removing from a nation the fear of aggression from its immediate neighbors," he said in discussing the American view of land armaments. "By progressing from modest beginnings we are more likely to go forward than if all nations wait until some universally applicable scheme (of arms reduction) is formulated.

"It seems almost an impossible task to draw up any plan which will be acceptable to all nations. Nor is this essential to progress.

RELATIVITY SMALL

"It is difficult to see the relation of the land armaments of the Far East to those of Western Europe, or of such armaments in Europe to those of North and South America. Thus it seems an unnecessary as well as futile task to attempt to devise an all-em-

STATE ENGINEER TO OPPOSE NELLIE ROSS

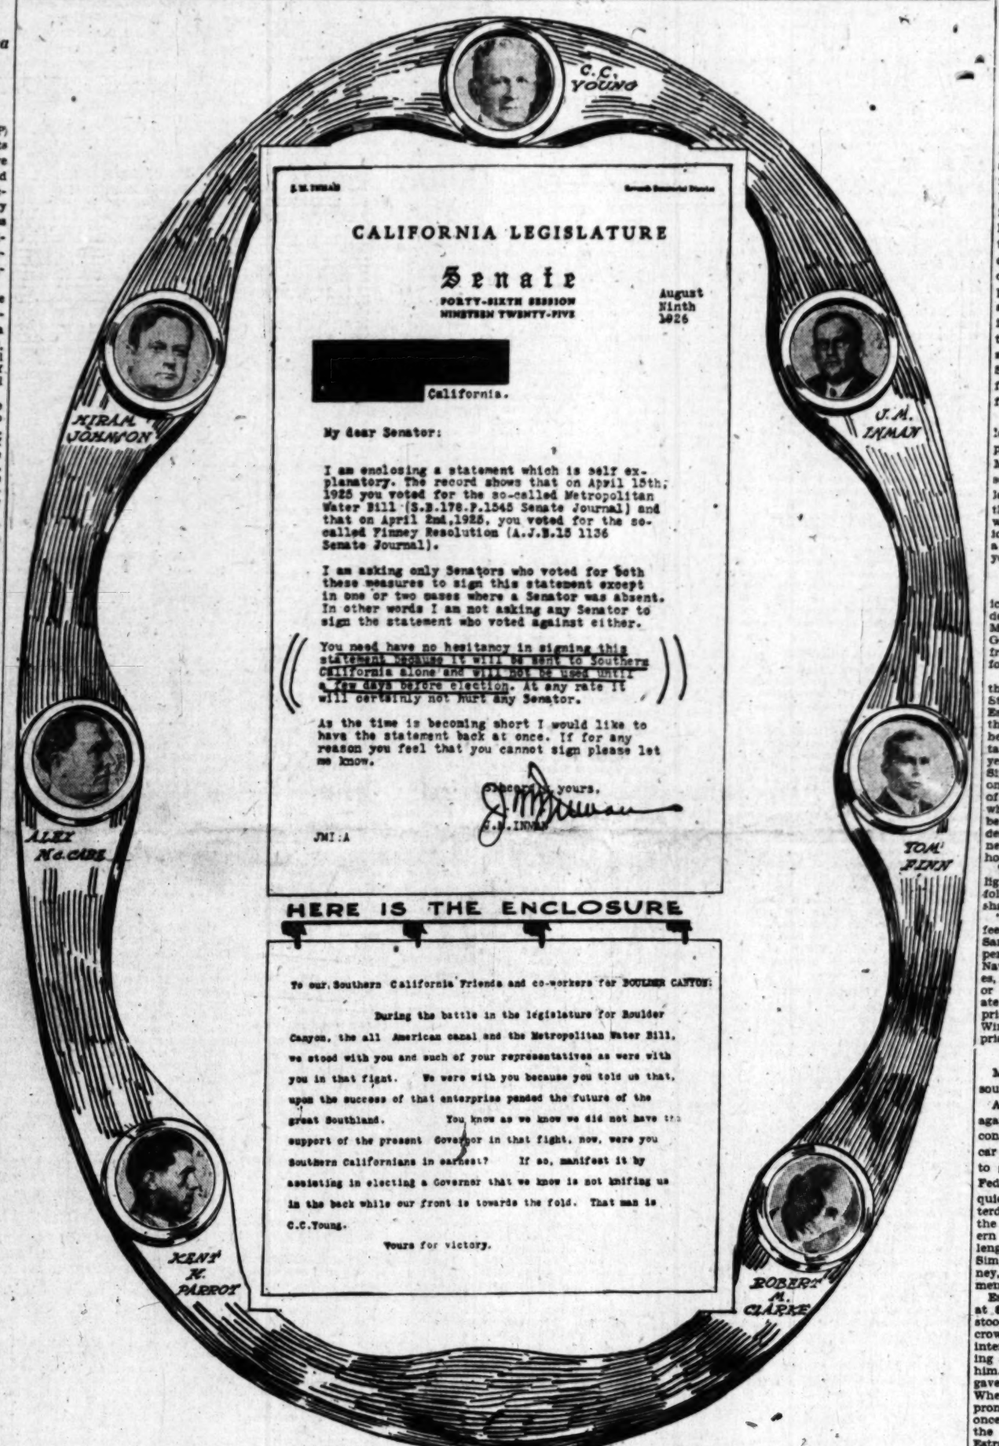
CHEYENNE (Wyo.) Aug. 18. (AP)—State Engineer Frank C. Emerson late today was conceded to be the Republican gubernatorial nominee to oppose Nellie Taylor Ross, Wyoming's woman Governor, in the November elections. Returns from 414 of the 683 precincts in the State showed Emerson leading by 5199 votes, his opponent, Secretary of State Frank E. Lucas, having received 8935 to 14,136 for Emerson. In the race for Secretary of State nomination, A. Clark was leading John Stansbury by approximately 2000 votes.

UNPRINCIPLED POLITICAL TRICKERY BARED

Bald Dishonesty of Young's Colorado Propaganda Confessed

THE RING AND THE PLOT

Below is a photostatic copy of a letter sent out by State Senator J. M. Inman to his colleagues in the State Legislature seeking their signatures to a typical piece of C. C. Young-Colorado River propaganda. Note the marked paragraph in which he says they need not hesitate to sign it BECAUSE IT WILL BE USED IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA ALONE AND NOT UNTIL A FEW DAYS BEFORE ELECTION. The name of the Senator to whom this particular copy was addressed has been eliminated.



HERE IS THE ENCLOSURE

To our Southern California friends and co-workers for BOULDER CANYON:

During the battle in the legislature for Boulder Canyon, the all American canal and the Metropolitan Water Bill, we stood with you and each of your representatives as were with you in that fight. We were with you because you told us that, upon the success of that enterprise pended the future of the great Southland. You know as we know we did not have the support of the present Governor in that fight, now, were you Southern Californians in earnest? If so, manifest it by assisting in electing a Governor that we know is not knifing us in the back while our front is towards the fold. That man is C.C.Young.

Yours for victory.

Themselves betraying the brazenly hypocritical nature of the Colorado River propaganda broadcast in behalf of the gubernatorial candidacy of Lieut.-Gov. Young, the managers of the Young campaign, it became known yesterday, have prepared a piece of campaign literature to be issued at the last minute in an effort to mislead and betray the Republican voters of Southern California on the very eve of the primary election.

In resorting to the time-worn and dishonorable practice of making an eleventh-hour political "appeal" designed to confuse the issues in the contest for Governor, the unscrupulous politicians responsible for this attempt to abuse public confidence intrusted the details of their plot to the Sacramento representative of the McCabe-Finn machine—State Senator J. M. Inman.

And it is due to Inman, and his careless and cynical candor in admitting over his signature the insincere nature of the Young propaganda, that the people of Southern California are supplied herewith—possibly ten days in advance of the plans of Boss McCabe, Sheriff Finn and Boss Parrot—with full and incontrovertible proof of the unprincipled scheme.

In view of the genuine need of the Southland for honest and capable service in the Colorado River negotiations, the utterly selfish and insincere protestations of the Young-for-Governor contingent constitute an active peril to Southern California.

The propaganda itself, in the form of an apparently spontaneous exhortation from Northern California Senators in sympathy with the Southland's needs, is to be—or was to be—circulated through the Hearst newspapers and a few other smaller Southern California newspapers as Mr. Inman brazenly declares, only in Southern California and only "a few days before election."

Sensing the probable reluctance of many of his confreres to take a step possibly disadvantageous to their own local interests, Mr. Inman naively brushes aside any such reservation with the assurance that "you need have no hesitancy in signing this statement because it will be sent to Southern California alone," and if any further certainty of immunity were needed other than his guarantee that the document would be "sent" to Southern California too late for refutation or for publication in Northern California, he adds: "At any rate it will certainly not hurt any Senator."

Thus it appears that the McCabe-Finn-Parrot combination would trick the voters of Southern California with a statement signed by Northern California State Senators who are assured that their own constituents will be kept in ignorance of their political activities.

Just how important a statement would be signed by those thus admittedly lending their names for the sole purpose of fooling an electorate is a matter for conjecture. It is strictly in keeping, however, with the general nature of the Colorado

ASKS GUARD ON BORDER

Calexico Fears New Revolt

Request for Troops Based on Reports of Large Estrada "Army"

Marshal Sittel Called to San Diego to Provide Jail for Prisoners

Fearing a second attempt at rebellion against the Mexican government and alarmed for the safety of American lives along the international border, the City Trustees of Calexico, it was learned here yesterday, have forwarded to the commander of the Ninth Corps Area an urgent request for the immediate movement of 500 soldiers to the border city. Dispatches state that both Americans and Mexicans in Calexico and Mexicali have strong reason to believe that Gen. Enrique Estrada, who was arrested with his "army" of 150 at San Diego last Sunday, has a powerful and well-organized group of confederates in the Mexicali district.

In that connection it has been learned that American officials in Imperial county are co-operating with Mexican authorities in a general search for Amagana Majia, radical leader who vanished from Mexicali the night Estrada was captured and who, authorities declare, has been identified with political movements of a revolutionary character for several years.

MORE MEXICAN TROOPS

The situation in Calexico and Mexicali is such that unofficial reports declare that the fourth battalion of Mexican troops under command of Gen. A. Armenta has been dispatched from Guaymas to supplement the forces already stationed at Mexicali.

Dispatches from San Diego describe the arraignment there before United States Commissioner Ryan of Gen. Estrada and his men, the fixing of their bonds and the setting of their hearings for September 9. Simultaneously orders were received here yesterday by United States Marshal Sittel directing him to proceed at once to San Diego and take charge of the prisoners. With no quarters where Estrada and his rebel host can be held legally, Marshal Sittel is under orders to find or build some manner of Federal prison in which to house the political prisoners.

This strange situation came to light with the receipt by Sittel of the following telegram from Acting Marshal-General Mitchell in Washington:

"Navy will temporarily house and feed 150 prisoners at Marine Barracks, San Diego, held in your custody, expense to be borne by this depot. Navy cannot lawfully guard prisoners, and you are authorized to appoint or employ necessary guards. Immediate steps should be taken to find prison quarters for those not bailed. Wire me when you expect to remove prisoners from barracks."

QUIET IN LOS ANGELES

Marshall Sittel will leave for the south today.

Although early action is expected against the men who authorized the construction here of a second armored car to be used in Estrada's attempt to gain control of Lower California, Federal agents reported everything quiet in the Los Angeles sector yesterday. Lucien C. Wheeler, head of the Department of Justice for Southern California and Arizona, held a lengthy conference with J. Edwin Simpson, acting United States Attorney, but declined to make any statement following the meeting.

Estrada's bail was fixed yesterday at $20,000. The asserted rebel leader stood alone in the center of the crowded courtroom and through an interpreter heard charges of fomenting and inciting a revolt read against him. He stood with arms folded and gave strict attention to the charges. When the amount of his bail was pronounced he smiled. He spoke only once, to signify that he understood the statement made to him. After Estrada came Aurelio Sepulveda, officer of the Mexican army, who said he has lived in Los Angeles for the last two years. His bail was fixed at $10,000. Then, in groups of six, other members of the revolt army were brought into court by Deputy Sheriff Oliver Sexson.

PARK BLAZE RUNS WILD

Sequoia Groves Face Ruin

Uncontrolled Fire Threatens Giant Redwoods as More Fighters Join Battle

Plane Survey Shows Danger; Closing All California Forests Considered

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18. (AP)—A forest fire, the worst in this State in the past two seasons, was raging tonight across the confines of the Sequoia National Park east of Fresno. The great blaze, of which that part invading the Sequoia Park is but one sector with an eight-mile front, already had burned over 45,000 acres of small timber and brush and was threatening 1500 acres of giant Sequoias and $100,000 worth of cut timber.

The giant grove, a stand of immense redwoods, was less than a mile from the fire front.

Park Ranger Cook, already in command of 450 men endeavoring to halt the advance of the flames, sent appeals to San Joaquin Valley towns for more men to augment his forces, and United States Forest Service headquarters here obtained additional fire fighters from the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe Railroads who were being rushed to the scene.

PLANE SURVEY MADE

The entire front of the fire stretches over thirty-five miles.

In an army airplane from Mather Field, District Forest Supervisor Benedict made an aerial survey of the situation today and immediately ordered that fire fighters be transferred from the Sierra Forest to the Sequoia.

Another small fire burning on the east side of the Sequoia Forest was being fought by fifteen men.

Rain last night and today in the Klamath National Forest on the Oregon line, had ended the fire hazard there.

Three new incendiary fires in the Treka district of the Klamath Forest were extinguished today.

The Mill Creek fire in the Lassen National Forest, which in the last ten days had burned over 10,000 acres of brush and small timber, was reported under control, but a no-smoking order was put into effect on that forest today.

Fires in Washington, Northern Idaho and Western Montana were reported generally well controlled, as result of rains and decreasing aridity.

MAY CLOSE FORESTS

Closing of all national forests in California to the public until the present fire hazard is ended is under serious consideration by officials of the United States Forest Service. A statement by the Forest Service today said:

"Faced by a forest fire situation similar to the disastrous year of 1924 and menaced by unfavorable weather conditions, a growing number of big fires and the increased travel that always follows the opening of the State-wide hunting season on September 1, the United States Forest Service is seriously considering the total closure of the national forests in California to public use.

"More than 1100 fires that have burned over 400,000 acres of government and private lands within and adjacent to the national forests already have occurred this year. The expense of fighting these fires is in excess of $280,000, not counting the timber and other forest resources damaged and destroyed.

"As a fire prevention measure regulations prohibiting smoking except in improved camps and places of habitation have been put into effect in practically all national forests of the State. But in many regions it is claimed even this has failed to reduce the number of destructive conflagrations started by human carelessness."

"We do not wish to close the national forests to the public except as a last resort," said District Forester Snow, "but if the fire situation remains critical and the number of man-caused fires is not materially decreased, the Forest Service will be forced, under authority granted by Congress, to close the Federal forests to campers, fishermen, recreationists and every one who does not have important business therein."

ARMY MAGAZINE EXPLODES

Billion Rounds of Ammunition Blow Up as Fire Set By Lightning Attacks Depot

NORFOLK (Va.) Aug. 18. (AP)—A magazine said to contain a billion rounds of small-arms ammunition exploded at the Army ammunition depot at Pig Point on the James River, fifteen miles from Portsmouth, tonight, at 7:10 o'clock. Nobody was killed or injured, a hasty check was said to have shown, the chief damage being to the magazine which was destroyed. Fire apparatus from Portsmouth aided the depot garrison in fighting the flames.

An hour after the explosion the fire was believed to be under control. Members of the families of civilian employees at the depot were rushed out of the danger zone and the garrison was prepared to desert the station if the flames threatened to spread to near-by magazines.

The explosion, like that at Lake Denmark, N. J., a few weeks ago, was blamed on lightning, although the blast did not occur until several hours after an electrical storm had passed over the depot. The theory was that the lightning had set a slow fire. The fact that practically the entire personnel of the depot was attending the nightly exhibition of moving pictures and were thus drawn away from the danger zone was responsible for the absence of any casualties.

The magazine was known as No. L-11 in the center of a district of four and that no other magazines were involved was considered a piece of good fortune. The detonation rocked the entire section and the subsequent glare and pall of smoke from the fire were visible for many miles up the James River and over Hampton Roads.

Apparently only the top layer of ammunition in the magazine exploded, but that beneath it was set on fire.

Board of Control Explodes Young's Charges Against Richardson

CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR ACCUSED OF DECEPTION

Demagoguery or Ignorance Blamed for Assertions Concerning State Expenditures

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 18. (Exclusive)—The Board of Control in a statement issued today exposed the false assertions of C. C. Young, candidate for Governor, and showed how ridiculous was his juggling of figures in regard to State expenditures. The statement of the board is signed by its members, George Grant Radcliff, Henry Robert Braden and Charles L. Heartwell. It shows that despite the great growth in population of the State, the general operating expenses have not increased during the past four years.

The statement of the Board of Control is as follows:

C. C. Young either is grossly ignorant of the business affairs of the State of California which he has ambitions to handle or he is deliberately attempting to deceive the people of the State in saying Gov. Richardson is responsible for an increase of $121,000,000 in the cost of State government. This is the way Lieut.-Gov. Young has made up his figures in an attempt to show the present administration has not effected economy:

FALSITIES SHOWN

(1.) By charging Gov. Richardson with being responsible for the number of automobiles in the State of California and the amount of gasoline consumed in the State, for it is through gas tax and registration fees that money is raised for highway expenditures.

(2.) By failing to charge the administration of Gov. Stephens with any money realized from the sale of highway bonds expended on highways, that being the former method used in financing highways—yet the Richardson budget has to take care of interest and sinking fund on the bonds by which highway construction was accomplished during the administrations of Gov. Johnson and Gov. Stephens.

(3.) By charging Gov. Richardson with being responsible for the increase in population in California, for the greater portions of expenditures for education are regulated by the constitution on the basis of $20 per pupil in daily average attendance in the elementary and secondary schools.

ASSET, NOT LIABILITY

(4.) By charging Gov. Richardson with being responsible for expenditures of the Legislature, salaries of judges and other expenditures voted by the people as well as with appropriations of former Legislatures, expenditures authorized by prior administrations over which the chief executive has no control.

(5.) By charging Gov. Richardson with the increase in the business of the self-supporting departments maintained entirely by fees and which are in no sense maintained by funds realized from taxation, which departments actually have taken in $8,793,063.22 more than they have expended, being an asset rather than a liability to the State.

(6.) By charging Gov. Richardson with being responsible for the hoof-and-mouth disease.

(7.) By charging Gov. Richardson with $14,000,000 through "error." We have made analysis of the printed circular of "Tables compiled by C. C. Young, December 14, 1925," and find that he is just $14,000,000 off which may be considered a very slight thing by him but a rather costly one if he were actually Governor and expending the people's money rather than merely juggling with figures.

FAIR WAY TO JUDGE

There is only one fair way to judge the economy of an administration and that is by the expenditures that the administration is responsible for. That means appropriations or expenditures by the administrative branches and which could have been eliminated or reduced through the veto power of the Governor or indirectly through his appointments of commissions or heads of departments. That is, the general operating budget arrived at by eliminating the fixed charges—fixed by the constitution or laws passed by prior Legislatures which the Governor has no power to veto or voted by the people themselves over which expenditures a Governor has no control whatever, directly or indirectly. Lieut.-Gov. Young knows that if he listened at all to what was going on in the Senate where he was presiding during the past two sessions of the Legislature.

The charge of C. C. Young that Gov. Richardson is responsible for increased expenditures either is made through ignorance or through demagoguery.

We are familiar with the figures of State expenditures made during the present administration and we challenge Mr. Young to point out any one specific item of expense over which the Governor had control that was unjustifiedly increased during Gov. Richardson's administration.

Plan for Paying French Debt in Rubber Urged

PARIS, Aug. 18. (AP)—A proposal that the French debt to the United States be liquidated in part by profits from rubber-growing in French possessions in the Far East has been put forward by M. Outrey, member of the Chamber of Deputies from Indo-China.

His plan is that an American financial group be given rights in 1,000,000 hectares of rubber land and that a portion of the ensuing profits from the crop be applied on the nation's debt.

GAINS REPORTED FOR VALENTINO

entino reached the door today. The actor received with pleasure a resolution of sympathy from the doctors of the United Artists Corporation, by whom he is employed.

"That's very nice," he said weakly when the message was read to him by his manager, S. George Ullman.

One well-wisher sent Dr. Meeker a sandalwood box containing "sacred oils" which were claimed to have miraculous curing powers.

Valentino himself was reported to be getting restive during his confinement. "How much longer is this darned thing going to last?" he asked, according to Mr. Ullman.

Mr. Ullman took occasion to deny that Valentino was wearing embroidered white silk pajamas. He said he was clad in the regulation hospital night gown.

A cablegram from Valentino's wife, Winifred Hudnut, and her aunt, Mrs. Thereza Werner, in Paris read:

"We pray for your recovery. Love."

At noon, one of New York's tabloid newspapers caused a slight flurry of excitment by issuing an edition hawked by leather-lunged newsboys who yelled "Wuxtry! All about Rudy!"

Across the top of the front page in large type were the two words "Rudy Dead!" And then in type much smaller in size, "Cry Startles Film World as Sheik Rallies."

The story which went with the shrieking headline declared that there had been a rumor along Broadway that Valentino had died, and that this rumor had been met at the hospital by the statement that he was steadily improving.

INCREASE PHONE CALLS

The extra increased the number of telephone calls at the hospital almost immediately.

Mr. Ullman said the actor was permitted today for the first time to take nourishment, being served a small bowl of broth.

An inquiry about the famous "sheik's" condition by telephone from Los Angeles was received at 6 o'clock this morning.

"This is Pola Negri. How is Mr. Valentino?" asked the voice.

After the operator replied there was no change in his condition the voice said "thank you" and the connection was broken.

Miss Negri is reported to be Valentino's fiancee.

Telegrams continued to pour into the hospital today. Aileen Pringle wired "if there is a little room left for love in your heart save it for me."

"Fight, Rudy, fight. Millions need you," was the message telegraphed by John Gilbert.

Telegrams also were received from Bebe Daniels and Vilma Banky.

"Tammany" Young, celebrated "gate crasher" finding himself unable to "crash" his way into the hospital to see Valentino sent the latter the following penciled note:

"Dear Pal: God always takes care of regular fellows. He'll take care of you."

Sid Grauman wired: "Everyone in Hollywood is pulling for you."

And telephone calls came all day and all night long, most of them from women.

MAIL PILING UP

Letters and packages began piling up today. From a Chicago girl, Valentino received a copy of "Bedtime Stories for Grown-up Guys." Among other books were at least a dozen Bibles.

The sheik's second wife, Natacha Rambova, cabled from Paris her good wishes. What the patient had to say about that was not reported from the sick room, but concerning one of his letters, Rudolph was said to be pleased and cheered. The letter was on cheap stationery, and it was poorly written. Here is what it said:

"Please accept a little message of sympathy from a stranger. All I said has been blessed with the holy relic of Gabriel from the Katolic church, 14th street and West Boulevard, and also from the Katolic church Madonna Della Libora, Italian church, 14th street and West Boulevard, West New York, N. J."

"Sir, I shall continue to pray for your life to be spared, and as soon you will be on the road to health.

"From a mother."

Post-Volstead Cellar Illegal, Tribunal Rules

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 18. (AP)—In upholding the decision of the Third District Appellate Court in the case of Joe Avila, convicted in Stanislaus county of illegal possession of liquor, the State Supreme Court today ruled, in effect, that liquor is illegal in the home except when the owner can prove he acquired it before prohibition.

Avila, who was fined $600 for possession, appealed on the ground that the Volstead Act specifically says liquor may be kept in the home for personal use and for the use of bona fide guests. The Appellate Court ruled that this exemption applies only to liquor purchased prior to the prohibition era.

BALKAN PACT PLANNED

ATHENS, Aug. 18. (AP)—A friendship pact between Greece and Rumania, similar to the one just signed between Greece and Jugo-Slavia, is in prospect for the furtherance of peace in the Balkans, it was stated authoritatively today.

RESULTS ASKED IN ARMS PARLEY

Kellogg Sketches Aims in Plattsburg Speech

Progressive Limitation by Nations Proposed

brewing formula for the direction of the armies of the world. . . . If we must delay all action until conditions are everywhere ideal we will have to abandon hope of any arms limitation for some time to come."

The American Army is so small, Mr. Kellogg said, that it never has been a deterrent to other powers on either side of the world who desired to reduce or limit their own forces. Because of this, he added, American interest is less immediate at Geneva in the land-armaments question, although its participation in limitation of naval armaments is more direct.

"Here (in naval armaments) it is obvious that regional agreements cannot be so effectively employed," he continued. "It is rather the task of the principal naval powers of the world to take the lead in the endeavor to find means to do away with future competition in naval construction.

GLAD TO CO-OPERATE

"I reiterate that the United States will be glad to co-operate with other naval powers in extending the principles of the Washington Treaty to other classes of naval vessels, and I earnestly hope that such a measure may soon be practicable. And let me say here that what we desire is results. We are now working to make the Geneva meeting a success in so far as our contribution to the work can make it so, and we hope that progress toward naval limitation as well as toward limitation of land armament will result from these discussions."

The Secretary referred to the indicated desire of "certain of the powers at Geneva" to lump land, sea and air armaments together as "an inseparable whole" on the theory that reduction in any one branch must be contingent upon reductions in the other two. While the United States recognizes "a certain interdependence" of this kind in some cases, he said, it feels that "every effort should be made to simplify and not to complicate" the limitation problem, and believes the success of the Washington conference was due to the fact that it "selected and attacked concrete problems and worked out an agreement which is entirely practical."

STILL HAVE HOPES

"We believe it will eventually be found that naval armaments should form the subject of agreements between the naval powers principally interested," he added.

In denying all published suggestions that the American delegation may withdraw from Geneva, Mr. Kellogg declared it will remain "as long as there is any prospect of accomplishing anything toward the great object of the limitation and reduction of armaments." There has been divergence of views on intricate questions at Geneva, he said, citing the fact that certain powers appear to favor basing a scale of armaments for limitation purposes on "economic resources of a country," on the ground that the possession of such resources would justify the reduction of peace-time armaments of a state. Such a theory, he said, might deprive the United States of any army and navy at all because of its great natural resources.

FOR VISIBLE BASIS

"I believe the only practical basis for the reduction or limitation of armaments is through dealing with military forces and visible tangible armaments," said he. "What possible criterion can we find if we undertake to base a limitation of armament agreement upon the economic resources of every country in the world?"

The Secretary reiterated flatly the American objection already voiced at Geneva to any suggestion for an international supervision of armament reduction.

"So far as the United States is concerned, the execution of any international agreement for arms limitation must depend upon good faith and respect for treaties," he said. "We will not accept supervision of any outside body or be subject to inspection or control by foreign agencies.

"Of course, if other powers desire to make such a regime of international control applicable to themselves, it would be no concern of ours."

THERE TO ASSIST

The American delegation at Geneva, he said, has not sought to limit discussion there in any way because it was there "to help and not to obstruct."

"We do not begrudge the time consumed in deliberation," he said. "We desire sincerely that every practicable path be explored before the commission proceeds with its work of drawing up the agenda for subsequent conferences where more definite measures of disarmaments are to be considered.

"We believe strongly, however, that eventually, after exhaustive discussion of other proposals, the soundness of the views which our representatives at Geneva have put forward will be recognized. However much a general universal scheme may attract the thoughts of mankind, we fear that a scheme acceptable to all nations cannot be achieved, and that if we wait for its elaboration and adoption we may defer definitely any hope of disarmament."

DEEP SIGNIFICANCE SEEN IN KELLOGG SPEECH

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—Secretary Kellogg's Plattsburg speech, summarizing work of the Geneva preliminary arms limitation conference and setting out american policy in emphatic language, is given more than surface significance in official circles here. There can be no question that it was delivered with a definite purpose as the State Department has cabled in full to all American diplomatic missions in major capitals the complete text of the address, dealing with the Geneva situation.

The obvious purpose of the Secretary was to answer once and for all published reports from Europe that the Washington government may withdraw from the Geneva gatherings with its League of Nations aspect and attempt to set up an independent supplementary naval limitations conference of its own. The less obvious but equally clear-cut meaning read into the address is that the Secretary intends to make it clear to the world that the United States is not to be held accountable for any failure at Geneva to arrive at practical results which promise reduction of armaments.

MET WITH COOLIDGE

Before he completed the final draft of his speech, Mr. Kellogg had not only his conference with President Coolidge, but had received first-hand reports from members of the American delegation who had returned from Geneva and could tell him of their conclusions as to motives behind some of the French or other maneuvers in the experts' committee. He reflects the hope of these delegates that eventually tangible results will flow from the Geneva conference if it can be kept from frittering its opportunity away in idle speculation as to impossible and impracticable limitation formulae.

The Washington government had experience in trying to formulate an embracing unit by which to measure relative naval strength. It tried to do that in advance of the Washington conference, but failed. As a result, the direct, practical proposals based on tonnage made by Secretary Hughes were evolved.

The French and some other delegations at Geneva have been considering the far more difficult problem of finding a basis for limitation in a formula that would cover land and sea forces, aircraft and even national economic resources and possibly man power. That the Washington government views such suggestions as almost frivolous in that they can only lead away from actual reductions in armament, Mr. Kellogg has made plain.

He sees no value whatever in attempting to prescribe an armaments cure-all like an old-fashioned "shotgun prescription" such as country doctors gave patients with undetermined complaints.

The address may well have the effect of stimulating the Geneva commission to elimination from its discussion such general theories as are without practical value at this time. The American demand for results, voiced by Mr. Kellogg, hardly can be wholly ignored.

And in one other respect his remarks have considerable significance. They leave the door wide open for American initiative in seeking a separate conference among the great naval powers to widen the scope of the Washington limitations agreements should the Geneva gathering adjourn without taking some constructive and hopeful action toward that and other phases of the problem of cutting down military overloads.

UNPRINCIPLED TRICKERY BARED

River agitation by Young and his campaign workers, as the whole effort to make Young appear as a genuine leader in the river-development program is based on misrepresentation.

What other last-minute gestures Messrs. Parrott, McCabe and Finn contemplate have not as yet been revealed, but in self-protection the people of Southern California should be on guard against similar attempts to trick them.

State Senator Inman is a relatively unimportant part of the general scheme to mislead. From the standpoint of Southern California he is chiefly important as one of the members of the Legislature most active in cheating Southern California of the representation it should gain at Sacramento through a legal reapportionment of the membership of the Assembly and Senate.

Never in the history of California, or, so far as known here, in any other Commonwealth, has there been a bolder attempt to seize all the important political offices of a State. Headed by Senator Johnson and reaching into many of the smaller communities, the municipal machine of McCabe and Finn in San Francisco and of Parrot in Los Angeles are seeking to name a Governor, a United States Senator, Lieutenant-Governor, members of Congress, members of the State Legislature and the personnel of other local offices.

The political ring backing Young for Governor and ex-Judge Clarke for Senator is not concerned with party issues or principles, but is seeking, through such false and presumptuous appeals as the Inman letter, to create a condition in the public mind favorable to government by manipulation and exploitation.

Titled Husband of Gloria Kept Night on Ship

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (AP)—The Marquis Palaise De la Coudray, husband of Gloria Swanson, picture actress, landed from the steamer Olympic today after being detained aboard with other aliens overnight. When she learned that her husband would not be passed by immigration officials last night, Miss Swanson went aboard the ship and remained with him.

The Marquis occupied a modest inside cabin on the voyage. Among several presents he brought for his wife was a silver bracelet. They left the pier in Miss Swanson's limousine.

WALES'S KIN BLACKBALLED

Rebuff to Lord Mountbatten Said to Be Result of Conflict Within Royal Family

LONDON, Aug. 18. (Exclusive)—It was learned today that Lord Louis Mountbatten, cousin of the Prince of Wales, was blackballed a month ago for membership in the Royal Yacht Squadron at Cowes. The Royal Yacht Squadron, fountainhead of all yachting in England, has charge of the international races and is a stronghold of aristocracy.

It also was learned that the Prince of Wales is furious over the treatment of Lord Mountbatten, apparently indicating a battle between the young and old of what is known as "the palace gang," which has been waged since before the Prince's last American trip.

Although the exact reason for the Royal Yacht Squadron's action is unknown, it is an acknowledged fact that Queen Mary has long been troubled by the actions of the Prince and his circle, especially Lord Mountbatten's wife, the former Edwina Ashleigh, who is called the richest heiress in England.

Lady Mountbatten lately was seen with Fred Astair, the musical-comedy star, as her dancing partner. It is rumored that this caused the palace crisis. Princess Arthur of Connaught, daughter-in-law of the former Governor-general of Canada, is a member of the younger royal family who is thoroughly approved by Queen Mary.

A curious fact that is widely rumored is that once American or English actors have met the Princess Arthur, they immediately turn violently conservative, frowning upon Lady Louise whose attention once flattered them enormously. It is said that this is true of Mary Pickford, who lavishly entertained the Mountbattens in California. Miss Pickford met the Mountbattens here, but it is rumored when Princess Arthur finally took up Mary, she had no more time for the Mountbattens.

Lady Louis Mountbatten's sister, Miss Mary Ashleigh, is another cause of distress to Queen Mary. It is believed that the Queen has been doing all that is possible to restrain these unruly members of the royal family and the blackballing of Mountbatten by the Royal Yacht Squadron is taken to mean that the members of the aristocracy sympathize with Queen Mary.

Despite the club's action, Lord Mountbatten was seen in the Squadron clubhouse inclosure during the yacht races just now concluded.

CONSUL TELLS OF PLOT ON RIO GRANDE

BROWNSVILLE (Tex.) Aug. 18. (AP)—Mexican Consul A. C. Vasquez of this city declared today that plots to take an armed force across some point on the lower border of Texas and to supply arms to insurrectionists on the Mexican side are being fomented by former De la Huerta followers in meetings held in Brownsville and Point Isabel.

Senor Vasquez said the failure of the Estrada expedition, which was captured near San Diego recently, had the effect of deterring revolutionary operations on this end of the border.

Mexican secret service operatives as well as the American Department of Justice agents are watching the entire border closely, the Consul stated.

"We know the revolutionary leaders have a cache of arms in or near Brownsville," Senor Vasquez added, "and we also know who will head the expedition they will try to put over the Rio Grande. The military force on the Mexican side is prepared for them in the event they should elude the vigilance of the American Department of Justice."

While there is some discontent throughout the State of Tamaulipas, it has not reached such proportions as to arouse serious consideration, Consul Vasquez said. The Federal government is in full control of the situation, he added, and is devoting more attention to developments on the American side than to those on the south side of the Rio Grande.

MEXICO ACTS TO SAFEGUARD BORDER

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 18. (Exclusive)—That the Mexican government intends to take no chances on possible insurrectionary movements originating on the other side of the American border following the abortive attempt of Gen. Enrique Estrada, which was frustrated by his arrest by United States agents last Sunday, is indicated by an extensive tour of military garrisons along the frontier about to be undertaken by Gen. Joaquin Amaro, Secretary of War.

Gen. Amaro is on an inspection trip in the State of Durango and had planned to remain a month on his ranch there, after observation of artillery practice to be held in that State and superintending the establishment of a horse-breeding center for the army.

The Secretary has changed his original plans and will proceed to the State of Chihuahua to inspect Federal garrisons stationed along the border and instruct the commanders to observe special vigilance for any discontented elements in that zone. He will tighten the watch on the Rio Grande and try to effect better co-operation among the patrols in the international boundary area.

Besides strengthening the weak spots along the border where incursions might be made by unfriendly bands into Mexico, additional men will be sent to reinforce the divisions now on guard duty on the frontier.

LOOKOUT PLANNED

It is planned to set up immediately a close-working combination consisting of moving bodies of troops to patrol the Mexican side of the Rio Grande with instructions to keep a sharp lookout for any likely marauders inclined to cross the line with the intent of creating disorders in the country.

To supplement this military preparedness a close watch will be kept on the movements of exiled politicians now in the United States who have lately moved their headquarters to points along the frontier. In war office circles, Gen. Estrada, now in custody at San Diego, Cal., is regarded as the leader of a proposed movement against the government being fomented in the United States. It is believed that the group of men with whom Estrada had surrounded himself for a revolutionary venture included Americans as well as Mexicans.

In some official circles it is asserted that the movement headed by Estrada was not connected with a reported similar movement of which Adolfo de la Huerta is said to be the head, but that the Estrada group acted independently of the former provisional President.

The fact that Gen. Amaro practically has taken personal command of the troops along the border and that Foreign Secretary Saenz, now at Los Angeles, is closely watching the activities of expatriated politicians in the United States are viewed here as sufficient evidence that the Mexican government is deeply concerned over the situation prevailing along the frontier, even though consular reports to the foreign office announce that there are not any "revolt systems" at any point other than where Estrada was captured.

CATHOLICS ASK EASING OF BAN

Episcopate Sends Letter to President Calles

First Official Note Taken of Mexican State

Failure to Obtain Answer Dashes Peace Hope

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 18. (AP)—The Roman Catholic episcopate, it was revealed this evening, sent a communication on Monday to President Calles, signed by Archbishop Mora Y Del Rio, petitioning the President to suspend the religious regulations which, he said, makes impossible the life of the Catholic church ni Mexico.

The government is asked to grant "freedom of conscience, thought, religion, teaching, association and the press," and the request is made that the church be granted "recognition of the necessary personality" to make these liberties effective."

The letter expresses "the profound conviction that this is the only way to end the old religious conflict."

NO REPLY MADE

The requested suspension is not made conditional on Congressional action.

As yet President Calles has made no reply to this communication but government officials believe that if he does reply it will be only to reiterate his previous position for absolute enforcement of the law.

The communication, addressed to President Calles in the name of all the archbishops, bishops, priests and Catholics of Mexico, declared that the episcopate has not previously sought to amend the constitution because the Mexican President had attempted to enforce it with respect to religion, and it is added that the episcopate is actuated by the most sincere patriotism and desire for peace.

Archbishop Mora y Del Rio's letter in behalf of the episcopate to President Calles is the first direct communication the church has addressed to the government on the present situation, and it is believed to be the first ever addressed by the Roman Catholic Episcopate directly to any Mexican President.

ASKS FOR LIBERTIES

The episcopate asks for "the liberties to which we are entitled as Christians and citizens of a cultured nation," and hopes that these will be given without restriction.

Absolute independence of the church from the State is sought, but the communication explains that this is not "asking for privileges, but for recognition of the necessary personality for the church to make these liberties effective."

Only thus, it is affirmed, can the old religious conflict, which has caused so much damage to Mexico, be settled.

"History will revere the name of the statesman, who, fulfilling his duty, performs such a noble deed," the letter declares. Such a solution, it adds, is the desire of all good Mexicans.

President Calles is urged to use his influence to affect a radical amendment of the religious clauses of the Constitution, as well as of the new regulations and penalties.

FAILURE FORESEEN

The peace suggestions, however, have failed thus far to modify in the slightest the government's fundamental attitude that the regulations must be enforced.

Mexico City is flooded with many rumors that an agreement may be reached, but when representatives of the government were asked concerning this a government spokesman declared that the government's position is not changed and that it cannot agree to disregard the constitution or enforcement of the law.

The government contends that the question will be settled automatically when Catholics accept the constitution and not before.

REDWOODS FACE PERIL IN BLAZE

Tulare county, broke over the North Fork of the Kaweah River and was menacing the John Muir grove of giant redwoods in the Sequoia National Park, one mile distant, according to word reaching Forest Supervisor Benedict here today.

Eight men were recruited in Fresno today and sent to the fire lines with a truckload of provisions and equipment to assist the volunteers and Forest Service and national park men, who have been combating the blaze since last Thursday.

The fire already has burned over 48,000 acres, much of it timber land inside the boundaries of the Sequoia Park, and today was burning along an irregular line.

Because of the ferocity of the flames and the rugged nature of the country in which it is burning it has been impossible for the forest and national park authorities to determine its extent.

The fire during last night swept away from the village of Badger and across Eshom Valley toward the mouth of Redwood Canyon, in which there is a fine stand of redwood timber.

In Sequoia Park the fire is burning in a section that is seldom visited, according to Asst. Supt. Tobin, and is burning out of control toward the Giant Forest.

FIGHTERS RETREAT

Almost every attempt of the fire fighters thus far to control the main line of the fire has proved futile and they have been forced to give ground because of the high winds which sweep up the canyons during the afternoon and early evening hours. Although the humidity was more favorable to the fire fighters today, being 45 per cent, the situation caused no undue optimism concerning the ability of the augmented crews to control the flames, due to the menace of high winds. The fire spread late yesterday to a stand of 150 acres of fine redwood timber near Mineral King and was still out of control today, but hope was expressed that it would be controlled with better-established fire lines.

With the fires in his district definitely confined or burned out, Supervisor Benedict today came to Fresno at the request of Supervisor Cunningham of the Sequoia forest to assist in directing the work in the latter's sector where the fire is burning furiously.

Benedict quickly recruited a crew of sixty-five men and dispatched them to the fire area and laid plans at a meeting of Chamber of Commerce and civic clubs officials for recruiting a much larger force in the event more man power is needed on the fire lines.

The section in which the fire is raging is a valuable adjunct to the watershed of the San Joaquin Valley as well as being one of the principal points of scenic beauty in the Sierras.

FLAMES RAGING EAST OF BAKERSFIELD

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 18. (Exclusive)—Raging uncontrolled, the forest fire which started east of Bakersfield, near Caliente, yesterday leaped from Hollyhock Canyon over Barbarossa Ridge early today and is burning fiercely in Twiddy Canyon, just one mile from Stonybrook Sanatorium, the Kern county tuberculosis hospital at Keene.

Though definite reports could not be obtained from the fire front, it is believed that more than 6000 acres of heavy brush and small timber have been burned.

Residents from all parts of the mountain district have dropped their work to battle the flames, and yesterday afternoon, when it was felt that control had been gained with backfires, the fire leaped the man-made barriers and raced with new fury up the slopes of the ridge leading from Hollyhock Canyon, where it started.

As the fire spread, an emergency call was sent to the Greenfield Ranch south of Bakersfield, owned by the Tehachapi Land and Cattle Company, and fresh crews of fire fighters rushed to the scene under the leadership of Roland Hill.

MANY OF FIRES LAID TO INCENDIARISM

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 18. (Exclusive) Charges that most of the timber and brush fires in California this summer which have caused heavy losses, were of incendiary origin were made today by State Forester Pratt, who has just returned from an investigation tour through Northern California.

"We have unquestionable evidence," declared Pratt, "that the majority of fires have been set. This is particularly true in Nevada county, which has experienced the worst fire seen in its history.

"It is not exaggerative to say that 90 per cent of the fires in that county have been of incendiary origin. I also have evidence that the fires now raging in Eldorado county were deliberately set."

Police held to the theory of suicide.

SUNLIGHT MAY GIVE FOOD

Synthetic Nourishment Predicted Should Increase Beyond Present Supply

WILLIAMSTOWN (Mass.) Aug. 18. (AP)—Synthetic food, taken from light of the sun and from the nitrogen of the air by chemists, resorted to in solving the world's food problems as population increases, H. E. Barnard, president of the American Institute of Politics, declared today.

Speaking before the Institute of Politics, he discounted pessimistic warnings that peril exists in the fact that population is increasing faster than food production. Present development of the synthetic food industry, he said, justifies the prediction that chemists will find a means of wresting from sunlight and air synthetic food to feed the human race. The ocean is another storehouse of food supplies that is as yet virtually untouched, he said.

He pointed out that processes already have been developed for the production of human foods through the growth of the yeast plant. A manufacturing plant the size of a city block employing twenty to thirty men would be able, he said, to produce in the form of yeast as much food in twenty-four hours as 1000 workers could produce from acres in an entire year.

"The problem of the world's food supply, when the present population has made it seem, is solved, according to Dr. Barnard, only by the foods now used, the utilization of waste products used at present. Yet even the world's surface not arable or used for the production of life, as has been done in the North, where reindeer herds are being raised, he said.

"It may be possible," he said, "theoretically to look forward to the time when the population of the world will exceed the food supply, but that time cannot be measured in terms of the extension of areas now used for the production of cereal grains, the raising of wheat. We must also reckon with the possibilities developed by the biologist and the chemist."

CANADA TO AID AMERICA STOP LIQUOR SMUGGLING

Andrews to Negotiate Agreement to Give United States Data on Rum-Ship Movements

PAUL SMITH'S (N. Y.) Aug. 18. (Exclusive)—Canada is to become virtually the partner of the United States in enforcement of the American prohibition law under an arrangement which the Coolidge administration is taking steps to put into effect. By virtue of this understanding Canada and the United States, so far as enforcement of the Volstead Act is concerned, will cease to be separate countries. They will be sister States under the white flag of prohibition. Canada, rolling in wealth from sale of bootleg liquor to the United States, has consented to put an end to the illicit business.

Secretary of State Kellogg, who is◆ concluding a three-day series of conferences with President Coolidge at White Pine, is to ask the Canadian government at once, it is learned tonight, to receive American officials to work out an understanding designed to shut off completely the supply of bootleg liquor from Canadian sources and enable the American prohibition forces to capture smugglers wherever smuggling is attempted.

This is one of the principal features of a new program of prohibition enforcement which the Coolidge administration confidently expects will make this country as dry as the Sahara in less than a year.

MUST BE ENFORCED

President Coolidge is determined to leave no stone unturned to make prohibition prohibit. He has impressed his subordinates that national prohibition being the law it must be enforced to the letter and to the limit of the government's resources. He refers to national prohibition as "the salutory law."

Brig.-Gen. Andrews, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in charge of prohibition enforcement, has agreed to stay in office until the end of the present Congress, at least in order to carry out the measures devised to clamp the Volstead lid down airtight. He has received fresh assurance that he has the confidence of the President in his efforts to mop up the damp spots and he is going to it with renewed vigor.

With the agreements he has just negotiated with Great Britain Gen. Andrews thinks he sees his way clear to a complete wiping out of smuggling from the British Isles, Canada, the Bahamas and other British possessions.

With the amendments to the Volstead Act the administration intends to put through Congress next winter, he expects to be able to stop entirely the diversion of industrial alcohol to beverage purposes and to put a fatal crimp in moonshining on a large scale. If this program of stopping up the leaks from outside and in driving up domestic production of intoxicating beverages works out successfully, it will become next to impossible to get a safe drink with a kick in it.

ANDREWS TO INTERCEDE

The arrangements with Canada to enlist the power of that country as American dry-law enforcer are to be made by Mr. Andrews himself and representatives of the department of justice. Gen. Andrews is coming to Lake Champlain for his vacation. President Coolidge may summon him to White Pine camp while he is in this vicinity. As soon as Secretary Kellogg arranges the conference with Canadian authorities Gen. Andrews will go to Ottawa to discuss with the Canadian Minister of Custom measures to be taken by that department to prevent smuggling of liquor into the United States.

The measures Gen. Andrews wants the Canadian government to put into effect relate to the registration of vessels employed in smuggling and to other phases of the illicit-liquor traffic. He paved the way for the understanding with Canada in his negotiations in London. Under the terms of this understanding there is to be complete exchange of information between the United States on the one hand and the British Isles, Canada and British possessions on the other relating to enforcement of the American prohibition law. These British governments agree to stop attempted smuggling at the source. Vessel registration regulations in Canada and other British territories are to be made the means of confiscation of boats used by smugglers. Information is to be furnished American authorities of movements of liquor shipments, the destination of which is suspected. This applies not only to manifests of cartons for shipment by water but to transit of liquor across land borders.

MAGAZINES WITH RUM ADS MAY BE BARRED

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (AP)—All foreign magazines containing liquor advertisements will be barred from the United States if a tentative ruling by Edward S. Barnes, acting solititor of the United States Customs House here, is sustained.

Mr. Barnes yesterday barred "The Key To London," a magazine published in England chiefly for the information of American tourists, because it advertised a place where "Grant's Morella Cherry Brandy" might be purchased in England.

The decision was rendered pending an opinion from United States Attorney Buckner, now on vacation. Mr. Barnes cited a section of the National Prohibition Act, which declares it is "unlawful to advertise anywhere or by any means or method liquor, or the manufacture, sale, keeping for sale or furnishing of the same, or where, how, from whom or at what price the same may be obtained."

Exceptions are made for foreign newspapers mailed to the United States, he said, but "The Key To London," is classed as a magazine, and was shipped by express.

Mr. Barnes admitted that under his interpretation of the law all magazines carrying liquor advertisements would be barred from the United States.

L. S. Bayrton Williams, an official of the American Information Bureau of London, who arrived here from England two weeks ago, said several thousand copies of "The Key to London" were admitted without objection last month.

Bleriot, First to Fly Over English Channel, Announces Monster Machine

LONDON, Aug. 18. (Exclusive)—Before leaving on his return flight to France, from where he crossed to England yesterday for the first time since his historic crossing in 1909, M. Bleriot made the following announcement:

"I have just designed a large thirty-passenger monoplane capable of crossing the Atlantic without alighting, which embodies all the lessons I have learned in seventeen years since I made my first cross-channel flight."

M. Beriot crossed yesterday in a private air car of his own with 120-horsepower engines, compared with the eighteen-horsepower monoplane in which he made his first flight.

"My new machine will fly 125 miles an hour," he said. "It is the first step toward what I believe will be the gigantic transocean aircraft of tomorrow."

Woman Falls to Her Death in Yellowstone

LIVINGSTON (Mont.) Aug. 18. (AP) Mrs. Grace Crans, 31 years of age, of Denver, fell 1000 feet to her death in the Grand Canyon of Yellowstone National Park Tuesday. It became known today when the body was recovered, brought here and prepared for shipment to Denver.

In the company of Dr. Erhardt Fuss of Windsor, Colo., the woman was attempting to descend to the bottom of the canyon when the accident occurred. The two had negotiated the first 200 feet of the descent with ease, and the doctor advanced cautiously about seventy-five feet further, leaving Mrs. Crans behind.

Suddenly he heard a scream and an instant later saw her body hurtle past him. He returned to the rim of the canyon and summoned aid.

Contract Let for Road East of San Diego

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18. (Exclusive)—The California Highway Commission has awarded a contract to John and Bressi of Los Angeles for the paving of 6.8 miles of the Mountain Springs grade east of San Diego in San Diego and Imperial counties. The contract, which provides for a cement concrete pavement twenty feet wide with thickened edges, was awarded on a bid of $286,627; the engineer's estimate was $316,961.

The section of the highway to be completed will eliminate heavy maintenance costs on the present surfaced highway, which is the last bad section of unpaved State Highway between Yuma and the Pacific Ocean at San Diego.

The section to be paved is on the route of the old military road, first surveyed by American military engineers in 1846. The old road has been widened and straightened by the California Highway Commission and now has no grades in excess of 7 per cent.

SUSANVILLE, Aug. 18. (Exclusive) Memories of the days in 1917 and 1918, when the Yankees were chasing the Kaiser and his armies across No Man's Land in France, were recalled vividly by a colorful and novel parade which featured today's program of the American Legion, department of California, which is holding its eighth annual convention here.

More than 2000 men and women, veterans of the World War, took part in the procession, which required an hour and a half to pass. The parade was led by Sheriff Carter of Lassen county and his deputies on horseback, followed by a group of cowboys. Then came Ben Curler of Susanville, grand marshal of the parade, followed by the color bearers and State Legion officers, the Oakland Elk Boys' Band and then the colors of ninety-four posts.

Included in the procession were many beautiful floats and several groups putting on stunts for the amusement of the spectators. Ahead of the floats was the drum corps of Oakland Post No. 5, and behind the floats marched 130 members of the Susanville post.

"40 AND 8" THERE

After them came the members of the 40 and 8 Society, the officers of the auxiliary in automobiles decorated with California poppies, two troops of Boy Scouts, and behind them the auxiliary color bearers.

Next was a group of twenty Santa Ana girls wearing orange and black stockings, and then 300 members of the auxiliary, eight Girl Scouts dressed as sailors and eight dressed as soldiers.

Following was the San Francisco drum corps, the women's auxiliary to the 40 and 8 Society, and the Susanville band of forty pieces.

Features of the parade included four delegates from Catalina wearing burlap bathing suits, four members of Maywood Post No. 223, walking on stilts, "Happy" Wintz and five comedians and Indian Billie, 90-year-old veteran of Lassen county, on horseback.

Ventura and Los Angeles posts also had large and unique sections in the parade, furnishing plenty of fun for the spectators.

REPORTS READ

Owing to the length of the parade, the business session was not called to order until 11 o'clock by Commander Allen B. Bixby, at which time committee reports were taken up. A chief point of business was the nomination of officers scheduled to take place late this afternoon or tomorrow morning.

The report of the State welfare committee relating how the committee brought the Veterans' Bureau and the State Board of Control together for an agreement for the State to handle the disabled veterans with mental troubles was rendered by Walter E. Garrison, the committee chairman. He said that under the agreement about 250 of the disabled veterans with mental ailments will be transferred to State institutions and the Veterans' Bureau pay $40 a month for their care.

Twenty-six posts in California have organized units to assist in the suppression and fighting of forest fires, declared Charles G. Dunwoody, chairman of the water and forest conservation committee, in his report.

Dunwoody reported that thirty-eight posts have established public hospitality grounds and that in further aid of conservation 65 per cent of the posts participated in and gave out information for American forest week, and sixty-five posts throughout the State held conservation meetings during the year.

CAMPAIGN PLAN OUTLINED

Plans for the campaign to be conducted by the Legion in behalf of the $20,000,000 bond issue to aid veterans, which will appear as "No. 1" on the November ballot, were outlined by Harold G. Ferguson, chairman of the bond campaign committee, in his report. The committee, said Ferguson, has formed working organizations in all parts of the State which will start active campaigns for the bill in the fall.

California led the nation in the number of manuscripts in the essay contest conducted by the Legion and success was met in the campaign to have voters register, asserted M. O. C. Hull, chairman of the Americanization committee.

C. J. Turner, chairman of the Boy Scout committee, rendered his report showing the good accomplished by aiding the Boy Scout movement.

"It is a conservative statement when we remark that 3000 youths have benefited from Scout training through the troops sponsored by the American Legion posts," said Turner. "The added factor must be given consideration that these youths have for themselves rather a complete knowledge of the American Legion and the fundamentals for which it was organized.

"Troops are sponsored by 148 posts and 175 Legionnaires are furnishing executive ability, quarters and recreational facilities."

HONOR HOLLYWOOD WOMAN

Dr. John F. Slavich of Oakland Post No. 5 was elected department commander tonight. He was unopposed.

Nathan F. Coombs of Napa, former department commander, was elected national executive committeeman, with Leonard Wilson of Burbank, named as alternate. As a result of changes adopted in the constitution and bylaws, Mrs. Genevieve Cramer of Hollywood was elected as the first woman vice-commander. The voting for other offices will be completed tomorrow.

The constitutional changes which were followed by the election of Mrs. Cramer provide for the division of the State into five major areas of twenty-two smaller districts, with the officers consisting of the department commander, six vice-commanders, one from each of the five major areas and a sixth to be a woman elected from the department at large. The commander's advisory committee will be composed of the vice-commanders, the national executive committeeman and the department adjutant.

The selection of the next convention city will be made tomorrow. The contest is between Stockton and Santa Barbara.

The Los Angeles delegation pulled a novel stunt today. They erected a slab hut, resembling a real-estate tract office, at a busy street corner and provided entertainment throughout the morning and afternoon.

PASADENA POST WINS COMMANDERS' CUP

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Aug. 18.—Completion of the erection of its own $175,000 clubhouse, said to be the finest in the State, was one of the outstanding accomplishments of the last year which today brought Pasadena Post, No. 13, of the American Legion the Commanders' Cup for the best Legion post in California.

Americanization work has been carried on vigorously by the local post with night classes for aliens conducted by Legion members and twenty speakers furnished to the grammar schools. In municipal projects, the local Legion won the State record for obtaining subscriptions in the Community Chest drive, and has organized a large committee to cooperate with the police and fire department in case of a city-wide emergency.

During the last five years the Pasadena Post has distributed more than $100,000 for the relief of disabled veterans of the World War from funds obtained from the Busch Gardens here through the generosity of the owner, Mrs. Lily Busch.

Other Legion activities here are support of a nursery, organization of two Boy Scout troops, support of a tuberculosis sanitarium for girls, aiding the formation of a junior naval reserve unit, holding of a special world peace program at Pasadena High School, presenting a national patriotic essay contest to public-school pupils and taking care of veterans' graves in the city.

WIDER SCOPE IN AIR MAIL URGED

New Suggests Carrying of Passengers and Freight

Government Makes Bid to Private Concerns

Handicaps Told in Reply to Henderson Comments

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—Air-mail contractors who are losing money were urged today by Postmaster-General New to go into the business also of carrying passengers and express. In this way, he believes, they could put their business on a paying basis.

The government is doing its utmost, he said, to improve the air mail, wants the assistance of private capital in its development and is determined to continue operation of the transcontinental service, at least until it can be turned over to private interests which would guarantee its permanent maintenance.

Mr. New outlined his views and expectations in comment on the statement of former Assistant Postmaster-General Henderson, now with the National Air Transport, Inc., that an efficient air-mail service cannot be maintained until the government replaces "old-fashioned" single-engine planes.

BUILDING NEW PLANES

"What we have done to date has been accomplished with equipment that everyone knows has fallen far short of being up to date," Mr. New declared. "As soon as Congress gave us money with which to buy we ordered fifty new planes of the very best type, eighteen of which already have been delivered, and the remainder are coming at the rate of three a week. They are designed to carry mail only, for obviously the government is not going into the passenger business."

Contractors, however, are learning that to be successful, they must carry passengers and express, said the Postmaster-General, adding that while all contract air-mail lines are not losing money, most of them are, and will continue to do so as long as they depend on mail only.

"Two or three contractors on our best lines are placing orders for passenger-carrying ships," he continued. "They will all have to come to it, and most of them will.

QUICK TRIP PREDICTED

"It is my sincere belief that within a comparatively short time a person may leave New York by an air-mail plane after the close of business Saturday and be in San Francisco or Los Angeles for the opening of business Monday morning.

"I feel that the United States is committed to a permanent continuance of the air service between the two coasts and whenever it does get ready to turn the business over to private parties it will insist upon a contract satisfactorily guaranteeing that the service will be permanently maintained."

In a statement issued tonight through the Postoffice Department Mr. Henderson said his previous comment on the air-mail service was not intended as a criticism of departmental policy.

"Such delays as we have shared with the governmental service have been due to the fogs which are frequently found over the Allegheny Mountains," he said. "The Postoffice Department is certainly not to be criticised for the equipment it employs and criticism is farthest from my thought. To the contrary I think that the department has done a remarkable job.

"The fact that there have been delays should not hide the greater and more important fact that the department is doing this pioneer service probably better than could any other agency, public or private, at the present time. The Postoffice Department is the chief hope we have today for commercial aviation."

In his statement tonight Mr. Henderson expressed the belief that flying over the Alleghenies "presents problems more difficult than are to be found anywhere else in the United States." He also said it was the greatest privilege of his life to serve as an assistant Postmaster-General under Mr. New, sharing with him the work he has and is doing for commercial aviation, and in which, he believes all air-mail contractors desired to co-operate.

HALL-MILLS STATE CASE ENDS TODAY

New Testimony Offered at Hearing of Two Men in Double Murder

SOMERVILLE (N. J.) Aug. 18. (AP) State Senator Simpson, special prosecutor, announced tonight that the State will close its case tomorrow in the preliminary hearing of Henry Carpender and Willie Stevens, who are held, with Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, in connection with the murder of Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and his choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, four years ago.

Testimony that James Mills, husband of Eleanor Mills, had said, before learning of the double slaying, that Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, the rector's widow, had told him Dr. Hall was "in South Jersey doing institutional work" was given today. Mills previously testified Mrs. Hall had told him her husband had disappeared.

Three detectives testified that in an examination of terrain near the crabapple tree on the Phillips farm, where the bodies were found, made while checking the story of Mrs. Jane Gibson, woman pig raiser, who pointed out Carpender and Stevens as men she had seen at the supposed scene of the murder the night of September 14, 1922, they found evidence that a mule had been tied to a sapling. Mrs. Gibson testified she visited the scene riding on a mule.

The detectives were not called before the 1922 grand jury that rejected Mrs. Gibson's story.

State Senator Simpson declared today that he had received a letter from a man in Philadelphia who informed him that he had the gun that figured in the Hall-Mills murders. The man at present is on vacation, he said, and efforts are being made to locate him.

KITCHENER CINEMA AID CALLED AIM

London Publicity Agent Accuses Power of Scheme to Promote Picture

[Copyright, 1926, by North American Newspaper Alliance]

LONDON, Aug. 18. (Exclusive)—In a statement to be published tomorrow in the Daily Sketch, Singleton Gates, a publicity promoter of London, charges Frank Power, whose real name is Arthur Freeman, with having based his story of the recovery of Kitchener's body on a publicity scheme concocted five years ago to promote a moving picture.

Gates states that on November 14, 1921, he, Power and Norman Ramsay, the producer of a film titled "How Kitchener Was Betrayed," met to discuss publicity for the film. On this suggestion, he claims, they adopted and circulated a story that Kitchener's body had been washed ashore and buried in Norway, and that he, under the name of Col. Singleton Ramsay, had gone to Norway and found the grave and had seen epaulets of a British field marshal in a peasant's hut.

The film was banned by the London County Council and taken over by Power, Gates asserts. He adds that after Power made a second attempt, in which he failed, to show the picture, no more was heard of it until Power began his series of articles "based entirely on fiction and nothing else. These are facts. I am prepared to swear to them in a court of law."

Power denies having had anything to do with the cinema outside of attempting to prevent its being censored. He states that he recalls meeting Gates perhaps once, but doesn't remember discussing publicity with him. He denies having become owner of the film.

Decided Drop in Retail Price of Food Disclosed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—Retail food prices for the month ending July 15, last, declined in forty-four of the fifty-one cities for which government records are kept, the Labor Department's retail food price index for that period dropping almost 2 per cent to 157 as compared with 159.7, June 15.

The figures, made public today, disclosed that fourteen articles were cheaper during the month, potatoes leading the decline with an 18 per cent drop. Thirteen articles increased, a 3 per cent advance in fresh eggs being the highest. Fifteen showed no change.

DARWIN THEORY ADMITTED

Experts Declare Evolution Deductions Right as Applied to Plant Life

ITHACA (N. Y.) Aug. 18. (AP)—Charles Darwin was right in his theory as to the origin of species in so far as the intrinsic variability of plants is concerned in their evolution, the international congress of plant science here was informed today.

Prof. E. C. Jeffrey of Harvard University, speaking before the section for morphology on "evidence from Australasia in regard to the origin of the species," declared investigations at the university laboratories give evidence that hybridization is largely responsible for the numerous species of plant.

LONG UNDER FIRE

The Darwinian theory that evolution progresses through the capacity of living things to adapt themselves to environment in the course of generations has been under fire in scientific as well as fundamental circles. Mutations say that variations occur suddenly and without apparent cause, rather than as a response to environmental conditions.

Hybridization, Prof. Jeffrey said today, has been found to be at work not only among flowering plants, but also in numerous species of ferns. Observations in New Zealand and elsewhere, he said, indicate a similar prevalence of hybridism in the Southern Hemisphere.

Sugar cane mosaic, which F. S. Earle of the Tropical Plant Research Foundation at Washington told the section of pathology causes tonnage losses ranging from 10 to 50 per cent and the premature running out of fields, can be curbed, he said, by careful seed selection and frequent clearing of fields of diseased plants.

A warning that unless the study of virus diseases affecting the potato is standardized and extended to all varieties the number of diseases will increase, was sounded before the pathology section by D. Alanasoff of the University of Sofia, Bulgaria. No variety of potato so far has been found, he said, which is not susceptible to all virus diseases of teh potato plant.

Doomed Negro to Have Feast Before He Dies

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (Exclusive)—One of the most elaborate meals served in the death house at Sing Sing will be the portion of William Hoyer, negro, sentenced to die tomorrow for the shooting of his wife and five-year-old daughter. Hoyer, who asserted that the shooting was accidental, selected his feast further in advance than usual. He also detailed instructions as to how it was to be prepared. The menu follows:

Long Island duck, mixed with one can of peas and one pint of olives, to be cooked into a brown stew and served with dumplings.

Four slices of bread, boiled rice, tomato salad, strawberry short cake, a pint of vanilla ice cream and raspberry soda.

Twelve good cigars and a package of cigarets.

Each condemned murderer is allowed to select his last meal. Hoyer will get everything for which he asked.

SURGEON LOSES LIQUOR RIGHT

Noted Chicago Woman Says License Cancellation Is Result of Her Own Honesty in Dispensing Rum Prescriptions to Friends

CHICAGO, Aug. 18. (AP)—Dr. Effie L. Lobdell, noted woman surgeon and a fellow of the American College of Surgeons, was among nineteen physicians whose licenses to dispense liquor were revoked, it became known yesterday.

Dr. Lobdell said her license had been revoked "because I have been honest about it."

"I issued several prescriptions for friends who were going traveling" she said. "Then I issued several more for culinary purposes—for cooking and making eggnogs. My mistake, it seems, was in being perfectly honest about it—writing on the prescription exactly what I issued it for."

Declaring that physicians have always resented the act of placing the prohibition problem on their shoulders, Dr. Lobdell said she could not see that liquor is more medicinal today than it was before prohibition.

She was informed when her books were examined, she said, that "they are not near as bad as most of them, but I had been careless." She said she informed the official examiner that "it was perfectly all right to revoke the license because I can get all I will need for my purposes from those who still have the privilege."

Agents Locate Suspect Shot in Rum Chase

FRESNO, Aug. 18. (AP)—Seriously wounded when he speeded his car through a hail of police bullets after he had escaped from Federal prohibition agents who were attempting to arrest him in the act of making a liquor delivery late last night, Stone W. Johnson was located today in a Fresno hospital and served with a warrant charging him with violation of the prohibition law. His one lung pierced by a bullet and an arm shattered, Johnson said that a companion who rode with him while police were firing at them also was wounded, but would not identify the other man.

Police and other officers had been seeking Johnson since late last night when he fled from Prohibition Agents Harris and Thorwaldson after Harris had been accidentally shot through the hand and Thorwaldson injured when thrown from the running board of Johnson's car.

Police officers saw him later and he refused their command to stop and fled while they fired more than a dozen shots at his car.

Rosenwald and Coolidge Study Business Skies

PAUL SMITH'S (N. Y.) Aug. 18. (AP) A study of business and economic conditions in the country occupied President Coolidge today at conferences with Julius Rosenwald of Chicago, president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., while Secretary Kellogg of the State Department left the summer White House to make an important announcement on foreign policy at Plattsburg.

Mr. Coolidge remained in seclusion at White Pine Camp with Mr. Rosenwald, who arrived in the early afternoon to be an overnight guest.

Coast Move to Make Up Own Wool Started

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18. (AP)—A move to stimulate the manufacture of wool products in California was launched here today by the San Francisco Wool Trades Association.

Speakers before a gathering of the association said that there is no logical reason why the West should be dependent upon the eastern manufacturer, that wool grown here should be manufactured into the finished product here, thus eliminating the cost of two transcontinental freight trips.

The famous Indian radical leader agreed, and hereafter he will read the New Testament to his classes every Saturday.

The Liquid "Dry" TONIC Shampoo

NATURAL Hair Beauty

In Just a Few Minutes

WITHOUT WATER

Hundreds of women experienced a new thrill in hair cleaning yesterday. They found a shampoo that was liquid, but required no water for rinsing—a shampoo that left a gloss and glorious lights in their hair. These women found a natural wave easy to set. And, too, they found how quickly shampooing can be done and how little inconvenience it could be. These women were shampooed free at the demonstrating shops of Menth-O-Foam.

What the Users Say—

When I am away and can't get it for a while and come back to it, it just seems like I have a lot more hair. My hair is always more wavy and always feels just wonderful after a MENTH-O-FOAM Shampoo. I don't think there is a shampoo of any kind that leaves the hair so glorious.

Does this answer your inquiry?

MRS. WILLIS WARNER ALLEN,
753 June St., Los Angeles.

MENTH-O-FOAM is the only shampoo I will ever use. Can I say more? I might add that I have used nothing else for sixteen months.

LELA CURRAN,
1204 Hauser Boulevard

The curative tonic qualities of MENTH-O-FOAM have been the outstanding feature I have discovered in using it.

Too, I have never used a shampoo that could be so easily applied and certainly none that aids so much in the development of a natural wave.

CAPITOLA FORKER,
1148 S. Keeler Avenue.

My hair has never been so lovely as it is now, since I have been using MENTH-O-FOAM. It is the quickest shampoo that I have ever known and the beauty of it for me has been in the ease of laying a wave after a shampoo. Before, it was always necessary for me to use combs, but now it just seems to fall into a wave as it is being dried. A better wave too, it is more natural.

PHYLLIS WILSON ALLEN,
Beverly Hills, Cal.

PHILADELPHIA AWARDED DEMPSEY-TUNNEY FIGHT

RICKARD MOVES SITE OF SCRAP TO QUAKER CITY

Promoter Posts $50,000 Guarantee for Titular Bout in September; Governor Approves Ring Go

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (AP)—Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney will meet for the heavyweight championship in the Sesquicentennial Stadium in Philadelphia, September 23, Tex Rickard announced tonight.

Rickard said that he had made his plans after receiving assurances from the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission-

JACK DEMPSEY.

tary of the Pennsylvania Boxing Board.

Rickard deposited $50,000 with Young, guaranteeing that he will stage the fight in the Quaker City.

Present plans call for a seating capacity of 150,000 at the stadium, with prices ranging from $3 to $30.

Rickard said that he would order Dempsey and Tunney out of their training camps in New York State immediately and that the champion undoubtedly will prepare himself at Atlantic City, as he did for the bout with Luis Firpo.

The bout will be of ten rounds to Judges' decision, and the New York and Pennsylvania commissioners are understood to be in accord on the matter.

Ten per cent of the gross receipts will go to the exposition while the State will receive 5 per cent.

Only 75,000 can be accommodated in the stadium at present, the plans for the fight calling for doubling of

SARATOGA SPRINGS (N. Y.) Aug. 18.—This was a notable day in the Saratoga Sulphur Springs training camp of Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion. For the first time since they have more than a week ago, the single exception of last Sunday, process servers of one kind or another failed to appear, and the baron of joy went up several degrees in the light-heartedness of the char-

HAMILTON HURLS KRUGS TO 6-1 WIN

MADE MONKEYS OF MONKS

Did "Oil" Hamilton, the Seraphs' solitary and star southpaw, who held the Missions to three scattered hits while pitching the Angels to a 6-to-1 victory yesterday at Wrigley Field. Hamilton is one of Marty Krug's "big four" hurlers and upon the good right or left flippers as the case may be, of "Oil," Doc Wright, Doc Crandall, and Elmer Jacobs rest the Angels' chances of capturing the pennant.

MISSIONS HELD TO THREE HITS

Angel Southpaw Holds Monk Sluggers in Check

Bingles and Boots Bunched in Fifth by Cherubs

Hannah Clicks Barfoot for Homer Over Bricks

BY ROBERT RAY

With "Oil" Hamilton, the Angels' only southpaw, pitching three-hit ball, Marty Krug's league-leaders had an easy time trouncing the Missions, 6 to 1, yesterday at Wrigley Field. Hamilton turned back the Monks with such regularity that Wild Willyum Leard, the new Mission manager, didn't even have a chance to argue with the umpires and get himself kicked out of the contest.

While Manager Hamilton was clouting such brilliant ball for the Cherubs, Clyde Barfoot was doing the best he could under the circumstances. The circumstances in yesterday's case, were Al Walters's tendencies to throw wild to the bases in the fifth inning. In that fifth frame Walters picked up two bunts and made two wide pegs for forceouts and the outset of it all was that the Angels ran over four runs in the inning and clinched the contest.

But for Ike Boone, Hamilton would have had an even easier time of it yesterday. Ike pounded out two of the Monks' three hits and both of them came with men on the paths. Jimmy McDowell got the other safety, a double, in the ninth, but that was the sum total of damage that the visitors could do to "Oil's" southpaw slants.

As a result of the Angels' victory the series now stands even and the Krugmen are once more nine full games in front of the second-place Oaks, who lost to Sacramento yesterday. Now that the Acorns have shown a disposition to lost almost as much on the road as they win at home the Angels haven't so much to worry about in the way of pennants, championships, etc.

OFF IN FRONT

The Angels got off in front in the opening inning by putting over a run on Barfoot. Jigger Statz singled over second for a starter and went to third when Ed Hemingway punched a safety to right. Art Weis slapped a long fly to Swanson and Statz meandered home after the catch.

In the fourth inning an error by

'Brick' Muller to Lead Local Pro Grid Team

"Brick" Muller

Harold (Brick) Muller, all-American end of the famous California wonder team, will likely captain the Los Angeles team in the National Professional Football League, according to rumors going the rounds last night. Jack McDonough, one of the managers of the local team, declared last night that he had nothing definite to disclose at this time, but said that an important announcement might be made tomorrow.

It is understood that Muller was in Los Angeles last night, stopping as the guest of Lew Cody, one of the backers of the team. Neither could be reached. Muller was en route to his home in San Diego.

McDonough made a trip north two weeks ago to secure Muller's services, it being reported that he offered the ex-Bruin star a guarantee of $25,000 for the schedule of the Los Angeles team, which is to do most of its playing in the East. McDonough had no announcement to make when he returned several days ago, and beyond indicating that he might have something to say tomorrow, was equally reticent last night.

Muller is a member of the University of California coaching staff. He will have to give up that post if he signs with McDonough. Those "in the know" declare that Muller is as good as signed. He has been studying to be a doctor and the money he can make in one grid season will put him on his feet financially for a medical career.

Terre Haute Terror Whips Dixie With Ease

Beats Butte Battler to Pulp in Fatal Eighth

Furrell Wins Verdict Over Novey at Olympic

BY BRAVEN DYER

Opening up with a relentless two-handed attack in the eighth round, Bud Taylor, uncrowned bantamweight champion of the world, battered Dixie LaHood, Butte boxer, all over the ring at the Olympic Auditorium last night and won on a technical knockout when the North westerner's seconds tossed the towel over the ropes to save their fighter from being chopped to pieces. Taylor took every round and made a wonderful showing, boxing in masterful fashion and punching with much more power than is his usual wont.

LaHood has only himself to blame for the defeat. The two boys were going along nicely in the first round when Dixie uncorked a low punch. It was entirely unintentional, but the blow made Taylor mad. When Bud gets properly aroused he's a ripping, tearing tornado and such was the case following the landing of the low blow. He slashed into LaHood, smashing away with both fists and the Butte boy had to give ground. Just when the storm seemed to have abated, Bud whipped over a short left, the blow traveling only a few inches, and LaHood sat down on the canvas with a thud. Referee Harry Lee counted nine before Dixie decided to arise. Taylor, having administered his lesson, seemed content and LaHood weathered the remainder of the round.

From then on it was only a question of how often Taylor decided to open up. When he was coasting LaHood made things interesting, even stepping out and trading punches with Bud now and then. The Butte boxer is game to the core and his exhibition will live long in the minds of those who saw the fight. But he was waging a hopeless battle and it was his fighting spirit that brought about his downfall. Had he been content to box along with Taylor, rather than slugging with the next champion, Dixie

VON ELM THIRD AMONG GOLFERS

Local Star Ranked Next to Jess Sweetser

Bobby Jones Crowned King of Amateurs

Six Walker Cup Players Are Among First Ten

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (AP)—Closing of entries for the national amateur golf championship with a field of 152 starters was accompanied today by announcement of a ranking list of ten leading players, headed by Bobby Jones.

George Von Elm

Second to the marvelous club wielder from Atlanta, the championship committee of the United States Golf Association has ranked a star whose ill health will prevent him from competing. Jess W. Sweetser, first American-born player to win the British amateur crown, has been definitely eliminated from the fight through failure to file an entry blank. Although he planned to return to the links for the event, he is still recuperating in Canada from an attack of influenza.

Six other members of the Walker Cup team find places in golf's "first ten," established for the first time this year as an initial step toward inauguration of a seeded draw for the title event next month at Baltusrol. The two remaining players on the list are Chick Evans, former amateur and open champion and Frank Dolp of Portland, Or., who recently annexed the western amateur championship.

At No. 3 position appears the name of the Los Angeles (Cal.) player who ran up to Jones for the title two years ago—George Von Elm. Behind him, in order, come Francis Ouimet of Boston, No. 4; Jesse P. Guilford of Boston, No. 5; Evans, No. 6; Watts Gunn, Atlanta, Ga., No. 7; Roland D. Mackenzie, Washington, D. C., No. 8; Robert A. Gardner, Chicago, No. 9; Dolp, No. 10.

In a second group of ten, alphabetically arranged, are John G. Anderson of New York, Kefe Carter of Kansas City, D. Clarke Corbran of Philadelphia, William C. Fownes, Jr., of Pittsburgh; Eddie Held of St. Louis, Harrison R. Johnston of St. Paul, Fred W. Lamprecht of Cleveland, Max R. Marston of Philadelphia, William M. Reekie of Montclair and Clarence C. Wolff of St. Louis.

Anderson, Fownes, Marston and Reekie are the veterans of the "second ten," while Lamprecht, intercollegiate title-holder, and Wolff are comparative newcomers. Lamprecht, however, will not compete for the championship.

FRENCH DAVIS CUP TEAM HERE

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (AP)—Henri Cochet, Rene La Coste and Jacques Brugnon, members of the French Davis Cup team, arrived today on the Olympic. Jean Borotra, fourth member of the squad, will come later.

The French, regarded as most likely opponents for the United States in the challenge round, at Philadelpia, September 9 to 11, next, will meet the winners of the American zone finals at Forest Hills, next week.

GREB FIGHTS FOR TITLE

Flowers Gives Ex-Middleweight Champion Chance At Crown in Fifteen-Round Go Tonight

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (AP)—Tiger Flowers, the praying Georgia deacon, will defend his world's middleweight title against the former champion, Harry Greb, tomorrow night at Madison Square Garden in the only important boxing show of the week, which has not been hit by bad weather. They meet in a fifteen-round decision bout.

Flower has been established a favorite to retain the crown he took from Greb on points in a fifteen-round match last February in the Garden. Both are aggressive types with the ability to shoot over punches from any angle and a furious battle is anticipated. Each was reported today in excellent condition, and each within a pound of the weight limit of 160. They will scale before the State Athletic Commission tomorrow afternoon.

Harry Greb

Western fighters figure prominently on the rest of the Garden card. The semifinal of ten rounds brings together Maxie Rosenbloom, conqueror of Dave Shade and Chuck Burns, who invaded the East after cutting a frantic swathe through the Southwest.

K. O. Phil Kaplan of New York meets Dick Evans of Youngstown, O., in another ten-rounder while the opening four-round go pits Joe Lockhart of Evansville,

DICK M'CABE BESTS MITCHELL IN HURLING BATTLE AS STARS CONQUER LOWLY SEALS, 3 TO 1

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—Oliver Mitchell had won eight straight games, which is quite a feat for a man flinging for a tail-end club, but his winning streak was broken today, for he ran up against Dick McCabe, who had one of his good days, and Hollywood won the game, 3 to 1.

OLIVER MITCHELL.

McCabe would have had a shutout had it not been for an error by Johnny Kerr in the eighth inning, but Dick got a mighty lucky break in the second when the wind swept foul a terrific drive from the bat of Frank Brower. Had that poke gone fair three runs would have scored, and that would just about have been the ball game.

There were two runners on bases and two out when Brower hit his mighty poke. The ball was twenty feet fair when it approached the fence, but the wind caught it and swept it into foul territory. After getting nothing better than a called strike for that big clout, Brower ended the inning by popping out to Kerr, leaving the two runners stranded.

An error by Earl Averill helped Hollywood make its first score in the second inning. Sheehan began the inning with a hit but was forced at second by Kerr. Lee hit to center and when Averill let the ball go through him Kerr scored and Lee went to second.

Gus Suhr ran over to second base to hold Lee on that bag, and Peters hit the ball right through where Gus should have been standing, getting a hit for himself. But McCabe and Frederick popped out, leaving two runners on the bases.

The second run was scored in the sixth on a pass to O'Doul, a sacrifice by Zoellers and a single by Kerr.

The Seals made their only run in the eighth. With one out Suhr doubled and after Camilli had lifted a fly to Frederick Johnny Kerr let Baker's roller go between his legs and Suhr scored. Marty Griffin was sent to bat for Andy

The Braves collected four unearned runs to win the second game, errors having figured in all the tallies. Meadows was charged with the defeat, both Bush and Songer having held the visitors safe. CUBS BEATEN

CHICAGO, Aug. 18. (AP)—Two errors by Hack Wilson, letting singles get away from him, paved the way for New York to defeat Chicago, 2 to 1, in a ten-inning pitching duel between Virgil Barnes and Charley Root. In the first inning Wilson let Tyson's single get away from him and Frisch, who had walked, went to third and scored on Jackson's fly. In the tenth Wilson let Snyder's single get away and Meller scored from first with the winning run. Singles by Wilson and Freigau with Grimm's sacrifice in between saved Chicago from a whitewash. BOSTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—Although lacking in control in the third and sixth, Ruffing pitched otherwise effective ball as the Red Sox today defeated St. Louis for the fourth straight time, 4 to 2. The Boston moundsman allowed the Browns only five hits, but passed six. Jacobson knocked a homer over the left-field fence in the opening inning, with none on base. Score:

MAX CAREY DENIES HE AND MATES CALLED MEETING TO PUT FRED CLARKE OFF BENCH

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 18. (AP) — Max Carey, deposed captain of the Pittsburgh Pirates, today made known that he, Babe Adams and Carson Bigee, all of whom were dismissed from the team last Friday, had nothing to do with calling the meeting at which a vote was taken on the question of Assistant Manager Fred Clarke's presence on the bench, which action resulted in the removal of the three veterans. Carey also said the trio did not bring up the matter of a vote, but that it was insisted upon by Clarke.

Carey shed this little shaft of light on the mysterious Pirate controversy while his former team-mates were splitting a double-header with Boston and after Brooklyn had claimed his services by the waiver route. Adams and Bigbee were given unconditional releases.

A meeting, Carey said, was called by Manager William McKechnie after several of the older players had gone to him not once, but several times, and advised him they thought something was holding the club back. This was following the loss of a double-header at Boston last week.

Later, Max asserted, the players were advised that the meeting would be held, and he said it was at this gathering that Clarke insisted upon a vote. Carey also said the players were cautioned not to discuss the matter of the assistant manager's presence on the bench, but to express their opinions on paper.

Further than this Carey declined to talk, saying he made today's statements to correct the impression that he, Adams and Bigbee had called a meeting and had asked a vote on Clarke.

Last night President John Heydler of the National League, after having held a hearing into the case, exonerated the banished veterans of any "willful insubordination of malicious intent to disrupt or injure the club." In addition, Heydler stipulated that the three might leave the team, "with a good name," and with no "stain or blemish on their long and honorable careers."

Asked today when he would report to the Brooklyn Dodgers, Carey said: "I don't know when I'll report to Brooklyn. I haven't even considered the matter. My plans are unsettled and I'm not sure just what I'll do."

OBSERVATIONS

THERE'S no doubt about it, this wrestling situation is becoming more complicated than a husband's alibi to his wife on fight night. We're going to have to call our legal adviser, Mr. J. D. M. Pidge, LL. is. to untangle the darn thing if it gets twisted up any more than it is at present. As near as we can make out, Strangler Lewis has posted $5000 to "cover" (whatever that means) the $8000 which Lewis put Stecher said he never made. John Pesek, who apparently has nothing to do with the thing at all, accepts Mr. Lewis's challenge, providing he beats Stecher next Wednesday night. Jim Londos, who has even less to do with it, posts another $5000 to "cover" (we still don't know what that means) the $5000 which Lewis up in connection with a challenge which apparently was never issued. We trust this is perfectly clear to our readers. As far as we're concerned it doesn't mean a thing.

And then again, there's Tex Rickard with his announcement that Dempsey will meet Tunney at the Sesquicentennial Exposition instead of in New York. That's a hot one—probably too hot for the New York Boxing Commission to handle. The Philadelphia show hasn't been going any too well and it has a stadium amply large enough to handle an affair of this kind and New York is only three hours ride away and a fight like this would be a life saver for the exposition as well as for Mr. Rickard. It looks as though Tex had really pulled the well-known ace out of the justly celebrated hole and was about to rake in the whole works.

Unless Harry Greb has eliminated the road houses from his itinerary, he isn't very likely to regain his middleweight title from the dusky Deacon, Mr. Tigah Flowers, tonight. The Deacon trains hard and is entering the ring for the sole purpose of slapping his opponent until said opponent becomes positively sick of it. But it ought to be a great old battle. Greb is a windmill in action himself and nobody can say that the Tiger is anything else but the same thing, only more so. The fans should get some real action for their money, which is something out of the ordinary in modern pugilism.

We are reminded that in less than one week—to wit, September 15—football practice will be started at the California colleges and we therefore recommend that all young ladies who go swimming in the hope of being "rescued" by one of the good-looking young life guards, do so before that time. After September 15, all the football players will quit life-guarding and the young "mammas" will be rescued—if they are rescued at all—by the common, or garden variety of life guard who is a leathery old gentleman afflicted with the hookworm and an overhanging stomach.

"OIL" HAMILTON BAFFLES MONKS

But Three Hits Allowed by Star Seraph Southpaw

Cherubs Bunch Hits, Errors Off Barfoot in Fifth

Wally Hood, who was stationed at first, and a hit by Boone put Hamilton in trouble but "Oil" pitched his way out by getting rid of Jones on a foul fly to Brazill.

The Angels had their big inning in the fifth, collecting a quartet of markers to make the contest safe for the cause of Martin Luther Krug. "Truck" Hannah started the inning auspiciously by pounding one of Barfoot's fast ones over the left field wall for a home run. Hamilton drove a hot single past Finn. Statz dumped a bunt in front of the plate that Walters pounced on, then threw wildly to second, both runners pulling up safely. Hemingway also tempted Walters with a bunt and Al once more grabbed it and threw high to third, pulling Jones off of the bag and filling the bases with ambitious Angels. With Art Weis up it looked bad for the opposition, but Art hit to McDowell who turned the rap into a double play, McDowell to Walters to McDowell. That still left men on second and third until Art Jahn doubled to right, scoring both. Frank Brazill, who gathered three hits during the afternoon and became the Angels' leading hitter by doing so, singled to center and Jahn legged it home. Hood forced Brazill at second to end the round.

The Missions got their only tally in the seventh, when Hamilton struck a wild streak. Wes Griffin, who pasttimed in right for the visitors, walked to open the round and Boone's hit to right sent him to second. Bobby Jones, after numerous fouls, fanned, but McDowell walked, filling the sacks. Slade hit a sacrifice fly to Jahn and Griffin rumbled home after the catch. Jahn also captured Walters's petite pop to end the inning.

ANGELS ALSO SCORE

Los Angeles also scored in the seventh, when, after two were out, Weis singled to center, Jahn walked and Brazill poked a hit to right that brought Weis over. Hood forced Brazill for the final out.

In the ninth the Monks threatened to do something when Murray, batting for Jones, was safe at first on Brazill's boot and McDowell doubled down the left field line. However, there were two out at the time and Slade skied to Jahn to end the contest.

There will be a double-header today to make up the tied game played when the Monks were here last. With Doc Wright, who has won his last eleven starts, and Elmer Jacobs scheduled to start the Angels will be certain of good pitching. Herman Pillette and Jimmy Christian are slated to be Leard's chucking choices. Scores:

CHAMP FLOORS RING HELPERS

afternoon. Big Bill Tate closed the day's performance with a round of pushing, hauling and shoving which quite pleased Dempsey.

Jimmy Roberts, middleweight, who followed Saxon, was carried around the ring by the champion until Benny Fenderburk, next in line, climbed through the ropes. He was clowned up considerably by a series of peppy punches until a left hook finally stopped him for good, and Joe Kurp, Pennsylvania "iron man," replaced him to finish out the round. Kurp was badly cut under the rapid succession of blows.

Two new sparring partners will arrive here soon—Mike Arnold, Denver heavyweight, who is already on his way, and Tillie (Kid) Herman of El Paso, Tex., who is expected by Sunday night. They will replace Phil Weisberger of Brooklyn and Bill Clemens of West Virginia, who were released today.

Gene Normile, the champion's manager, and Arthur F. Driscoll, arrived in camp tonight.

TUNNEY PARTNERS FAIL TO APPEAR

SPECULATOR (N. Y.) Aug. 18. (AP) There was only one nose to count today when a total of Gene Tunney's sparring partners was made. Bud Gorman, the heavyweight, was called to New York by sickness in his family, leaving Osk Till, the long Rochester middleweight to bear the burden alone. This Osk can do, if necessary, for he is a willing worker, but another call for reinforcements is expected to relieve the scarcity of talent. Billy Vidabeck was expected to reach camp tomorrow, with others to follow. Gorman also is expected to return within a few days.

Tunney is not worrying over the lack of competition, for at this stage of the game e does not need to do much boxing. He is concentrating on his road work. The daily marathon to Mud Lake and return has placed his legs and wind in good shape.

There can be no question as to his condition. If the fight were a week instead of a month off, the challenger could be ready with ease.

He went at his workout with a vim this afternoon, glad to get back to the ring after a two-day layoff. Bag punching was followed by four fast rounds with Till. Till can box, and the challenger was kept on his toes throughout.

GREB TO FIGHT FOR RING TITLE

Ind., against Tommy Simms of California.

The cards for the rest of the week in outdoor arenas were shuffled around again today as a result of the postponement of the international bouts slated for Ebbets Field tonight. This show, featuring Paul Berlenbach-Francis Charles and Johnny Dundee-Fred Brettonel bouts, is now booked for Friday night. Dundee postponed his departure for San Francisco, where he is to box Tod Morgan for the junior lightweight title on September 7, in order to accept the postponement here.

The Queensboro A.C. card featured by the King Solomon-Mike McTigue tilt, originally postponed from Tuesday to Friday, has been moved ahead to Saturday night in order to give preference to the Ebbets Field show.

The Coney Island stadium, whose program was rained out twice within four days, hopes for a revival of action on the 27th inst., when Ace Hudkins, the Nebraska wildcat, is slated to fight Phil McGraw, Detroit lightweight, in the star bout of fifteen rounds. A twelve-round semifinal will bring together Johnny Wilson, former middleweight champion, and Maxie Rosenbloom.

STARS CRUSH LOWLY SEALS

Vargas in the hope that he would get his 220 pounds behind a drive that would break up the game, but Marty struck out.

Dick McCabe did not need any more help, but his mates staked him to another run in the ninth. Johnny Kerr has been having a terrible time in the field this week, and his boot gave the Seals their only run. Johnny evidently figured that he owed McCabe a little something for that boot, so he opened the ninth with a double. Lee popped out while trying to bunt, but Peters caught Baker out of position and singled to center to score Kerr.

Gerald Stratford to Play in County Tennis Tourney

SINGLES CHAMP IS LATE ENTRY

State Title-holder Competes at Palomar Club

To Pair in Doubles Division With Al Herrington

Nine Are Seeded in Men's Singles Play

Gerald Stratford, California State singles champion, phoned his entry to Palomar officials late last night as the draw for the Los Angeles county tennis championships was being conducted at the Palomar Tennis Club.

Stratford's last-minute entry coupled with the announcement earlier in the evening that Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, Mrs. William Henry and Miss Marian Williams had decided to play in the women's singles, the capacity by the erection of wooden seats.

marked the Palomar classic as the biggest tournament of the year for Southern California.

Stratford will pair in the doubles with Alan Herrington, Southern California singles champion. Although this team stands out as one of the strongest in the State they will have their hands full with the local duos of Sindorf and Warren, Ruscher and Allen and Godshall and Hardeman. Stratford will be called upon to down such well-known local stars as Harold Godshall, Gene Warren, Ralph Sindorf, James Ruscher, Joe Ciano, Bob Allen and Dick Hinckley.

Following is the list of "seeded" players listed in the order of their "seeding" in the draw:

Men's singles: Harold L. Godshall, Alan Herrington, Eugene Warren, Ralph Sindorf, James Ruscher, Joe Ciano, Bob Allen and Dick Hinckley, Gerald Stratford, 9-set-entry

SNOWBIRDS RACE ON NEWPORT BAY

These are happy days for the youngsters who are spending the summer at Newport. The Junior Newport Harbor Yacht Club, whose membership is restricted to skippers under 16 years of age, holds a race every Saturday and Sunday. The fast sailing one design Snow Bird class is raced over the upper bay course, and the young sailors stage some exciting races. This photo was taken at the start of last Sunday's race.

Reed Faints After Making Hole-in-One

Ted Reed, genial golfing exponent from Brentwood, playing the seventeenth hole on the south course at Los Angeles yesterday with the nonchalance that characterizes Walter Hagen, and others, watched his tee shot drop into the 125-yard cup before dropping in a dead faint.

Reed has been formally managing and mismanaging both Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks for the last ten years, and has slept through major excitements, but the golfing feat yesterday was more than he could stand. With the best tourney of the year under way on the bordering north course, Ted was quickly revived, willing rescuers bringing him to, while sympathetic and congratulating friends brought him two more. MAIN-STREET CARD DISPLAYS PROMISE

Saturday night's card at the Main-Street Athletic Club, is by far the best ever presented at that swat emporium. Young Brown and Sailor Ashmore meet in the six-round main event. Both have been top-notchers and were among the best drawing cards that Los Angeles has ever known. Ashmore was a Hollywood attraction while Brown was a vernon, sec. Both have been out some time but since they made up their minds to grab some of the big money lightweights are getting, they have been doing well. The semi-wind-up will see Don Chebarria and Chick Nash in a return bout. They fought a torrid draw last week.

BERT COLE SOLD TO CHICAGO WHITE SOX

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18. (AP)—Bert Cole, star pitcher of the San Francisco Missions, has been sold to the Chicago White Sox, President William H. TAYLOR STOPS LAHOOD IN RING

probably would have gone the full route.

As it was the end came after one minute of fighting in the eighth round and LaHood's face was covered with blood as the towel floated into the ring. He was bleeding from the mouth and nose and a bad cut between the eyes didn't help matters any.

Taylor was virtually untouched, although LaHood did manage to open up a small cut over Bud's left eye in the fourth round. The Terre Haute star meets Phil Rosenberg for the title in Chicago next month and his admirers here presented him with a big floral horseshoe just before last night's bout started.

The preliminaries were high class, not one of them being slow or uninteresting. Frankie Novey and Benny Furrell put on a whale of a bout in the semi-wind-up and had the bugs yelling wildly during the entire six rounds. Joe Rivers decided Furrell's great rally had won him the decision, while the fans thought otherwise. A draw wouldn't have hurt either boy, while Novey might have been given the decision without being unjust. He had a shade in the first three rounds, the fourth was even and the last two went to Furrell.

There was some more howling when Johnny Schiff raised Jimmy Marcus's hand over Ted Easterbrook in the six-round special event. It was the latter's first fight here and he showed up in good style, although rather reluctant to lead. It was this defect which decided Schiff in favor of Marcus, who had done most of the leading. As it was, Easterbrook was entitled to a draw.

Mateo Magdaleno beat Benny Dias in a stirring four-rounder, while Bobbie Rendley opened the show by defeating Frankie Florez. The house, contrary to expectations, was not a sell-out.

OSMOND SCORES IN SARATOGA FEATURE

Dorval's fifth race, 1 1-16 miles, went to Opperman, with Deronda and Chlorin behind. The time was 1:48 3-5.

GRAPPLERS WORK OUT FOR BOUT

Pesek and Joe Stecher Open Training for Title Mat Battle

John Pesek, the "Tigerman," and World's Champion Joe Stecher will buckle down to the task of tieing training partners into various pretzel shapes today, when both champion and challenger hold their first local gymnasium workouts, in preparation for next Wednesday night's match at the Olympic Auditorium.

Pesek will work out at the Manhattan gymnasium, while Stecher will either work at Main Street Club or spend the next several days getting into shape at the Manhattan gymnasium.

Pesek arrived back in town yesterday after spending several days training in "secrecy" out in the country, whence he departed after signing articles for the titular match.

"I'm feeling great," was the Nebraskan's opening greeting to Promoter Lou Daro. "Get me a couple of tough training partners, for I expect to go through a strenuous siege in the gymnasium."

Daro yesterday signed up a couple of corking bouts to back up the big battle next Wednesday night.

Richard Schikat, a Teutonic giant, who ranks with Hans Steinke as the greatest of modern German mat men, will meet Don Andres Castanos in the semifinal. Schikat has been flopping them right and left around San Francisco. It is his first start here.

Castanos, who was a big card here a year ago, arrived back recently from a trip to Europe. The handsome toreador says he had a successful tour, everything considered, marrying a beautiful Castilian girl in Madrid, and losing but one wrestling bout out of twenty-eight, that by handicap.

Wladek Zbyszko, the Polish giant, will wrestle Jack Taylor in the opening battle.

the capacity by the erection of wooden seats.

Rickard's statement follows:

"After much and careful consideration, I have decided to take the Dempsey-Tunney bout to Philadelphia.

PLANS FAIL

"I have made every effort to hold this match in New York because I felt that New York was entitled to the match and that I had no right to take from the State in which I have so many interests the money which will accrue, directly or indirectly from this bout. I received strong and generous assistance in my New York efforts from Commissioners George E. Brower and William Muldoon, but the time came when they could do no more.

"The only recourse left me was the courts. After considering the matter I am unwilling to proceed in this extremity. First, I have no desire to do anything which might react upon the sport of boxing, and secondly, I feel I should not make myself responsible for any perhaps permanent break in the ranks of those that govern the game in this State. I owe much to boxing and have always refused to do anything which might hurt it.

ACCEPTS INVITATION

"During my negotiations here, Mr. E. L. Austin, director-general of the Sesquicentennial, came to me and invited me to hold the bout in Philadelphia, promising me no opposition and every co-operation. I have accepted the invitation.

"The Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission, after conferring with Gov. Pinchot, has sanctioned the bout and I have been assured by Frank Wiener, chairman of the commission, that there will be no difficulty in the way of holding it."

"Gov. Pinchot has said that so long as boxing is legal in the State and so long as the bout is sanctioned by the commission, Pennsylvania will welcome it. Mayor Kendrick of Philadelphia has joined Mr. Austin in the invitation to bring the match to his city."

GOV. PINCHOT BACKS DECISION

HARRISBURG (Pa.) Aug. 18. (AP)—Gov. Pinchot tonight said that he would "stand by" the decision of the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission on the question of the holding of the Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight championship match in the Stadium at Philadelphia Sesquicentennial Exposition, September 23.

Instead of soda take a few Phillips Milk of Magnesia tablets any time for indigestion or sour stomach, and get relief instantly.

Better Than Soda

Insist upon genuine "Phillips" when "Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it is three times as much as a saturated solution of ordinary milk of magnesia. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drugstore. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.—[Advertisement.

COOLIDGE PLAN TOLD FILIPINOS

Carmi Thompson Host Says Independence Promised

Quotes President as Saying "We're Going to Leave"

Speech First Intimation of Administration Ideas

CEBU (Island of Cebu, P. I.) Aug. 18. (AP)—Sergio Osmena, Senator of the Philippine Legislature and prominent worker for independent government for the islands, today quoted President Coolidge as having said to him, "We are going to withdraw from the Philippines, but don't intend to leave you with limited resources. We desire first to assist you in promoting economic development and resources sufficient for your self-support."

Osmena made this statement while introducing Carmi A. Thompson, at a luncheon of the Cebu Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Thompson is making a survey of economic conditions in the islands as President Coolidge's personal representative. Senator Osmena is acting as Mr. Thompson's escort on his tour of the Island of Cebu.

TELLS OF CONFERENCE

In his luncheon talk Osmena said he had a private conference with Mr. Coolidge during his recent visit to the United States and that the President said to him:

"The administration has a sincere interest in Philippine welfare. We are sending you an emissary in the person of Mr. Carmi A. Thompson to see how the administration may be helpful to you. We are going to withdraw from the Philippines, but don't intend to leave you with limited resources. We desire first to assist you in promoting economic development and resources sufficient for your self-support." President Coolidge said in the letter to Manuel Roxas:

"It is felt that in the present state of world relationship, the American government owes an obligation to continue extending a protecting arm to the people of those (Philippine) islands. It is felt, also, that quite aside from this consideration, there remains to be achieved by the Philippine people many greater advances on the road of education, culture, economic and political capacity, before they should undertake the full responsibility for their administration. The American government will assurredly co-operate in every way to encourage and inspire the full measure of progress which still seems a necessary preliminary to independence."

URGES CO-OPERATION

Urging the co-operation of the Filipinos in the development and administration of the islands, the letter said:

"If the time comes when it is apparent that independence would be better for the people of the Philippines, from the point of view of both their domestic concerns and their status in the world; and if when that time comes the Filipino people desire complete independence, it is not possible to doubt that the American government and people will gladly accord it."

Senator Osmena had been received several times at the White House, and shortly before Carmi A. Thompson left for his economic investigation of the islands, both the Filipino and the American were guests at luncheon of the President and Mrs. Coolidge, in company with other guests from New York and other cities.

AMERICA FOUND WORLD LEADER

Sir Esme Howard Forecasts Better Way of Life

Praises Human Policy in Our Industries

Lives of Men Worth More Than Goods, He Says

ROANOKE ISLAND (N. C.) Aug. 18. (AP)—Belief that the United States is leading the world into a new era and a better way of life that ultimately will bring a "great spiritual rebirth," and thereby universal peace, was expressed today by Sir Esme Howard, British Ambassador to this country. He was a speaker at the anniversary of the birthday of Virginia Dare, first white child born in an American colony.

The material development of this country was set aside by Sir Esme as "a secondary matter."

"What I specially rejoice in here," he said, "is rather the belief that this country is leading the world into a new era, into a better way of life that, provided we can keep the ideal before our eyes as well as the merely practical, will, and indeed ultimately must, make for a great spiritual rebirth and help us to that universal peace both at home and abroad for which all men in all countries are truly longing today."

HUMAN POLICY

America's great contribution to world progress is its human policy in industry, in the opinion of Sir Esme.

"Numbers of your leaders in public life and in industry seem to have realized before those in other countries that the health and happiness of the men and women who work in your factories, in your mines, in your great stores are as necessary to the well-being and to the successful prosecution of a business as any other part of it. You have learnt the gospel of high wages, as it has been called, and you have applied it and showed the world that it works.

"The new message that I think America of today is giving the world is that the lives of men are more than mere goods and that peace and contentment are more than mere wealth. Of this latter there is such abundance in this country in many quarters that it has become for many of its possessers a cheap and secondary possession.

"Therefore, I look forward to seeing America spread the gospel of this new learning in political economy over the world and so usher in an era of well-being, peace and content such as neither the extreme doctrines of the Manchester School on the one side nor those of Karl Marx on the other could possibly bring about."

RALEIGH AND RHODES

Earlier in his address Sir Esme had said that Walter Raleigh was "the first of our great empire builders, as Cecil Rhodes was probably the last." He took issue with the opinions set forth by a Bishop, whom he did not name, in an article published recently wherein the Bishop stated that "in some ways the life of Cecil Rhodes is one of the most sordid human biographies on record." Explaining that he did not uphold everything that was done by the first empire builders of any race, Sir Esme nevertheless maintained that the establishment of civilized life as a substitute for uncivilized life was justified. He said he believed Cecil Rhodes's ideal of a dominant British race was "a wholly mistaken one, for it could, if carried to its extreme limits, but bring discord rather than peace, since it was based not on good will among men but rather on that, in my opinion, most fallacious of all modern premises in politics, the general superiority of the Nordic races."

Congressmen of North Carolina and Virginia, representatives of the Governors of the two States, Rt. Rev. Joseph B. Cheshire of Raleigh, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of North Carolina, and members of the Roanoke Colony Memorial Association all were present and took part in the ceremonies.

Sir Esme's address, given from a rostrum beneath the old oaks which tradition says were the scene of the christening of the Baby Virginia Dare, marked the first active participation by the British government in the annual ceremonies.

When Sir Esme had finished, the assembled thousands sang the "International Anthem," specially composed for the occasion.

Virginia Dare was born shortly after the arrival of her parents at Roanoke Island with Sir Raleigh's third expedition to the new continent. Her mother was the daughter of Gov. White of the colony.

Soon after the child's birth, White sailed to England and on his return several years later, found all trace of the settlers had disappeared.

Thereafter the settlement was known to tradition as "Raleigh's lost colony."

One story has it that the settlers were merged with the Croatian Indians, another that they were massacred. The latter theory is supported by the official report of the next expedition to Virginia, which had instructions to search for the Roanoke Island colony.

Senate Passes Philippine Bill Over Wood Veto

MANILA, Aug. 18. (AP)—The Philippine Senate today unanimously passed over Gov.-Gen. Wood's veto the bill providing for a plebiscite on the question of Philippine independence. The bill now goes to the House, where similar action is expected. When the House passes the bill it will be forwarded to President Coolidge.

One of the Governor-General's first acts following the opening of the present session of the Legislature was to veto the plebiscite bill on the ground that the Legislature was without authority to pass it.

SABER DUEL FATAL AT BERLIN UNIVERSITY

BERLIN, Aug. 18. (Exclusive)—A "friendly" duel by students with sabers at the Berlin University ended with one of the fighters dying from the wounds he had received. His death has revived the agitation for passing a law putting an end to those "honor duels" which still are prevalent among the nationalist students and for which at present the only punishment is confinement in a fortress. The latest fatality is expected to lead to the Reichstag taking action.

VIOLATIONS OF DRY LAW INCREASING

State Criminal Bureau Also Says Illicit Use of Narcotics Gains

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 18. (AP)—Increases in many forms of crimes and misdemeanors—particularly violation of the prohibition law and illicit use of narcotics—are noted in the biennial report of the State Bureau of Criminal Identification, made public today by Clarence Morrill, chief.

Arrests for illicit use of narcotics, says the report, increased from 869 in 1924-25 to 1111 in 1925-26; prohibition offenses reported to the bureau during the same period jumped from 1272 to 1707.

Grand larceny increased from 1943 to 2200; automobile thefts from 547 to 828; murder from 346 to 356; vagrancy from 2222 to 2842.

Crimes committed by women jumped from 1426 in 1924-25 to 1661 in 1925-26, and paralleling this was a rise in crimes committed by girls, from 156 to 215. Boys, on the other hand, committed only 4973 crimes in 1925-26 as compared with 5016 during the previous fiscal year; this in the face of an increase in crimes committed by adult males from 18,468 to 20,442.

Morrill notes decreases in counterfeiting, which dropped from 33 to 21; in mayhem, which dropped from 27 to 12; in first degree burglary, which slid from 2580 to 2526, and in thefts of animals, of which only one case was reported during 1925-26 as compared with 16 during the previous year.

FORGED PASSPORTS FOUND BY MEXICANS

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 18. (Exclusive) Several arrests have been made here recently of persons whose passports were not in proper shape. It was found that several of these passports have been counterfeited and the visas forged. All of the persons arrested were considered as undesirables and the police believe that there is a widespread organization introducing into Mexico persons who would not ordinarily be allowed in the country. There are indications that some of the persons arrested were trying to enter the United States clandestinely.

Secretary Davis Warns Canada of Oriental Influx

VANCOUVER, (B. C.) Aug. 18. (Canadian Press)—Secretary of Labor Davis of the United States denounced the immigration of orientals and all Asiatics to the North American continent, here last night before a lodge of Loyal Order of Moose.

"China with her 400,000,000; India with her 300,000,000; Japan with her 70,000,000 and other Asiatic lands with their millions will swoop over you and keep your wages low, your racial development questionable, until eventually the white men will be submerged in North America, unless preventive measures are taken," Davis said.

ROYALTY RESTING

King George and Queen Mary in Scotland for Holiday

LONDON, Aug. 18. (AP)—King George and Queen Mary are in Scotland for a quiet holiday and much-needed rest after the strenuous London summer social season, which was followed by the Cowes regatta.

In Scotland royalty really enjoys some degree of privacy. Queen Mary personally supervised the packing up for the move to Balmoral Castle. Even with experienced helpers she insisted on seeing that everything was just so before the numerous trunks were locked and forwarded. Two hundred-odd cases of linen, plate and domestic articles were started north before the King and Queen went to Cowes. The court goes to Balmoral but once a year and the Queen takes precautions to see that nothing necessary for their stay there is lacking.

On the northward trek this year Queen Mary occupied for the first time a new railway coach built especially for her use. It contains, besides a luxurious boudoir and bedroom, a fully equipped bathroom, which is something of a novelty in an English train, few of which ever make twelve-hour runs.

DIX REPORT UNFOUNDED

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (AP)—A report that Richard Dix, motion-picture star, was ill at his hotel with double pneumonia proved unfounded today. He was at work as usual today on a new picture being filmed at the Famous Players-Lasky studios in Astoria.

THOUSANDS FACE BALDNESS AND DON'T KNOW IT

Working Almost Secretly, Destructive Parasites of "Alopecia Pityrodes" Spread Disease Through the Scalp, Which Brings Baldness in From Two to Seven Years

Microscopic Examination Necessary to Determine Exact Cause of Hair and Scalp Trouble, Says Specialist

Records carefully kept over a period of years show that a great percentage of people are afflicted with "Alopecia Pityrodes," a serious scalp trouble which is a forerunner of baldness. Many people mistake this affliction for common dandruff because the microbacilli quietly carry on their destructive work from two to seven years before any decided loss of hair is noticed and the first sign of baldness appears, says Prof. John H. Austin, over 40 years a hair and scalp specialist.

How Alopecia Pityrodes Destroys Healthy Hair

The trouble starts with a scaling of the scalp, sometimes slight, commonly called "dandruff," sometimes abundant—producing thick, grayish-white dry or greasy scales—which leads to the falling of the hair.

This stage lasts from two to seven years, as a rule. At first, when the hair starts to fall, it is hardly noticeable but as this ailment "Alopecia Pityrodes," becomes more deeply seated and the microbacilli multiply, as they always do, the falling of the hair increases rapidly and in time the top of the head becomes entirely bald.

Science Has Discovered How to Stop Hair Destruction

Even when there has been a decided loss of hair there are good prospects of staying the course of the ailment, and increasing the diameter and amount of the hair, provided the person troubled will persist in treatment. Prof. Austin has found well, and if given help at the right time will replace the lost hair with new, stronger, thicker and more beautiful hair.

A Powerful Microscope Reveals the Cause

The only way to tell the exact cause of hair and scalp troubles is by a microscope examination of the hair and scalp. Prof. Austin, who has been at the May Co. for the past 1½ years, has found that many people treat hair troubles without knowing what they are trying to cure, and naturally, results are disappointing.

Prof. Austin does not trust to guess work. A powerful microscope magnifies the microbacilli thousands of times, and once the exact cause is determined it is then a simple matter to correct the trouble. Over 40 years of practical experience and scientific study qualify him to advise what to do in each particular case.

The Warning

Neglect

Prof. Austin says, and you will find it repeated in every important scientific treatise on the hair and scalp, that the use of hair tonics, dandruff cures, elixirs, mange cures and pomades is like taking medicine without knowing what you are trying to cure.

This week Prof. Austin will make FREE microscopic examination of the hair and scalp. Hours 10 to 12 and 2 to 4—both men and women invited. The May Co., Eighth and Broadway, Mezzanine Floor, Broadway entrance.

CONSERVATION FOUND GAINING

Geological Survey Director Inspects Mine Leases

Says Industry Has Adopted "Research Attitude"

Lauds Co-operation of State and Federal Bureaus

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—A five weeks' inspection of mineral leasing activities on government lands in the West has convinced Director Smith of the Geological Survey that practical conservation is winning out and industrial leaders are utilizing new methods in the developments of the country's natural resources.

In a special report to Secretary Work, covering his observations of coal mining operations in Montana and Wyoming and oil operations in Montana and California, he said that what impressed him most was the "more receptive attitude of the industrial leaders toward new ideas and new ways of doing things."

RESEARCH ATTITUDE

"In academic circles this is called the research attitude," he added, "but in the field it is more the determined effort to lower costs. The adoption of loading machinery is cutting down the cost of coal to unexpected levels, the expansion of the power systems is likewise lowering the cost of electricity and broadening the fields of its usefulness, and the executives who control the destinies of the larger oil companies are giving more enthusiastic support to their engineering staffs—and all this means to me that practical conservation is winning out in the use of all the great stores of natural resources in the western country."

Director Smith, at the outset of his report, said that "anyone who feels concerned about the present status of the oil industry can find in certain oil fields abundant cause of 'viewing with alarm' and in others gratifying reasons for an optimistic outlook," and continued:

RAPID PROGRESS

"The economic errors of the past still persist in too many fields, while elsewhere the progress in technique is so rapid as to promise immediate betterment. The petroleum engineers representing the Department of the Interior in these oil fields thus have a large opportunity to aid in the spread of the best practices, and it was pleasing to note that this influence is being exerted by our engineers.

"Equally satisfactory, too, is the co-operative spirit existing between the Federal engineers and the State officials charged with the administration of the State laws relating to oil and gas. Such co-operation is absolutely essential, for measures aimed at insuring efficiency and safety in the control of oil and gas wells can not stop at any property lines separating the jurisdictions of nation and State.

TWO KILLED BY CHANNEL PLANE FALL

One American Loses Life; Eleven Other Persons Hurt in Crash on English Soil

LONDON, Aug. 18. (AP)—A large French passenger plane on a flight from Paris to the London air station at Croydon crashed to earth this afternoon near Folkestone in a heavy fog. Two passengers were killed. One was reported to be Robert Blaney of Boston, and the other an Italian.

Six other Americans were injured. The names of the Americans who were aboard are: Robert Hutchinson, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hazard, Miss Nell Wick, Laurence Strohl and Mrs. Edna Troarn. Their home addresses are not given in the passenger list.

The Victoria Hospital at Folkestone, to which nine of the injured were transferred, reported late tonight that all were in a critical condition.

There were thirteen passengers on the plane. None escaped injury. The pilot and mechanician were pinned under the fore part of the craft.

The primary cause of the disaster is thought to have been engine trouble, for, on seeking lower levels in the fog to find her bearings, the machine swerved suddenly and dropped swiftly. It struck the top of a barn. Rescuers had to pry the doors open to remove the injured.

CHILD TUBERCULOSIS SANATORIUM PLANNED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—Plans to raise $5,000,000 by donation were announced here by the national sanatorium for tuberculous children, recently incorporated in the District of Columbia. The organization expects to erect an institution somewhere in the Southwest, so endowed that poor children can receive free treatment. El Paso, Tex., and several other cities in Southwestern States are under consideration.

SLAYING OF PRIEST IN CHINA REPORTED

HANKOW (China) Aug. 18. (AP)—The Franciscan Mission here has received news of the slaying of a Spanish priest, Father Maiquez, the 4th inst. The priest was reported to have been killed by soldiers in the army of Gen. Tao Li Cheng near Sianfu, Shensi Province.

MEANS CHOSEN VETERAN HEAD

Colorado Senator Honored by Spanish War Order

Santa Monica Considered for Soldiers' Hospital

Organization Will Meet in Havana in 1928

DES MOINES (Iowa) Aug. 18. (AP) Senator Rice W. Means of Colorado, who, twenty-eight years ago, as a young lieutenant, swam the Cingaloan River and made a daring reconnaissance preparatory to the Battle of Manila, tonight is the new Commander in Chief of the United States War Veterans. The Senator was elected by an overwhelming vote of the vettrans this afternoon in the final business session of their annual encampment.

The soldiers of '98 selected Detroit as the scene of next year's encampment and decided to meet in Havana in 1928. The Cuban invitation was extended by Senor Gayetana De Quesada, personal representative of the President of the island republic, and the proposal to visit again the scenes of their early conquest met with almost unanimous support.

URGE PREPAREDNESS

A score of resolutions were adopted by the convention. Military preparedness and numerous legislative proposals to assist the veterans were indorsed. The government was requested to establish a soldiers' hospital open to veterans of all wars somewhere in the South, and a proposal to build 500-bed hospitals at Dayton and Santa Monica was referred to the new administration for study. The results recommended governmental financial aid in the erection of a monument to Theodore Roosevelt at a site to be selected later along the new Roosevelt memorial highway under construction in Oregon.

Tonight the delegates turned to the final entertainment feature, the grand crawl of the military order of the Serpent. In picturesque costumes reminiscent of the strange climes in which they saw service, the fun-making organization took possession of downtown streets.

A brief session to wind up convention affairs is to be held tomorrow.

MEANS ASSUMES DUTIES

Commander Means and the other officers assumed their duties before the close of today's session. With him were sworn in C. Noel Markman of Virginia, Senior Vice-Commander in Chief; C. A. Anderson of Omaha, Junior Vice-Commander in Chief, Ezra C. Clemans, Owatanna, Minn., Chaplain, and Dr. H. A. Arnold of Pennsylvania, Surgeon-General.

Commander Means promised the veterans at his induction that his administration will redouble efforts to enlist all eligibles in the organization and to achieve the legislative program to which the veterans have been committed. He declared no clique or sectional appeal will be permitted to influence his work.

The new commander regards the Spanish War Veterans as the pivotal military organization ready to take up the burdens of the thinning ranks of Civil War soldiers and to aid the last war heroes, the World War veterans, in carrying on patriotic work.

The veterans of the Spanish War, he declared, "led the young hosts," in the World War by reason of their previous "seasoning" and should maintain a place of leadership in times of peace.

The policy of the veterans under his guidance, he said, will be for a peaceful internationalism, guided by patriotic ideals. America, he said, should lead the nations; seek settlement of international differences by arbitration, if possible, but still maintain a sufficient military arm to enforce American ideals of justice and liberty. His organization, he added, will continue to preach Americanism and to engender patriotism by all means.

MEANS COLONEL

The commander was a colonel in the World War, leading the Fourth Regiment through the Battle of the Argonne and later commanding the 187th, "Colorado's own."

Commander Means was awarded the distinguished-service medal for his feat at Manila, his regiment having been the first to enter the city, after the memorable engagement. He volunteered to swim the Cingalson and direct the map of Fort San Antone de Abad and surrounding territory, upon which the campaign was based.

The women's auxiliary to the veterans' organization failed to name all of its officers at today's business session and will complete the election tomorrow. Officers elected today include Mrs. Blanche Barker, Lowell, Mass., as president-general; Mrs. Margaret Manion, Milwaukee, senior vice-president, and Relia Hall, Des Moines, chaplain-general. Other officers elected were Elizabeth McNamara, Cambridge, Mass., judge advocate, and Margaret Saylor, Seattle, Wash., historian.

"Jinx" Plane to Take Off Again for San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 18. (AP)—Radio advices that the PB-1, one of the "hard-luck" seaplanes of the United States Navy, will make another attempt to reach San Diego by air, starting from Seattle at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, were received at local naval headquarters today.

The PB-1 made its first start from Seattle for San Diego a year ago, but got only as far as San Francisco, after being forced down three times; failed even to start on the flight to Hawaii and then went back to Seattle for repairs.

Lieut. Ralph Davidson hopes to reach Humboldt Bay in the PB-1 tomorrow night. Friday the plane is scheduled to hop off for San Diego and to come through without a stop.

ESCAPED PRISONER BACK VALUNTARILY

MICHIGAN CITY (Ind.) Aug. 18 (AP)—James Witenger, lifer and trusty of Indiana State prison, who walked away Monday, returned to the prison today, paying a taxicab driver $10 to bring him back from Chicago. Witenger was sent up from Lafayette in 1907 on a murder charge. He is in charge of the prison waterworks station on Lake Michigan. Monday he took $2.25 received in tips in helping motorists and boarded a train for Chicago. Today he became conscience stricken, hired a taxicab and returned to prison. He will not be punished, but will retain his job.

EX-PREMIER ARRESTED

Greek Leader Believed Held in Anti-Government Activity

ATHENS (Greece) Aug. 18. (AP)—M. Papanastasion, former Premier and leader of the Democratic party in Greece, has been arrested.

It is probable that M. Papanastasion was apprehended in connection with the arrest Monday of former Premier Kafandaris and a large number of army officers charged with "persistent and continued antigovernment activities." M. Kafandaris was sent in exile to an island in the Aegean Sea.

ARTIFICIAL MILK TO BE MADE IN DENMARK

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 18. (AP)—Artificial milk, which is said to possess all the qualities of fresh cow's milk, is to be manufactured in Denmark. The product is said not to be made merely a substitute for milk, as officials assert the real butter fat is replaced by vegetables fats, and the addition of vitamins gives it the character of fresh milk. It is expected the new product will be a valuable factor in Danish animal husbandry, as its use will leave more cow milk for butter-making.

CHINESE ANNOY AMERICANS

Soldiers Insult Travelers Who Are Powerless Against Turbulent Oriental Rabble

CANTON, Aug. 18. (Exclusive)—When you are a passenger on a train in China, have paid for your berth and for a comfortable seat, but yet Chinese soldiery enter your compartment, force you out of your place, help themselves to your cigarettes and generally make a nuisance of themselves—don't lose your temper.

So says Edwin Towzey, of Hawaii, who thinks that when one is traveling in China these days, he is taking a risk and that it is good policy to keep quiet, despite the annoyances one is subjected to.

Mr. Towzey then proceeded to relate a few of the experiences that befell him when traveling from Mukden to Tien-tsin. He had engaged a special compartment and had invited another foreigner whom he had met casually to share it. This other foreigner was a doctor and had been in China for several years.

SOLDIERS ENTER

Everything went well till, at a roadside station, the train came to a stop with a grating sound and a gang of soldiery clambered aboard. Into Mr. Towzey's special compartment swaggered two noncommissioned officers. At their heels were a motley rabble grinning broadly intent on seeing how their gallant officers were going to knock "the stuffing" out of the foreigners.

On the seat was a tin of cigarettes belonging to the doctor. One of the noncommissioned officers walked up to it, had a good look at it, stuck one in his mouth and several in his pocket, passed another over to his brother officer, lit his cigarette and then held the match under the doctor's nose. Meantime, the rabble laughed as though it were all a great joke. The doctor made no remonstration. Thereupon, the same officer proceeded to ignite another match and hold it to the hem of the doctor's trousers. All the latter did was merely to move his leg, this eliciting another burst of fiendish glee. The doctor perhaps knew the wisdom of discretion sometimes being the better part of valour. Happily for the medical man, the station at which he alighted was soon reached and his woes were at an end.

Mr. Towzey was, meanwhile, congratulating himself that he was sufficiently insignificant to be held unworthy of these tender attentions. But no soon had the doctor descended than Mr. Towzey was treated in a manner not dissimilar.

It was growing late, became 10 o'clock, and Mr. Towzey could not go to sleep. Suddenly the conductor came along and declared that he had found room for the two officers. At the same time, he signalled to six of the soldiers and billeted them in Mr. Towzey's compartment. There was really room for only two, but the soldiers promptly pulled off their clothes and proceeded to occupy the greater part of the compartment, talking, laughing and spitting all over the floor and, occasionally, throwing cigarette ends at the owner of the compartment.

But it's a long lane that has no turning and the soldiers reached their destination, taking themselves away, but leaving a nasty odor behind. "It's good 'pidgin' to be philosophical sometimes," Mr. Towzey added.

CONDUCTORS POWERLESS

The conductors on the trains can do nothing, according to Mr. Towzey. One conductor, some time ago, he related, remonstrated on behalf of a passenger. The soldiers took him out, beat him severely, and left him half-dead while the train steamed off.

Mr. Towzey is through with sightseeing in China for a while, and will spend the rest of his holiday in Japan before he proceeds to the Paradise of the Pacific and the order and courtesy to be met there.

LEGALITY OF WALSH ACT UNDER FIRE

Action of Congress in Oil Suit Held Invasion of Judiciary

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—Attorneys for Albert B. Fall, Edward L. Doheny and Harry F. Sinclair today attacked as unconstitutional the Walsh Act, designed to speed up legal action in the government oil cases.

A brief filed in the Court of Appeals contended that the act attempts to strip the court of jurisdiction to hear special appeals in the Fall-Doheny-Sinclair conspiracy trials, and is an attempted invasion by Congress of functions of the judiciary.

The previous action of the court in allowing the special appeals, it was argued, was a "judgment" and should be allowed "in the interest of justice" and can not be set aside by the Walsh Act.

In urging degial of a motion by government counsel for dismissal of the appeals, the defendants urged the court to "lay the hand of judicial restraint upon such insidious legislation."

Mother, Three Children, Found Dead on Hooks

LONDON, Aug. 18.—A tragedy as terrible as that related by Thomas Hardy in his famous novel "Jude the Obscure" is reported from Patmore Heads in Hertfordshire today.

When the neighbors broke into a cottage named Chez Nous they found its four occupants, a mother and three children, hanging dead from hooks in a back room. The mother, a Mrs. Halse, was a woman of education and refinement, about 50 years of age. Her children, a boy and two girls who were remarkable for their attractiveness, were 13, 12 and 5, respectively. The physician said today the four had been dead several days. A similar incident in Mr. Hardy's novel created such an uproar when it was published in the 90's that the novelist definitely abandoned writing novels. The chief complaint against "Jude" was that it was untrue to life.

Mrs. Halse had been separated from her husband, a business man of Newton Abbot, for some time. On the table were found three letters, one of which was addressed by Mrs. Halse to the Coroner.

AIR POCKET IN DAM SAVES SUBMERGED BOY

REDDING, Aug. 18. (AP)—Henry Simmons, 13 years of age, fell from an irrigation dam into the Sacramento River late today, but escaped alive, although submerged under eight feet of water, when he was swept into an air pocket beneath the concrete sheets of the dam. A companion who saw him fall spread the alarm, and thirty-five minutes later he was rescued by firemen, exhausted and almost frozen.

Strangler of Woman May be Bay Region Man

STOCKTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—Conviction that the San Francisco Bay region strangler assaulted and killed Mrs. Isabelle Gallegos, 73 years of age, was expressed here this afternoon by the police, after an investigation of the circumstances under which the attack occurred.

A pillow slip, tied around the woman's neck, strangled her to death, but not until a vigorous resistance that started in a rear bedroom and ended in a front bedroom.

The woman was last seen at 7:30 o'clock last night. One of the neighbors heard a scream at 8 o'clock, but believed it was some children at play.

The strangler thoroughly ransacked the house, going through all bureau drawers.

A money belt around the body of his victim was overlooked. It contained $300.

LIQUOR INJUNCTIONS RUN ONE YEAR ONLY

The ruling is understood to be the first ever made by a court on the duration of such an injunction.

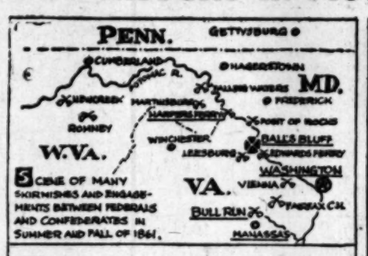
Battle of Ball's Bluff.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD



AFTER THE BATTLE OF BULL RUN AND WHILE GENERAL GEORGE B. McCLELLAN WAS TRAINING HIS HOST OF UNION VOLUNTEERS ON THE POTOMAC, NO GREAT ENGAGEMENTS WERE FOUGHT IN THAT REGION, BUT MANY IMPORTANT SKIRMISHES AND FIERCE CLASHES TOOK PLACE BETWEEN THE OPPOSING BLUE AND GRAY FORCES.

IN OCTOBER, 1861, McCLELLAN, WISHING TO DETERMINE THE STRENGTH OF THE CONFEDERATES, ORDERED A RECONNOISSANCE IN FORCE AT SEVERAL POINTS ALONG THE RIVER, ON OCT. 21, GEN. E. D. BAKER WITH 2,100 MEN (MASS., N. Y., CAL., AND R. I. VOLUNTEERS) CROSSED THE POTOMAC TO MAKE A DEMONSTRATION AGAINST LEESBURG, VIRGINIA.

CLIMBING TO THE CREST OF BALL'S BLUFF, BAKER'S TROOPS ENCOUNTERED A STRONG BODY OF CONFEDERATES (MISS. AND VA. REGIMENTS) UNDER GENERAL N. G. EVANS. A UNION CHARGE, IN WHICH BAKER WAS KILLED, WAS REPULSED AND THE SOUTHERNERS, ATTACKING ON THREE SIDES, DROVE THE FEDERALS TO THE STEEP BANK OF THE RIVER.

THE RETIREMENT BECAME A ROUT AND THE UNION TROOPS RE-CROSSED THE POTOMAC WITH A TOTAL LOSS OF ALMOST HALF THEIR NUMBER OF MEN ENGAGED. THIS DISASTER SHOCKED THE NORTH AND RESULTED IN AN ORDER FOR THE BRIEF IMPRISONMENT OF GEN. STONE, BAKER'S SUPERIOR, UPON WHOM THE BLAME FELL.

BABY TO HAVE TWO BIRTHDAYS

Born While Ship Crosses "Time Line"

[P. & A. Photo]

Mrs. Harold Flynn and Her Unusual Child

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18. (Exclusive)—When the United States Navy transport Chaumont arrived here there was a baby on board who will celebrate two birthdays. The Chaumont was crossing the one hundred and eightieth meridian when little Harold Chaumont Flynn came into the world the 6th inst. Inasmuch as he was born on a forty-eight-hour day he hereafter will celebrate two days a year as his birthday. The father is Quartermaster Sergeant Harold Flynn of the Marine Corps, who was en route with his family from Cavite, P. I., to the aviation field at Quantico, Va.

"Why didn't I start a Living Trust 10 years ago?"

THAT'S what hundreds of men have said after some business adversity—and they will continue to say it until the trust companies of the United States finally persuade most of them to build up living trusts at the same time they are developing their businesses.

A LIVING TRUST is virtually a form of insurance against misfortune which a man creates for himself with the aid and guidance of a trust institution.

IT IS insurance that is enjoyed while one is living—a separate estate protected from the uncertainties of the business world.

FRENCH ACT TO CUT HIGH LIVING COST

Poincare Calls Cabinet Session to Solve Food Problems Facing Nation

PARIS, Aug. 18.—Premier Poincare, who returned to Paris from the country yesterday, presided at a meeting of the Cabinet today to consider measures to reduce the cost of living in France, which has not come down as the franc has gone up.

One decision condemns the French to eat no white bread before the end of 1927, the recent decree providing for putting 10 per cent other grains along with wheat for the public bread being extended to the end of next year. Further steps will be taken to remove the necessity for large importations of wheat, a danger which exists because of the comparative shortage of this year's French yield.

The Cabinet will hold another meting tomorrow morning and probably on Friday a long list of public restrictions will be published. Special efforts are to be made to prevent speculation on foodstuffs, especially wheat.

Discussion of the French debt to America continues much milder in tone, the government-inspired press advising ratification of the Berenger treaty, with the exception of the Figaro, which stands out for ratification but with a reservation embodying the equivalent of a safeguard clause.

Accuses Girls of Theft and Gets Himself Seized

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (Exclusive)—When two chorus girls stole $5000 from George W. Ford, 35 years of age, formerly of South Bend, Ind., it made him so indignant that he complained to the police here and thus got himself arrested today, charged with robbing the Peninsula State Bank, Highland Park, Mich., of nearly $8000.

Police say Ford was employed by the Peninsula State Bank, when he left the first time, taking a small amount of money and a key to the bank. On July 17, last, it is charged, he returned to the bank early in the morning, let himself in, and when the manager arrived, held him up, locked him in the cellar and took $7,163.50 and two of the bank's pistols.

Today detectives went to 51 West Eighth street to investigate a letter from Ford complaining that two girls had made off with his money. They had with them a description of the Highland Park robber. They arrested Ford at once.

CARETAKER DIES IN RANCH HOME BLAZE

WOODLAND (Cal.) Aug. 18. (AP)—Jack Dawson of Yolo county was burned to death by a fire last night which destroyed a house on the Ridley ranch, four miles north of Zamora. Dawson, who was employed as a caretaker, was the only occupant of the house.

TWO SHARKS CAPTURED

PORTLAND (Or.) Aug. 18. (Exclusive)—Two sharks, small in size, were captured in a crat hole near Long Beach, Wash., by R. W. Armstrong of Vancouver, Wash., and C. A. Button of La Center, Wash.

Both sharks were four and one-half feet long, and the men were bitten while the capture was in progress, although no serious injuries were sustained.

UNION ACTIVITY MENACES CHINA

Problem Second to Civil War in Importance

Bolshevik Propaganda Back of Movement

Workers' Demands Often Queer and Laughable

SHANGHAI (China) Aug. 18. (Exclusive)—Second in importance only to China's civil wars now going on (and probably even more fraught with peril for the future) is the tremendous labor union movement sweeping the country and helping to paralyze trade and industry.

This union movement is not merely industrial, but has also a sinister political significance because in the main it is stirred up by Bolshevik propagandists and is being spread into the remote districts by Chinese propagandists who have been trained by expert trouble-brewers sent here from Russia.

For instance, Li Lih-san, head of the labor movement in this part of China, left this week for Moscow on a special mission connected with the handling of a "relief fund" to be sent here by the Soviet government—a relief fund to be used to aid striking Chinese who become every day more insistent and more unreasonable in their demands. Li Lih-san is president of the Shanghai General Labour Union, and was director-general of the general strike in Shanghai last year when the unions made an abortive effort to seize the city.

STRIKE NEWS COMMON

Strike news is so common that it is handled only perfunctorily by the newspapers here, such items as the closing of a cotton mill with 1500 employees being merely a commonplace. These strikes are a source of real and continual peril to the International Settlement in Shanghai, for most of them are accompanied by sabotage and violence. Police and guards are attacked, stones thrown, fights started in which heavy staves are freely used, and frequently the fire hose is used to scatter particularly turbulent mobs.

With daily activities of this kind it is inevitable that some day some Chinese workman will be killed, and then, indeed, the fat will be in the fire again. A killing of this kind will lead, as it did in May of last year, to parades of protest and to unwarranted attacks on foreigners.

That the Chinese work for what would seem incredibly low pay at home can not be disputed. For instance one insistent demand is for a minimum wage of $15 a month in Mexican silver, which means a little less than $8 per month in American money. But 50 cents a day is not small pay here, nor is that a rate of income below the standard of living of the average Chinese coolie laborer.

Of course, continual efforts are being made to shorten the working day, and other reasonable demands are made, but many of the demands are also outrageous, and some of them even ludicrous.

DEMANDS OF WORKERS

For instance, within the last fortnight unions of various kinds have made the following demands upon employers:

A guarantee of a yearly advance in pay.

Forty days off on half pay for women workers about to become mothers.

Full transportation to his home city or village for any workman who quits his job.

Heavy gratuities in case of sickness or death, even though not connected with or the result of the employment.

Transportation home and back for vacation trips—and—

No worker to be dismissed without consent of the union.

Day before yesterday the owners of three different tea warehouses were kidnaped by striking employees, taken to a lonely spot outside the city and there tortured into signing new agreements granting all of the demands of the strikers.

REFUSE TO ARBITRATE

Of course, there are arbitration boards, but in the main the unions refuse to accept the awards unless they grant their full demands. Time after time they refuse to cease picketing in the face of official orders to desist, and in general they are a law unto themselves, and there is no government, central or local, strong enough or daring enough to attempt to enforce the laws where they are concerned.

All of this would be bad enough, both industrially and in a civic sense, but the situation is made much worse by the fact that the unions are admittedly ultraradical in their ultimate aims, and that they are aided and inspired by Russian Reds and the Chinese converts to or employees of Bolshevism.

Birth Rate for England Drops Over Last Year

LONDON, Aug. 18.—The birth rate for England and Wales of 18.7 per thousand for the second quarter of 1926, announced today, is the lowest ever recorded in any quarter except during the years from 1917 to 1919; it is .6 per thousand below that of the corresponding quarter in 1925.

The number of births in the second quarter of this year was 161,455, of which 82,681 were boys and 78,774 girls. The deaths in the second quarter of 1926 numbered 113,818, or 16,756 less than the preceding quarter, but 551 more than the corresponding quarter of 1925. The infant mortality is estimated to be 62 per thousand.

TRIAL OF ACCUSED IN STRIKE RIOTS STARTS

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18. (AP)—The trial of four men charged with rioting in connection with the carpenters' strike, started in Police Court here today. With the selection of the jury the cases were continued until tomorrow because of the absence from court of two of the defendants. The defendants are James Wrench, William Berry, Harry Clark and Jack Anderson. The latter was convicted yesterday of violating the antipicketing ordinance.

Wilshires I-ON-A-CO

See Its Amazing Results for Yourself!

By GAYLORD WILSHIRE
Inventor of the I-ON-A-CO
Founder Wilshire District

It is not difficult to understand why some people are still skeptical about the I-ON-A-CO. For the average person, not in touch with scientific affairs, has probably not heard about Professor Warburg's recent discovery which seems destined to revolutionize present methods of treating disease.

However, the fact that Professor Warburg is one of the world's most eminent biologists, plus the fact that he demonstrated his discovery before no less scientific body than the Rockefeller Institute, should remove any suspicion of quackery — even from the minds of the most skeptical.

I admit that the results obtained by the I-ON-A-CO have, in many instances, been so startling as to be almost beyond belief. That is the very reason why I urge the sick person to try the I-ON-A-CO for himself—without charge. The treatment takes 10 minutes, and is delightful. Even to the doubter, 10 minutes isn't a great deal of time to risk, when the reward is health.

You do not have to take anyone's word about the I-ON-A-CO. You can see its amazing results with your own eyes. Better yet, you can try it for yourself. Absolutely free. Absolutely without obligation. Then judge by your own experience.

Here is a partial list of ailments which have responded to I-ON-A-CO:

Anaemia	Colitis	Hemorrhoids	Prostate troubles
Arthritis	Constipation	Heart disease	Premature gray hair
Asthma	Cystitis	High blood pressure	Rheumatism
Baldness	Debility	Insomnia	Sciatica
Bladder troubles	Diabetes	Indigestion	Tuberculosis
Bronchitis	Eczema	Nervous debility	Tumor
Cancer	Gastritis	Neuralgia	Varicose veins
Catarrh	Goitre	Obesity	Vertigo

Make your own 10-minute test

If you are suffering pain—no matter how severe or what the cause—one treatment may bring complete relief, as it has in hundreds of cases. And if one treatment does not convince you, you may take several. They are all free. You will not be urged to buy.

We know this sounds unbelievable. But remember, you judge for yourself. Can you afford to disregard this offer—to drift along sick, unhappy, miserable—when a 10 minute treatment may point the way to renewed health? Isn't it plain common sense at least to investigate?

If you are too ill to call, phone and we'll send an I-ON-A-CO to your home.

Mejora el Estado de Valentino

NUEVA YORK, Agosto 18.—Rodolfo Valentino casi ha pasado la crisis de su dolencia, y recuperará la salud, salvo que se presentaren complicaciones imprevistas. Esta lisonjera noticia sobre la condición actual del astro de la pantalla ha sido transmitida esta noche por el Hospital Policlínico, después de un día prenado de temores para los médicos que lo atienden.

Poco antes de las siete de la noche se dio a conocer el siguiente boletín oficial: "Sigue favorable el estado del señor Valentino. A menos que surjan imprevistas complicaciones, considérase probable su restablecimiento. Temperatura, 100.8; Pulsaciones, 68; Respiración, 20. Dr. Paul E. Durham, Dr. Harold D. Keeker, Dr. G. Randolph Manning."

El jeque de la pantalla pasó tolerablemente la noche del martes, y hasta esta mañana pudo apreciársele ligera mejoría en su condición general, según reza un boletín expedido esta mañana temprano.

Dijo el señor Ullman, apoderado del actor, que a éste se le permitió hoy por primera vez tomar alimento, consistente en una pequeña escudilla de caldo.

Esta mañana a las siete se recibió un telefonazo de Los Angeles, preguntando por el estado del famoso jeque: "Habla Pola Negri. ¿Cómo está Valentin..?"

Cuando el empleado hubo contestado que no se había presentado ningún cambio en su condición, la voz dijo "gracias," la comunicación se interrumpió. Rumórase que la señorita Negri es la prometida de Valentino.

Todo el día de hoy siguieron llegando telegramas al hospital. El de Aileen Pringle decía: "Si queda en su corazón un huequecito para el amor, reservemelo a mí." John Gilbert telegrafió: "Lucha, Rudy, lucha. Millones de gentes te necesitan." También se recibieron mensajes de Bebe Daniels y Vilma Banky.

"Tammany" Young, el célebre "demoledor de puertas," no pudiendo abrirse paso por la fuerza hacia lo interior del hospital para ver a Valentino, le envió a éste el siguiente recado escrito a lápiz: "Querido compinche: Dios protege siempre a los buenos chicos. El te cuidará."

Sid Grauman telegrafió: "Todo Hollywood está haciendo votos por usted." Y todo el día y toda la noche hubo llamadas telefónicas, la mayoría de mujeres.

Créese que Estrada Tiene Muchas Fuerzas en Imperial

Súpose aquí ayer que, temiendo una segunda rebelión contra el gobierno mejicano, y alarmados por los daños personales que pudieran resultarles a los norteamericanos que residen en la frontera internacional, los munícipes de Caléjico han dirigido al jefe de la zona del Noveno Cuerpo la súplica urgente de que se sirva movilizar inmediatamente 500 soldados hacia la citada población fronteriza. Los mensajes que llegan aquí dicen que tanto los norteamericanos como los mejicanos de Caléjico y Mejicali tienen poderosas razones para creer que el general Enrique Estrada, que fue arrestado el domingo último en San Diego con su "ejército" de 150 hombres, tiene un grupo fuerte y bien organizado de partidarios en las cercanías de Mejicali.

Se ha sabido que las autoridades norteamericanas del condado de Imperial están cooperando con las mejicanas en las pesquisas que se hacen para encontrar a un tal Mejía, líder radicalista que huyó de Mejicali la noche en que fue capturado Estrada, y quien, al decir de las autoridades, lleva varios años de hallarse identificado con movimientos políticos de carácter revolucionario.

Es tal la situación en Caléjico y Mejicali, que, por informes particulares, se ha sabido que el cuarto batallón de tropas mejicanas, al mando del general Armenta, ha sido despachado de Guaymas para reforzar la guarnición de Mejicali.

Por despachos de San Diego hemos tenido conocimiento de la comparecencia ante el comisionado de los Estados Unidos Ryan, del general Estrada, y sus hombres, de las fianzas que se les han fijado, y de que se les ha señalado audiencia para el próximo 9 de Septiembre. Simultáneamente recibió aquí órdenes ayer el marshal de los Estados Unidos Sittel, de dirigirse inmediatamente a San Diego, y hacerse cargo de los presos. Como no existe cuartel donde Estrada y su hueste rebelde puedan ser detenidos legalmente, el "marshal" Sittle tiene órdenes de buscar o construir algo así como una prisión federal, donde poder internar a los presos políticos.

LIVES ON FARM IN OKLAHOMA

Happy Woman Praises Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

In a sunny pasture in Oklahoma, a herd of sleek cows was grazing. They made a pretty picture. But the thin woman in the blue checked apron sighed as she looked at them. She was tired of cows, tired of her tedious work in the dairy. She was tired of cooking for a houseful of boarders, besides caring for her own family. The burdens of life seemed too heavy for her failing health. She had lost confidence in herself.

One day she began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and her general health began to improve. She took it faithfully. Now she can do her work without any trouble, sleeps well and is no longer blue and tired.

This woman, Mrs. Cora Short, R. R. 9, Box 396, Oklahoma City, Okla., writes: "Everybody now says: 'Mrs. Short, what are you doing to yourself?' I weigh 135 and my weight before I took it was 115. I have taken seven bottles of the Vegetable Compound."

DEMOCRATS OUT FOR VARE SCALP

Active Pennsylvania Fight to Start Saturday

Republican Senator May Aid Wilson in Campaign

Hope Expressed by Oldfield of Winning Congress

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—Inauguration of an aggressive campaign in Pennsylvania next Saturday for the election of William B. Wilson, Democrat, to the Senate over Representative Vare, Republican, was announced here today by Representative Oldfield of Arkansas, chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee.

"We are going to put on a real fight against Vare," Mr. Oldfield said. "We expect the Senate campaign funds committee to watch expenditures in all States and we will do all we can to prevent the corruption of the electorate in the general elections."

Mr. Oldfield personally will open the campaign with addresses at Allentown, Bethlehem and Bangor.

OTHERS TO SPEAK

Other prominent Democratic leaders are to follow him in the State and there are reports that Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, who indorsed Mr. Wilson's candidacy after the disclosures of large expenditures for Vare in the Republican primary in May, also will stump the State for the former Labor Secretary.

Close co-operation between the Congressional and Senatorial campaign committees was forecast. Mr. Oldfield said joint headquarters will be maintained here and that active campaigns will be conducted in every State where the Democrats have chance of winning seats in the Senate and House. Senator Swanson of Virginia is to have charge of the speakers' bureau, and Representative McClintic of Oklahoma will take charge of the House speakers' bureau.

Senator Gerry of Rhode Island, chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, will return to Washington about September 1, next, to assist in the general direction of the campaign.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT

"I think we have a good chance to regain control of the House in the next Congress," Mr. Oldfield said. "Except in Pennsylvania, we will wait until the last of the primaries are over before beginning the intensive speaking campaigns. They will come in October."

After speaking in Pennsylvania Saturday, Mr. Oldfield will go to Albany, N. Y., to confer with Edwin Corning, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, and then visit Buffalo, where he expects to see Norman E. Mack, Democratic national committeeman from New York, and other party leaders.

The Arkansas Representative said he had received extremely encouraging reports on the prospects of Democratic gains in Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, New Jersey, West Virginia, Kansas, Massachusetts, Iowa, Missouri, Oklahoma, Nevada, California and Utah, and predicted that the Democrats will recapture the single Republican district in Texas.

Renewal of Row at University of Arizona Likely

TUCSON (Ariz.) Aug. 18. (Exclusive)—The almost even division of the University of Arizona regents in the fight affecting the tenure of President H. C. Marvin and of a number of members of the faculty has given rise to speculation concerning possible renewal of the row next year. In the meantime, the terms of two regents, Mrs. Theodora Marsh of Nogales and A. A. Johns of Prescott, strong supporters of Gov. Hunt will expire in January. Mr. Johns has not qualified as a member and was not called in the recent row that was ended by the Governor, who had the deciding vote and who sustained a compromise suggestion to retain both the president and the protesting faculty members. Successors to Mrs. Marsh and Mr. Johns will be appointed by the next Governor, who may not be Mr. Hunt. A second vacancy is possible, for Regent E. E. Ellinwood may be elected Governor. His term as regent lasts until January, 1929, as does that of Judge J. H. Campbell of Tucson, the one Republican member summarily deposed last year as chancellor of the board.

In the meantime, preparations are progressing toward renewal of scholastic work next month. A new college for post graduate work has been created with Dr. F. L. Ransome, geologist at its head. Last year, 133 students took advanced courses, in which thirty degrees were conferred. Already 920 applications for admission as freshmen have been received, with 16 per cent being rejected.

ARIZONA ESTABLISHES NOVEL FISH HATCHERY

PHOENIX, Aug. 18. (Exclusive)—With Federal approval and assistance, the State is establishing a novel fish hatchery in Papago Saguaro Park, a desert and hilly district seven miles east of Phoenix. By damming a ravine, twelve acres of lakes will be created, in which will be reared bass for the restocking of the streams and lakes of Central Arizona. Water will be obtained from the Salt River Valley Water Users' Association, through a power canal that flows through the park.

LINCOLN MANUSCRIPTS GIVEN TO GOVERNMENT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—Certain manuscripts and papers of Abraham Lincoln deposited with the library of Congress are given to the government by terms of the will of the son, Robert Todd Lincoln, filed yesterday for probate. The remainder of the son's estate, the value of which was not disclosed, is left to the widow, Mrs. Mary Lincoln.

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Aug. 18. (Exclusive)—Struck by a tree root weighing 100 pounds, Fred Peplow, 25 years of age, Vancouver, was killed as he was passing near the scene of blasting operations in Burnaby. H. Cowther, who was clearing a lot, using dynamite by police permission, was immediately arrested, charged with manslaughter and released on bail of $5000.

IRON INDUSTRY KEEPS UP PACE

August Buying Holding Even With July Rate

Production Average Running Ahead of 1925

CLEVELAND, Aug. 18.—Large requirements of steel are steadily renewing themselves from widely diversified channels, this situation keeping August closely in line with the unprecedented volume of business booked in June and July, the Iron Trade Review will say today. With the month half gone incoming orders show no appreciable difference over the very satisfactory July tonnage, and reports of increases by producers are not uncommon.

Because of the rounded-out spread of heavy consumption, expectations of producers for the remainder of the year have grown more confident. Farming-implement manufacturers are looking forward to a big year in 1927 and are shaping their buying of steel accordingly. Building work is going forward in a favorable way and structural-steel awards are ahead of the same period last year. Demands from the automotive industry are active, with some unusual August outputs being attained. Generous fall buying programs are reported in sight for railroads.

Heavier spot sheet buying is reported in the Chicago district.

NEW RECORD LOOMS

Consumption of tin plate promises to establish a new high record for the year. The largest producers' shipments to date are 15 per cent ahead of the same period in 1925. The plate mills are running 85 to 90 per cent. Tube makers have good back logs, and line pipe and oil country goods producers are operating 96 per cent of capacity. On some sizes lapwelded pipe deliveries run eight to ten weeks.

Recent increases have enabled the Pittsburgh district to overtake Chicago operations, which been consistently higher for weeks. The average of both territories is around 85 per cent, and the average for the whole industry is 80 to 85 per cent. In August, 1925, production averaged 74 per cent.

PRICES FIRMER

Primary material markets continue to respond to the heavy demands of works with price advances. Blast-furnace coke this week rose 25c to a minimum of $5.50, ovens. Steel companies are in the market for 60,000 tons monthly. Iron and steel scrap is moving up generally.

More definite reports are in circulation that an advance in wire products is in early prospect. Impetus has been given shee buying by the new basing methods and differentials to be announced around September 1. These all involve increases of 84 to 87 a ton on the lighter gauges.

Exceptionally heavy inquiry for the structural material is current, including two large bridges in New York territory. There are easily 100,000 tons pending. British iron and steel conditions look improved with more miners drifting back to work.

Tin firm. Spot and nearby, 65; of fourteen leading iron and steel products is unchanged at 697.61 for the fourth consecutive week.

CALIFORNIA FOLKS OBEY LAW BETTER

Total of Fines Paid for Violation of Ordinances Shows Decrease

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 18. (AP)—Californians are becoming better behaved, more observant of the city ordinances designed to regulate dancing after 1 a.m., the burning of rubbish before 9, the parking of automobiles between 8 and 6 and other chronological details of human conduct. Either that or the police judges are becoming tender hearted; for the fines and penalties paid into California city treasuries by all classes of offenders last year totaled only $2,851,980 as against $3,299,483 during the year previous.

The sudden decrease contrasts sharply with the precipitate rise in aggregate annual fines and penalties during the period 1920-24. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1920, the aggregate amount contributed by offenders was only $713,231. In four years the annual municipal income from this source was more than quadrupled; but last year, as the foregoing figures made public by State Controller Riley would indicate, Californians began spending less for broken ordinances.

LADY STRATHCONA DIES

Was Daughter of Formes High Commissioner for Canada

LONDON, Aug. 18. (AP)—Lady Strathcona of Mount Royal, daughter of the late Lord Strathcona, a former High Commissioner for Canada, died today in her seventy-third year.

Lady Strathcona was Mrs. Margaret C. Howard, receiving her title on the death of her father in London in 1914. Her father, Sir Donald Alexander Smith, later raised to the Baronetcy, played a prominent part in Canada for many years during the last century, becoming a member of Parliament in the Canadian House of Commons and later being appointed High Commissioner in Great Britain for the Dominion.

In 1922 Lady Strathcona gave £100,000 to Sir James McGrigor in an effort to save the banking firm of Sir Charles R. McGrigor, which was forced to close its doors. The London press said that Lady Strathcona tried to save the bank in memory of the friendship of Sir James's father for her own father when the latter was a Scottish emigrant to Canada, where he made his immense fortune.

LOCAL YARD TO REBUILD LINER

Work on President Arthur to Go to One of Two

Estimated Cost of Job Given as $1,000,000

New Craft of Honolulu Line to be Most Luxurious

Marked stimulation of the local shipbuilding industry was received in the announcement yesterday by the Los Angeles Steamship Company that one of the two port yards will be awarded the contract for rebuilding and conversion of the company's new Honolulu steamer President Arthur. The conversion job, starting in late September, is expected to reach a total in excess of $1,000,000.

The President Arthur, yesterday formally acquired by the local concern from the United States Shipping Board, is scheduled to sail from New York for Los Angeles Harbor next week, arriving here about September 15.

Officials of the Los Angeles Steamship Company announced yesterday that both the forward and after well decks of the President Arthur will be built over completely with passenger accommodations—flush with the ship's present promenade deck. The rebuilding plans for the vessel will approximately double her present cabin capacity, as well as improve her appearance.

The President Arthur will be reconditioned with the ultimate in luxury and comfort for the Los Angeles-Hawaii run in mind, it was said. Her propelling machinery, at present two-quadruple expansion steam engines of 8000 horsepower, will be completely overhauled here and she will be converted from coal to oil-burning.

The new Hawaii liner was originally the North German-Lloyd liner Kiautschou, being built in Stettin at the Vulcan works in 1899. She was later renamed the Princess Alice, of the North German Lloyd's Europe-South America fleet. At the outbreak of the World War she was interned at an Atlantic port, later being seized by the United States government and pressed into transport service as the U.S.S. Princess Matoika. She has an overall length of 523.6 feet, a beam of 60.1 feet, a depth of 34.8 feet and is 10,421 gross tons register.

It is further expected that either the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Drydock Corporation or the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation will build immediately for the Union Oil Company of California three steel oil barges, one self-propelled and costing approximately $250,000 and the other two of towing type.

NEW TUG ORDERED FOR WRIGLEY FLEET

Simultaneous with the commissioning of Wrigley's newest tug, the Milton R. Patrick, following her trial trip two days ago, comes announcement of another to be built immediately. Not only that, but Mr. Wrigley has announced a future policy of at least one additional new tug yearly, and "more if necessary."

Following the announcement, David P. Fleming, secretary-treasurer of the Wilmington Transportation Company instructed the William Mullin shipyards to order lumber for the new craft at once. It will be completed in eight or nine months. While the main type and power for the new craft haven't been finally decided, the Wrigley officials favor another tug similar to the David P. Fleming and the R. R. Hinton, completed at the same yards last year.

These tugs, each equipped with single 350-horse-power Winton full Diesels, are said to have proved ideal for local uses, and powerful enough for general purpose work. They have been observed by the two 750-horsepower towboats, John N. Stewart and Milton R. Patrick, just completed. The Milton R. Patrick, which went into service yesterday gives Wrigley a fleet of nine tugs.

Arabit club for bank officials and employees appears in the making, following Marco Hellman's application to transfer to A. B. Thompson and Milton E. Giles, his barber department boss at Wilmington, where he maintains a private yacht club.

The Harbor Board was advised yesterday of a new industry in the city of Norman Island when a right of way over public land was sought in title by the Bunting Company, owners of the little water-front strip. The right of way would run through the Shell company's lease. The Bunting also asked for a lease for storage purposes back of the Vegetable Oil dock in Wilmington. The applications were referred to Port Manager Speer, as was Nelson Steamship Company's application for the transfer of their lease from Berth 157 to Berths 159-160, now occupied by Struthers & Lunsey.

Controller Bert Edwards reported 7137 railway cars over Municipal Belt Lines in July, producing revenues totaling $7,140.13, compared to $7,183.52 for July last year.

Clyde Leach, attorney for the Harbor Commission, recommended a united protest against assessment of special rates granted by private railway companies to municipalities on rock, sand and gravel. The city saved $12,500 last year by the preferred rate, he declared.

The first power yacht to be constructed at the local yards of the Bethlehem shipyards, a sixty-five-foot 1400-horse cruiser, is rapidly shaping on the ways at Wilmington. It is similar in design to Harold Ramsden's Dursal, and is being built for Warren Smith, marine superintendent of Pan American Petroleum Corporation, and his father.

J. K. Bulger, supervising inspector of steam vessels of the First district, is down from San Francisco for a few days relieving Capt. R. E. Kennedy and E. E. Moody, local inspectors. The latter are on vacation.

Maximilliano Soto, son of a former president of Costa Rica, and a party of 25s, will board the Panama-Pacific liner Finland Monday for Panama, whence they will proceed to their homes. The latter is due from San Francisco Sunday and will call for Havana and New York the following day with more than 400 travelers and 1000 tons of California freight.

Ted Geary, Seattle yacht designer, was understood to have received word from here yesterday of Hole's Diesel yacht Samoa, for the regatta at San Francisco. Geary designed the craft three years ago.

The Dollar liner President Garfield is due from New York the 23rd inst. on the fifty-seventh trip of Dollar vessels in the around-the-world service. Every cabin was filled when she left New York the 5th inst., according to George Neal, local agent. Travelers from Washington, D. C., include Commander and Mrs. Lonlan F. Kimball and Miss E. B. Kimball, and Mrs. Agnes T. Clements, wife of Commander Woods of the U.S.S. Wood. D. A. Carne, a customs official of the Chinese government, is returning with Mrs. Carne to China after a European trip.

Paul Eubank, harbor banker, was appointed Wilmington Chamber of Commerce's representative to confer with other civic officials and the harbor department, on the revision of rentals of city harbor lands. Eubank succeeds Ben Newmeyer, with Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association; John T. Gaffey the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce.

Steadiness of Rails Again Features Irregular Stock Market

(Copyrighted, 1926, by New York Evening Post, Inc.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (Exclusive) Trading dropped off measurably in volume, but the irregular movement of prices was indicative of a rather mixed sentiment among professionals who still control the stock market. Industrial leaders were under more or less pressure of realizing and short selling during the day, with Steel, General Motors and a number of others recently prominent being forced back quite sharply at times. Strength in the rails was again in contrast with the irregularity prevailing elsewhere. The carriers as a group pushed forward smartly and demand for those shares was well distributed.

Steels as a group were easier despite the favorable comment of the weekly trade reviews and the motors were lower, influenced by the slackening of sales in July, as compared with June, by the leader of the group. Merchandising shares were generally easier, with the notable exception of Gotham Hosiery, which was a strong feature in late dealings, advancing to new high levels for the year. Sugars, of course, were unsettled by the cut in the dividend of one of the leading producers and specialties were decidedly mixed. Radio was a late feature and gains in Westinghouse Airbrake, Air Reduction and several others were offset by recessions in other directions.

Steel Under Heavy Pressure

Steel common again was the principal target of selling pressure during the day, despite the denial by Judge Gary that he had given an interview on the corporation's affairs as some were led to believe yesterday. Heavy realizing got under way with the opening and speculative selling was of proportions which forced the stock down sharply to levels at which it showed a setback of more than 7 points from the record high on Tuesday. At that point strong support was encountered and the stock developed good rallying powers in the afternoon. Professionals, working on the side of the decline, continued to concentrate their selling on Steel and other recent leaders like General Motors, Du Pont, American Smelters and United States Industrial Alcohol, but good resistance was shown by all of the abovementioned issues after early sharp setbacks.

Steel's Stock Dividend

In most quarters of the street there was little change in views regarding the prospect for a stock dividend by the big corporation. The opinion of the majority was that the situation with respect to more liberal treatment of stockholders remained precisely the same as outlined by the judge at the last annual meeting. Right along there has been a widespread divergence of opinion on just when the action would be taken. Prospects, however, are still regarded as favorable for some extra stock distribution early next year, if not before the end of the current year. So far as the market was concerned, the opinion seemed to be that the longer the action was delayed the better, as discussion of the topic always provides the best kind of bull ammunition.

Rails Continue Advance

The better grade rails responded readily to revival of brisk demand early in the day thought in the course of the session buying tapered off somewhat and slight recessions from them were the rule later. Bidding up of the carriers was influenced to considerable extent by the belief that the weekly statement on freight loadings due late in the day would provide a further bull argument on the group. The figures, it was believed, would show the previous record made just about a year ago approached, if not exceeded. New high records were established for Chesapeake and Ohio, St. Louis and San Francisco, Pere Marquette and Rock Island. The Northwestern shares again were well bought, and the dividend payers in general showed a strong tone.

Hupp Motor Changes Expected

Stockholders of the Hupp Motor Car Corporation are expected to be asked to ratify an increase in the authorized amount of capital stock to 2,000,000 shares from the total of 1,000,000 shares, as at present. Such authorization, it is believed, will be followed by action favorable to stockholders either in the form of a 10 per cent stock dividend or through an offering of additional shares at an attractive price below current market values. The board is understood to be revising that section of the charter covering the issuance of preferred stock. At present there is no preferred stock outstanding, the last of the issue held by the public having been retired back in 1924. The proposed charter revision it is believed is being undertaken to eliminate the preferred stock from the company's books of record. A small cash extra is also regarded as likely later in the year.

Cuban-American Sugar Cuts Rate

Announcement that the board of Cuban-American Sugar Company had cut the quarterly dividend on the common stock of that company to 25c a share from the 50c rate previously maintained brought a fresh selling movement in the sugar stocks generally. The action of the Cuban-American board was looked upon as rather surprising in view of the optimistic remarks of the chairman of the company recently relative to the outlook for the industry. The reduction in the dividend was followed by heavy offerings of the stock which forced it down to new low levels for the year at the bottom of a sharp decline. Other sugars were lower in sympathy, with the exception of American Sugar Refining which maintained a firm front despite the weakness elsewhere.

Oils Ignore Crude Gains

Rather complete dearth of interest toward the oils was evident from the fact that those shares as a group stood up fairly well in face of the further sharp jump down in crude-oil production in the weekly statistics. The American Petroleum Institute figures revealed another increase of 20,800 barrels on top of a somewhat larger gain in the previous week. What was more significant to many who have been disposed to steer clear of the oils was the fact that crude-oil production currently is running almost 45,000 barrels a day above the corresponding period a year ago. This tremendous gain in production was hardly to be accepted as a bull argument notwithstanding that consumption is running at record figures. Oils as a group moved within a narrow range and dealings in that quarter of the list were light.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (Exclusive)—The cotton market advanced again today, recovering more of the decline in the late setback of yesterday on more undesired rains in many sections of the cotton belt. They were heavy in parts of Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas. There was also showery weather in some sections of the East Gulf and Atlantic States.

The map looked favorable today for more showery weather tonight and tomorrow for most sections of the eastern half of the belt, Oklahoma and Arkansas, but only partly cloudy for Texas.

Present conditions are causing many in the trade to believe there will be a great spread of boll weevil damage. The record-breaking acreage of 49,000,000 planted leaves so much leeway for crop damage and abandoned acreage that the majority of the trade are still skeptical of the crop being cut down sufficiently for sustained bullish activity, considering the big carryover.

Covering of shorts and new trade buying sent prices up 20 to 25 points from yesterday's closing on the average in the forenoon. October and December went to 16.09c, January 17.50c; March 17.25 and May 17.3-8c. Profit taking by local longs and continued Southern selling of a hedging character proved to discouraging for sustained bullish activity, prices falling back later about 10 points from the top.

Strength of the Liverpool markets is chiefly due to the better feeling, especially at Manchester, of improved trade conditions and increased spinning operations with the end of the British coal miner's strike now in sight. Futures there closed firm at a net advance of 6 to 3 points from yesterday's closing prices against the decline of 4 to 9 they should have held to have met our closing slump of yesterday.

GUIDING INSURANCE BUYERS

BY GRIFFIN M. LOVELACE
Professor of Insurance, New York University

(This is one of a series of articles appearing in The Times three times a week dealing with all phases of insurance.)

LIX—HOW MUCH WILL YOUR PRESENT INSURANCE BE WORTH TO YOU?

If you are 30, 40 or 50 years old, you may have several life insurance policies. It is not unlikely that you first purchased a $1000 twenty-year endowment policy when you were 18 to 22 years old, "as a savings policy." A little later, at the urgent solicitation of the representative of another company, you may have acquired a twenty-payment policy for $3000.

Not long afterward you married and life insurance became much more significant to you than it had ever been before. Still you didn't call up any of the agents you knew and urge them to come quickly and take your application for all the life insurance you could buy; although as soon as you bought a house you telephoned to a fire-agent friend and asked him to be sure to cover your new house at once with plenty of fire insurance.

It didn't occur to you that your house might never burn, that it might grow old and decay and fall apart 200 years after your death; that the majority of houses never have a serious fire. The mere possibility of your house being destroyed by fire was enough to convince you that fire insurance should be secured without delay, and you wisely acted accordingly.

Finally, however, you were sought out by a life underwriter who had read in the paper an account of your marriage to Miss Doe, with fascinating details—the names of the bridesmaids and best man, the ushers, the matron of honor, the flower girls, your plans for a honeymoon trip and the date on which you would be at home in your new house.

EARLY DEATH POSSIBLE

And this underwriter reminded you of what you knew as well as he did, viz., that life insurance doesn't raise a question as to whether you will ever die, but merely as to when you will die. And he reminded you of what you knew quite as well as he—that you might die soon.

Of course, you might live to be 100, but thousands of young married men do die. That's why there are so many attractive young widows.

So you and he together considered the fact that, if you did die soon, your wife would need money just as much as she needed it while you lived, and you arranged to guarantee the delivery to her of an income of $100 a month every month as long as she lived; and you liked this policy very much, except when you received a premium notice.

Then, as you looked at this reminder of a premium of $550 due within a few weeks and wondered where you were going to find the money, your imagination flashed a "fade-in" of your young wife upon the slip of paper in your hand and you didn't care how much the premium was or how hard it might be to get the money; you knew you'd get it, even if you had to rob the United States Treasury.

A year or two later your first baby came. How different things seemed. As you looked down upon your first-born—your son—your baby girl—you felt as if you were in the midst of a miracle. The world beyond seemed to have enveloped you and your wife and all of your mundane surroundings.

If you ever felt tender and full of awe, if the religious emotion ever quickened your pulse, it was then; so that it was not strange that you added more life insurance to your estate when your agent called to see you the day after he heard the news.

From time to time a repetition of this great miracle came into your life, and gradually you added more and more insurance, more for family income, additional policies for the education of the three or four little branches of your family tree, a special policy to cover your outstanding obligations, etc.

Now, you may be 50 years old, with the following list of insurance holdings:

TENTATIVE POLICY LIST

$ 1,000 of 20-year endowment issued at age 19
$ 3,000 of 20-pay life issued at age 23
$ 100 a month life income issued at age 29
$ 100 a month life income issued at age 32
$ 100 a month for 10 years issued at age 35
$10,000 ordinary life issued at age 39
$12,000 ordinary life (in trust) issued at age 40

As you look over your life insurance program, it gives you great satisfaction, for, if you die prematurely, your policies will pay $14,000 in cash, then $300 a month for ten years, then $200 a month as long as your wife and the $12,000 will provide over $1000 a year for four years to each of your three children, after matriculation in college. Really wonderful, you think; and indeed it is.

But the thought may come to you, "I'm feeling sound and full of pep. Suppose I live to age 65 and need money to retire on, how much would all this insurance pay me?" I'll tell you approximately. Your twenty-year endowment has already matured, and I assume you still have the money, and will keep it invested to age 65; this is $1000. Your $3000 twenty-payment life will have an equity of about $2100. Your $22,000 of ordinary life will have a value of about $11,000. The $100 a month for ten years will be worth about $5000 and the policies paying $200 a month for your wife's lifetime will give you about $18,000.

The total cash value of all your insurance holdings at age 65, on the basis of the above list of policies, will be about $37,000. The figures are not exact, for I have given them to you approximately from memory. But they are within a few hundred dollars of the exact amount, plus or minus.

Probably you will not desire to convert all your insurance into cash at age 65, but you may do so if you find it necessary. Already you have received full value for your premiums in satisfaction, peace of mind, freedom from worry.

But you have only begun to realize on your life insurance investment. Other big returns are yet to be received.

It is quite probable that the contracts may all mature by your death; in which case you will face the great adventure with calm, for you will have no regrets over things left undone for those who placed their trust in you. Better yet, you may reach age 65, still playing around your golf course in 90 and feeling high-proof; in this event, your policies may make possible many years of happiness and contentment for you.

A First Mortgage Bond In America's Fourth City

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA investors, seeking sound geographical diversification for their holdings, will find GREAT LAKES TERMINAL WAREHOUSE COMPANY First Mortgage 5½% Sinking Fund Bonds, due 1941, an ideal investment.

These bonds are secured by first closed mortgage on land and eight-story fireproof dry and cold storage warehouse, owned in fee, located at Detroit, Michigan. The value of the security is appraised at $3,740,000, making this less than a 47% first mortgage loan.

Detroit is one of the fastest growing cities in America, and a careful survey shows an urgent need for additional warehouse facilities of this character. Net earnings are independently estimated at practically FOUR TIMES maximum annual interest requirements.

In the opinion of counsel, these bonds will be legal for Savings Banks in Michigan upon completion of the building.

If I could look into the bank books of our employees, I would know who would be carrying on the business in the future. A regularly growing savings fund is the best proof of ambition, self-control and sound business ability of which I know.
—MARSHALL FIELD

Men who have won their place in the business world hold the savings account in high esteem. Many of them claim that such an account was the foundation of their success. All of them agree that the habit of thrift is an essential of real success. By saving at least a tenth of your income regularly you are following in the footsteps of men who have achieved.

BUSINESS PHILOSOPHY

BY WILLIAM FEATHER

MOST of us hate a new idea, or a new custom.

Air brakes were installed on trains only after the inventor had been called a "lunatic" when he first suggested the plan to a railroad president.

William Harvey, who discovered the circulation of blood, enjoyed a lucrative practice before he was called "crack-brained" and trade fell off.

Napoleon refused to consider Fulton's steamboat, and later when the first steamboat did cross the ocean, as a result of Fulton's invention, it carried aboard an essay proving the impossibility of the undertaking.

Go easy in challenging a new idea, a new invention, or a new discovery.

Fifty years from now our children will be erecting monuments to the "crazy" men of today.

BOND QUOTATIONS

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (AP)—Buying of semispeculative railroad liens and a few selected industrial issues failed to bolster up the bond market today, and prices generally sagged to lower levels. Trading was extremely dull, duplicating the performances of the past few days.

The broader demand for rail bonds was linked up with the exhibition of strength given by leading carrier stocks. Chesapeake and Ohio convertible 5s jumped 4 points to 151, following the stock into new high ground, on buying inspired by reports that negotiations were under way for a settlement of the differences between minority stockholders and the Van Sweringen interests over the revised Nickel Plate merger terms. Nickel Plate issues also were strong and substantial gains were recorded by International Great Northern adjustment 6s and Delaware and Hudson 5 1-2s. Those advances were partically offset by the heaviness of Illinois Central 6 1-2s and Norfolk Southern refunding 5s.

Oils gave the best demonstration of group strength in the industrial list, being aided by the better demand for petroleum stocks. Shelly 6 1-2 sold at 143, within 5 points of their high record, while General Asphalt 6s climbed to a new top at 107. Virginia-Carolina Chemical 7s also reached a new high level.

Reduction of the Cuban-American Sugar common dividend caused some liquidation of producing company securities, but Warner Sugar Refining issues quickly recovered from their latest slump. Losses of a point or so were registered by Remington Arms 6s, Republic Iron and Steel 5 1-2s, Brier Hill Steel 5 1-2s and Continental Paper Bag 6 1-2s.

Trading in United States and foreign government obligations was featureless. Preparations were reported under way for an early offering of $8,000,000 German consolidated municipalities bonds, supplementing the original $15,000,000 loan arranged here earlier in the year.

The bonds, maturing in twenty-one years, and bearing a 7 per cent interest rate will be priced at 98 to yield about 7.20 per cent. The offering will be made through a syndicate, headed by Harris, Forbes & Co., and Lee Higginson & Co.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in the order given. To expedite transmission, close is omitted when same as low, and both low and close when same as high.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (AP)—Confused price movements characterized today's curb market. Because of the uncertainty over the money market, and fears that several prospective dividend distributions might be delayed until after the end of the year, there was a rather widespread tendency to lighten commitments by taking profits whenever possible.

Oil shares held fairly steady, in view of the weekly report of the American Petroleum Institute, showing another large increase in the daily average of gross crude oil production last week. Wall street heard that negotiations were in progress to unite the recently organized Tidewater Associated Company with some other large concern, but the stocks made no response to these reports. Active high-grade petroleum issues showed little change on the day.

The new Dupont stock was admitted to trading on a "when-issued" basis, selling between 151½ and 152. General Motors (new stock) closed fractionally higher at 137 7-8, after fluctuating between 135 1-4 and 136½, most of the trading representing arbitrage transactions against those on the "big board." Stutz closed more than a point higher, but the other motors were practically unchanged.

Special buying continued in a selected list of industrials and public utilities. Freshman Radio was bid up over 2 points a new peak at 29 1-8, and American Hardware, American Public Utilities, preferred, Associated Gas and Electric "A," Blaw-Knox and Cities Service also attained new top prices, while Lehigh Valley coal sales duplicated the year's high. A sharp break from 47 to 18 cents in National Tin, which rallied to 38 cents at the close, featured the trading in mining shares.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

IRREGULAR TONE ON STOCK MART

was mixed in character. The weekly steel trade reviews reported that mill operations were being continued at a high rate with an appreciable falling off in new business, although attention was called to the growing imports of foreign steel products.

The weekly report of the American Petroleum Institute showed another large increase in the daily average of gross crude oil production last week. The Cuban-American Sugar Company cut its quarterly dividend from 50 to 25 cents.

STEEL BREAKS

Heavy liquidation was again apparent in United States Steel common, presumably in further reflection of unofficial intimations that no stock dividend would be declared this year. The stock broke more than 7 points below the high record established yesterday to 152½, but later rallied to 154 3-4, off 1 3-8 net. General Motors, which has shared the leadership of recent markets with steel, sold as low as 201 1-4, but closed at 205 3-4, for a net gain of 1 1-4 points.

Mack trucks was one of the outstanding industrial strong spots, closing 5 points higher at 134. Pierce-Arrow preferred jumped 7½ points to a new record price at 126 and the common closed 2½ points higher at 32. With early fall business coming up to expectations, good buying also developed in several of the other motors and accessories, particularly American Bosch Magneto, Electric Storage Battery, Hudson, Dodge Brothers "A" and White.

EQUIPMENTS UP

The announcement of several large orders for railroad equipment brought fresh buying into that group, with special strength being shown by Air Reduction, General Railway Signal and Westinghouse Air Brake.

Cuban American Sugar touched a new low for the year at 21 5-8. National Tea broke 12½ points to 144 on a couple of sales.

Buying of the rails was stimulated by the publication of a report of the bureau of railway economics showing that earnings and traffic o. Class 1 roads broke all records in the first six months of the year, and by unconfirmed reports that the Van Sweringens were attempting to come to terms with minority stockholders before resubmitting their revised "Rock-el Plate" plan. Union Pacific touched 150½, the highest price since 1914, and Chesapeake & Ohio, Rock Island and Pere Marquette attained their highest prices in a year or longer.

Wheat Market Scores Gain on Better Buying

CHICAGO, Aug. 18. (Exclusive)—Buying of wheat futures was of a better class than the selling, and while there was a decline of around ¾ cent early on local selling, the offerings passed into the hands of foreigners, cash interests and exporters, and an upturn of 1⅝@1⅞ cents from the low point followed, with close within a fraction of the top with net gains of ⅝@1¼ cents; with September 124¾@1.25⅝; December, 1.20⅝@1.20⅞, and May, 1.44⅜@1.44¾. Corn gained ⅜@⅝ cent with September 80½@80⅝; December, 85¼@85⅝, and May 91¾. Oats were ⅝@⅞ cent higher with September .29¼@29⅝, and December 43@43¼, while rye was ⅜@1 cent higher with September 98 and December 1.02¾.

The rally in wheat was not entirely a surprise, in view of the strong technical position of the market. There was free buying at times headed by some of the houses that were on the selling side the previous day, and as soon as the pressure let up an oversold condition was disclosed, and shorts had to bid up to cover.

Buying of wheat futures credited to export account in the face of continued reports of an absolute lack of foreign demand at the seaboard, attracted considerable attention. Northwestern markets, which were independently weak on Tuesday, reversed their action and led the advance. Minneapolis gaining 1⅝@2¼ cents, while Winnipeg was up 1⅞ cents. Export sales at the seaboard were finally estimated at 300,000 to 400,000 bushels, with a scarcity of offers at the Gulf a factor in restricting business. Short covering was in evidence in the Northwest.

Buying on resting orders and short covering absorbed the offerings of corn, and, while prices were lower early, the finish was firm. Further rains were reported over the corn belt, and in some sections the rainfall of late has been excessive, and a period of dry and hot weather would be beneficial. Government weekly weather and crop report was construed as moderately favorable. Domestic shipping demand continues slow with the spot basis unchanged to 1 cent higher.

Scattered liquidation was on in oats early, but buying by commission houses absorbed the offerings and, with other grains firmer, a rally was easily attained. Cash interests bought September and sold December. Dry weather is wanted over a good part of the belt. Trade in rye was limited, but the undertone was firmer in sympathy with wheat. Nothing was heard regarding export business.

Timothy seed, $4.50@5.75; clover, 23.50@32.00 per 100 pounds. Flax seed, 2.49 per bushel.

Higher prices for hogs, with disappointingly light arrivals here and at the eleven markets, had a strengthening effect on lard, and meat prices. Shorts were the best buyers and values advanced and closed at the highest of the day with lard up 10 cents, short ribs, 12½@15, and bellies 7½@10 cents higher for the day. Lard in Liverpool was 6d higher. Cash trade in meats was good and in lard fair. Export clearances of lard were only 5000 pounds.

OIL NEWS
BY EDWARD C. KEGLEY
In the heart of the Seal Beach oil district of the California pool, which for half a decade, has been definitely settled by the Marco No. 2, the possibility of oil being found between the Huntington Beach field, is causing to attract some attention. Southern California oil men will be watching with keen interest the theory in the near future, as will probably by one of the large companies—the Maryland Oil Company, the Shell company, the Standard Oil Company, or the General Petroleum Corporation.
Each of these four companies has leases totaling several hundred acres, which comprise most of the available land in the district between Seal Beach about three miles to the west. The Maryland Oil Company has a lease of some 700 acres, the Standard Oil Company has about 500 acres, and General Petroleum has about 1000 acres. In addition to these holdings, the Seal Beach Country Club is the center of the general neighborhood, which has been offered to the large operators in recent years.
Each of these companies is within a few miles of the way from the western boundary of the Huntington Beach district, and to the eastern limits of the Seal Beach field. In the absence of definite information, geologists figure that they may be almost anywhere in the area between these two fields, if they are present at all.
The Shell Oil Company, having completed its last wildcat operation, may very well decide to test the area in question, or rather the area between Seal Beach. The Maryland Oil Company is also expected to start at least one wildcat well in the near future, and may continuously operate California, and purchased about 300 barrels a day.
Gallagher Well In
The Gallagher No. 1 well in the northwest extension of the Signal Hill field went on production it was reported yesterday, with an initial output of about 350 barrels a day. The well is down about 4775 feet, in the McKeon zone. It is located near the intersection of Linden avenue and Wardlow Road.

year by City Trustees at a recent meeting of the city governing body, according to reports.

Gets Shallow Well
The Standard Oil Company yesterday reported its first completion in the Wheeler Ridge field in several months. The new producer is the Kern County No. 2-25 well, which came in at a depth of 2375 feet, making 120 barrels a day of 22.7 deg. gravity oil.
The Standard is pursuing a policy of leisurely development in the Wheeler Ridge field, which it practically monopolizes. Efforts of other operators to get production in the district have met with little success, although the California Petroleum Corporation, the General Petroleum Corporation and W. G. McAdoo have tried it.

CAPTAIN SCRAGGS by Peter B. Kyne

OUR STORY:

Three Musketeers of the Sea there are: Each as strange a character as the other; each subject to the same impulses and emotions; each as stubborn, cranky, impulsive and loyal as the others—meet them:

CAPT. PHINEAS P. SCRAGGS, suffered, muscle-clothed and furtive, master-owner of the steamer "Magrie," and a freighter of vegetables to San Francisco Bay;

ADELBERT F. GIBNEY, a large, imposing, capable, but socially indifferent person of a somewhat adventurous experience, who is cursed with too much brains and imagination and a thirst. He holds a license as chief mate of steam, any ocean or tonnage, and is chief mate of the Magrie.

BARTHOLOMEW McGUFFEY is a good engineer gone wrong. He nurses the ancient junk in the Magrie's engineroom with loving care, and is a fit mate for the other two.

Gibney has wandered into an auction sale of unclaimed freight and has become interested in two long sugar-pine boxes addressed to an unknown Chinaman.

Mr. Gibney stopped ov the crates at the auction sale and pretended to be exceedingly interested in them, hauling and pushing them about and reading the address of the consignee who had failed to call for his goods. The crates were both consigned to the Gin Seng Company, 714 Dupont street, San Francisco. There were several Chinese characters scrawled on the top of each crate, together with the words, in English: "Oriental Goods."

As he cease dfrom his fake inspection of the two boxes, the King of the Forty Thieves approached and surveyed the sailor with an even greater amount of distrust and suspicion than ever. Mr. Gibney was annoyed. He disliked being stared at, so he said:

"Hello, Blumenthal, my bully boy. What's aggravatin' you?"

Blumenthal (since Mr. Gibney, in the sheer riot of his imagination elected to christen him Blumenthal, the name will probably suit him as well as any other) came close to Mr. Gibney and drew him aside. In a hoarse whisper he desired to know if Mr. Gibney attended the auction with the expectation of bidding on any of the packages offered for sale.

Seeking to justify his presence, Mr. Gibney advised that it was his intention to bid in everything in sight; whereupon Blumenthal proceeded to explain to Mr. Gibney how impossible it would be for him, arrayed against the Forty Thieves, to buy any article at a reasonable price.

Further: Blumenthal desired to inform Mr. Gibney that his (Mr. Gibney's) efforts to buy in the "old horses" would merely result in his running the prices up for no beneficent purpose, since it was ever the practice of the Forty Thieves to permit no man to outbid them. Perhaps Mr. Gibney would be satisfied with a fair day's profit without troubling himself to hamper the Forty Thieves and interfere with their combination, and with the words, the king surreptitiously slipped Mr. Gibney a $50 greenback.

Mr. Gibney's great fist closed over the treasure, he having first, by a coy glance, satisfied himself that it was really fifty dollars. He shook hands with the king. He said:

"Blumenthal, you're a smart man. I am quite content with this fifty to keep off your course and give you a wide berth to starboard. I'm sensible enough to know when I'm licked, an' a fight without a profit ain't my line. I didn't make this money that way, Blumenthal. I'll cast off my lines and haul away from the dock," and suiting the action to the figure, Mr. Gibney departed.

He went first to the Seabord Drug Store, where he quizzed the druggist for five minutes, after which he continued his cruise. Upon reaching Maggie, he proceeded to relate in detail, and with many additional details supplied by his own imagination, the story of his morning's adventure.

"Oib," said McGuffy enviously, "you're a fool for luck."

"Luck," said Mr. Gibney, beginning to expand, "is what the feller calls a relative proposition——"

"You're wrong, Gib," interposed Capt. Scraggs. "Relatives is unlucky an' expensive. Take fr instance, Mrs. Scraggs's mother——"

"I mean, you funkhead," said Mr. Gibney, "that luck is foun' where brains grow. No brains, no luck. No luck, no brains. Leme illustrate. A thievin' land shark makes me a presen o' fifty dollars not to butt in on them two boxes I'm tellin' you about. Him an' his gang wants them two boxes.

"Fair crazy to get 'em. Now don't it stand to reaso that them fellers knows what's in them boxes, or they wouldn't give me fifty dollars to haul ship? Of course, I got to back 'water. It wouldn't be playin' fair if I didn't.

"But that don't prevent me from puttin' two dear friends o' mine (here Mr. Gibney encircled Scraggs and McGuffey with an arm each) next to the secret whic's I discover, an' if there's money in it for old Hocky that buys me off, it stands to reason that there's money in it for us three.

"What's to prevent you an' McGuffey from goin' up to this old horse sale an' biddin' i them two boxes for the use and benefit of Gibney, Scraggs, an' McGuffey, all share an' share alike? You can bid as high as a hundred dollars if necessary and still come out a thousand dollars to the good. I'm tellin' you this because I know what's in them two boxes."

McGuffey was staring fascinated at Mr. Gibney. Capt. Scraggs clutched his mate's arm in a frenzied clasp.

"What? they both interrogated.

"You two boys," continued Mr. Gibney with aggravating deliberation, "ain't what nobody would call dummies. You're s mart men. But the trouble with both o' you boys is you ain't got no imagination. Without imagination nobody gets nowhere, unless it's out th' small end o' th' horn.

"Maybe you boys ain't noticed it, but my imagination is all that keeps me from goin' to jail. Now, if you two had read the address on them two boxes, it wouldn't 'a' meant nothin' to you. Absolutely nothin'. But with me it's different. I'm blessed with imagination enough to see right through them Chinamen tricks. Them two boxes is marked "Oriental Goods" an' consigned (here Mr. Gibney raised a grimy forefinger, and Scraggs and McGuffey eyed it very much as if they expected it to go off at any moment)—"them two boxes is consigned to the Gin Seng Company, 714 Dupont street, San Francisco."

"Well, that's up in Chinatown all right," admitted Capt. Scraggs, "but how about what's inside the two crates?"

"Oriental goods, of course," said McGuffey. "They're consigned to a Chinaman, an' besides, that's what it says on the cases, don't it, Gib? Oriental goods, Scraggs, is silks an' satins, rice, chop suey, punk, an' idols an' fan-tan layouts."

Mr. Gibney tapped gently with his horny knuckles on the honest McGuffey's head.

"If there ain't Swiss cheese movements in that head block o' yours, Mac, you an' Scraggy can divide my share o' these two boxes o' ginseng root between you. Do you get it, you chuckleheaded son of an Irish potato? Gin Seng, 714 Dupont street. Ginseng—a root or a herb that medicine is made out of. The dictionary says it's a Chinese panacea for exhaustion, an' I happen to know that it's worth $5 a pound an' that them two crates weighs 150 pounds each if they weighs an ounce."

His auditors stared at Mr. Gibney much as might a pair of baseball fans at the hero of a home run with two strikes and the bases full.

"Gawd!" muttered McGuffey.

"Great grief, Gib! Can this be possible?" gasped Capt. Scraggs.

For answer, Mr. Gibney took out his $50 bill and handed it to—to McGuffey. He never trusted Capt. Scraggs with anything more valuable than a pipeful of tobacco.

"Scraggsy," he said solemnly, "I'm willin' to back my imagination with my cash. You an' McGuffey hurry right over to the warehouse an' butt in on the sale when they come to them two boxes. The sale is just about startin' now.

"Go as high as you think you can in order to get the ginseng at a profitable figger, an' pay the auctioneer $50 down to hold the sale, that will give you boys time to rush around to dig up the balance o' the money.

"Tack right along now, lads, while I go down the street an' get me some breakfast. I don't want Blumenthal to see me around that sale. He might get suspicious. After I eat I'll meet you here aboard th' Maggie, an' we'll divide the loot."

With a fervent hand-shake all around, the three ship-mates parted.

After disposing of a hearty breakfast of devilled lamb's kidneys and coffee, Mr. Gibney invested in a 10-cent Sailor's Delight and strolled down to the Maggie. Neils Halverson, the lone deckhand, was aboard, and the moment Mr. Gibney trod the Maggie's deck once more as mate, he exercised his prerogative to order Neils ashore for the remainder of the day.

Since Halvorsen was not in on the ginseng deal, Mr. Gibney concluded that it would be just as well to have him out of the way should Scraggs and McGuffey appear unexpectedly with the two cases of ginseng.

Another installment of this rollicking tale of the Three Musketeers of the Sea will appear in tomorrow's Times. Watch for it.

LARGE FEE PAID WILL ROGERS

American Humorist in London Radio Talk Cites Own "Greatness"

LONDON, Aug. 18. (AP)—Will Rogers, the American comedian, broadcasting for the largest fee ever paid to a radio talker in this country—the check going to a hospital charity at Rogers's request—told England that he was now greater than George Bernard Shaw. He based this conclusion on the fact that G. B.S. had been barred from broadcasting on his seventieth birthday, while he was permitted to broadcast without anything to celebrate.

"England made a great mistake," he said, "in not complimenting George Bernard on his birthday. Germany did—but then, Germany does not have to live with him.

American Envoy Gets Benefit of Prayer for Rain

TOKIO, Aug. 18. (Exclusive)—The Secretary of the American Embassy was motoring through the village of Hachioji, near Tokio, Sunday and was suddenly drenched with water by a crowd before a wayside shrine. Believing an insult was intended, the Secretary reported the incident to the foreign office.

An investigation reveals that the crowd was performing a ceremony, praying for rain, this ceremony including throwing water on the first passer by. Hachioki officials were much chagrined upon learning the identity of the person drenched and apologized.

Norge Arrives at Seattle in Steamer's Hold

SEATTLE, Aug. 18. (AP)—Stowed in the hold of the freighter Tanana among 50,000 cases of canned salmon, the dismantled transpolar dirigible Norge arrived here today from Teller, Alaska, en route to Rome.

The Norge landed at Teller May 13 after carrying Capt. Roald Amundsen and fifteen others across the North Pole from Europe to Alaska. The dirigible is not to be unloaded for several days, as much of the salmon is on top of it.

WORKERS IN BERLIN BREWERIES TO STRIKE

BERLIN, Aug. 18. (Exclusive)—Berlin was threatened with a prohibition-like drought after workmen in the breweries decided to strike for an increase of 61 a week in their wages. The employers said they could not pay it, because the recent bad weather had hit the beer trade and there was a slump in the consumption of the liquid. The date when the strike will begin is to be decided today.

FEDERAL BUS RULE FOUGHT

Hearing Develops Opposition to National Control

Witnesses Assert California Competent Regulator

Breach of Motor Traffic in State Brought Out

Various phases of opposition to federal regulation of motor trucks engaged in interstate commerce were disclosed here yesterday as hearings being conducted by Commissioner Flynn of the Interstate Commerce Commission, who is gathering information preparatory to recommending Congressional legislation governing the motor-transportation industry, protest against any form of federal jurisdiction was voiced by witnesses. Others supported general laws delegating regulatory powers to the State commissions governing interstate commerce. The testimony was in conflict on the views of motor-carrier witnesses who testified Tuesday that control by a federal agency should be established over intrastate business.

IMPORTANCE SHOWN

The remarkable growth of the motor transportation industry and its importance to communities was outlined in testimony of witness after witness told of the magnitude of truck and bus operations and their importance in developing many outlying communities, thereby giving Los Angeles business men a wider field for their activities.

Further testimony regarding regulation and the importance of the industry in California will be given today when thirty shippers and fifteen truck operators engaged in a contract hauling will testify.

OPPOSES BODY

Opposition that regulation should be left only in the hands of the States was voiced by W. W. Atkins, representing the Santa Fe Van Lines, handling household goods and freight on long hauls between Sacramento, Los Angeles, San Francisco and San Diego, and that he believes a Federal regulatory body with headquarters in Washington could not comprehend fully the problems of the various States. Washington is too far away, he said, to give such a body access to information concerning the special needs of California. Opposition to interstate regulation by a federal agency as against both intrastate regulation solely under the jurisdiction of the various State regulatory bodies was expressed by W. E. Travis president of the California Transit Company, a corporation operating principally in Southern California districts.

Opposition to Federal legislation, declaring that the States, have should delegate authority to State boards to control all new controlling intrastate business. This was the first dissenting voice to a motor-carrier operator to the general consensus that all business should be under the jurisdiction of a Federal board.

LOWER FARES

Decisions of these boards can be in closer touch with conditions peculiar to every industry and therefore will use their powers to better advantage than a Federal commission, declared Mr. Travis gave for his opinion that, under State control of both interstate transportation, the public not only would get better protection, but that service adaptable to the needs of various parts of the country.

The popularity of stages in California is due to the more active service they render and the fact that bus rates are generally lower than railroad fares, but that they have made inroads on railroad passenger business.

Concluding his testimony that a statement issued by Earl A. Baggerly for the California Transportation Association against the fact that the California Railroad Commission has no evidence at hand to examine the witnesses in Washington to ascertain statistical data, Examiner Flynn deemed further examination unnecessary and told the attorney to desist. He explained that the purpose of the hearing was to fortify the testimony being unjustly torn to shreds at a later date when no opportunity for explanations will be afforded.

ADMISSION FREE TO ALL!

Hiram Johnson, senior United States Senator from California, exercising his rights as a citizen and seeking to further his personal political ambitions in this State, speaks in Philharmonic Auditorium tonight in advocacy of the candidacy of C. C. Young for Governor and Robert M. Clarke for Senator.

All who can spare the time to hear Senator Johnson should do so. He has a marvelous capacity for invective, for picturesque abuse, for denunciation that borders on hysteria and for working himself into a passion. His speeches reduced to cold type are disappointingly thin and frequently nothing more than mere boasting and braggadocio; it is as the man of wrath, consumed with rage, shaking with defiance and inspired by a peculiarly concentrated hate that the Senator is at his best.

As an example, taken at random, the following stenographic report of a portion of the Senator's speech in Oakland on August 6, strikingly supplies proof of the disappointing character of Mr. Johnson's contribution to the printed word:

"I am here speaking for myself alone. I neither suggest nor indicate nor mention the ideas of any one else in this campaign whatever—nothing do I ask—I ask nothing of any man who runs for office in this primary, or in the ensuing election; I want nothing from them, or any other man who is on the footstool of God today. I ask nothing of them, or of anybody else. I am responsible for what I say here tonight, and I alone am responsible for what I say. I seek to bind no man to my words. I am merely exercising what is justly my right."

Now, the foregoing jumble of ideas, uttered in a belligerent voice and emphasized by the gestures, grimaces, contortions and clenched fists usually featuring the Senator's remarks, may have sounded intelligible and even inspired. But Mr. Johnson should be heard in person, if possible, not alone because of the natural curiosity that draws many hundreds to his meetings, but by reason of the opportunity thus afforded to judge at first hand the man himself, his motives, his degree of sincerity.

Those who see and hear Senator Johnson tonight will see and hear a bitter personal foe of Gov. Richardson, a snarling enemy of Senator Shortridge, an envious, sneering traducer of President Coolidge and a vindictive opponent of the Coolidge administration and policies.

Mr. Johnson comes, as he himself asserts, in his individual capacity. He comes, so-called and self-proclaimed Republican, attacking a Republican colleague in the United States Senate and hurling venom upon the Republican Governor of California.

He seeks the election of a United States Senator who has become political clay in his hands and who has been molded into a mere sounding board for Senator Johnson's animosity toward the policies of President Coolidge. He seeks the election of a Governor selected by him, managed by him and controlled by him.

The favorite theme of Senator Johnson is a recital of the accomplishments he credits to himself in connection with political events in California more than a decade ago. An abject failure at Washington, he makes noisy reference to his "service" there, and asks the Republicans of California to send another such as he to the national capital, to be shunned by Republicans and laughed at by Democrats.

A man of infinite ego, he cannot contemplate criticism of himself, but must ascribe to those who refuse him adulation all of the venalities and vices which a venomous tongue can describe.

Senator Johnson has dramatized himself for himself, and can pose and perform for his own entertainment and admiration. In reality timid, pessimistic, uncertain (as he has himself confessed and as his friends well know,) he seeks a role of bellicosity and aggressiveness. He is a remarkable man.

He is an enemy of the well-being of the people of California, both at home and in the nation. He would like to damage the prestige of President Coolidge throughout the country by having it said that, although defeated by Coolidge in 1924, he has routed the Coolidge Republicans in 1926 and made California hostile territrory for the national administration.

He would like to eliminate Gov. Richardson and reestablish his own personal political machine in Sacramento. Senator Johnson knows that by such achievements alone can he be assured of his own re-election two years hence.

But to give him such credit as is due him, it should be said of Mr. Johnson in all fairness that his extraordinary capacity for hating, his unhappy penchant for envious animosity, undoubtedly are at this moment of greater inspiration than any distinct and deliberate plan for the future.

With the independent Richardson out of the way and the complaisant Young elevated to a place of authority; with Shortridge ousted and the wavering Clarke conveyed to the Senate to follow Mr. Johnson's malicious course, the Senator well might contemplate himself as a political dictator in this State. The dictatorship is the thing he seeks. He cannot obtain it except by the consent and ballots of the Republicans of California—whom he has repeatedly betrayed and belittled.

Presumptious and o'er-vaulting men in the past have met the devastating reaction of an aroused and indignant citizenship. Senator Johnson invites a political trouncing of unmistakable proportions from the Republican electorate. He should, and The Times believes he will, receive it at the primary election twelve days hence.

ECONOMY KEEPS STATE TAX LOW

Governor Tells Audience Benefits of Regime

Sob Sisters Ignored in Favor of Law and Order

Strongly Backs Development of Colorado River

The business administration of Gov. Richardson, with its attendant policies of economy and efficiency, is bearing fruit, the Governor told a large audience at the City Club luncheon yesterday, and due to the immense surplus heaped up in the State's coffers the 1927 budget can be made up without resorting to an increase in State taxes.

Gov. Richardson's declaration that he had upheld the courts and resisted the efforts of "sob sisters" to sway him in behalf of criminals was received with enthusiastic applause. The audience also cheered when he reminded them that the government of California had been operated fairly during the four fiscal years under his control without State tax increases.

"As Governor, I have tried to protect your lives and property," he stated. "I am not a super-Sheriff or a super-District Attorney, but I have exerted all my influence in a helpful way to back up the officers of the law and the courts.

MALE SOB SISTERS

"When I took office the sob-sisters were in full command. And speaking of sob sisters, they are mainly of the male variety; I have found that women universally stand by the law. Three years ago it seemed as if the sob sisters were in a majority, but I believe the tide has turned.

"I have consistently upheld the verdicts of juries and the decisions of the courts, and I have tried to show the people the other side of the picture—the result of criminals running loose the murder and rapine that follow in their wake. There have been campaigns and crusades directed against me in an attempt to have me turn loose murderers and commute their sentences, but I have refused to yield to propaganda and political influence.

"The people have learned that sob sisters menace public officials and injure the security of citizens and now I believe the sob sisters are in the minority.

CHOICE IMPERSONAL

"I have appointed fifty-five judges during my term, and in each case I have fully investigated the qualifications of the candidates. I have studied their character, their legal knowledge, their judicial ability and their capacity for work, and in no case have I yielded to friendship or political influence. I have tried to build up a judiciary of which the State could be proud.

"Back of the judges and the sheriffs stands the National Guard. I have taken a great interest in the National Guard, and California now has one of the finest military organizations in the world. Every citizen of California should pride himself upon our National Guard. In

Some Highlights on Crime Detection

Lighter Moments at Conference

Above—George W. Blum of the San Francisco Police Department, who designed and constructed the special fingerprint camera which appears in the photograph, knows that it won't get any fingerprints as long as the camera points at the face of Mrs. Rhoda Cross, but it serves to illustrate the point he's making and Mrs. Cross, being a member of the Los Angeles Police Department, naturally, is interested. Below, left—President Duncan ready for the warpath. The gun belonged to Jesse James, who will be remembered as more of a bandit. The gun is credited with twenty-seven victims and is the property of Claude Tyler, one of Dunoan's deputies in Oklahoma City. OLD DETECTIVE ORDER CHANGES

Day of General Practitioner in Crime Declared Gone

Successor Painted as Man of Scientific Attainments

Criminal Procedure Reform Described to Delegates

The development of a new type of detective, one combining the lore of the scientist with the practical methods of the investigators of old, must be society's next step in its war against crime.

Criminologists and experts addressing the twelfth annual convention of the International Association for Identification at the Alexandria, drew a picture of the scientific investigator of the future for the delegates yesterday.

They framed him against a laboratory equipped with every scientific adjunct in work of crime dection and suppression and they pictured him as one able and ready to use the tools of the scientist at a moment's notice in the pursuit of his work.

"The day of the general practitioner in crime detection has gone," Sheriff Traeger declared. "As in medicine, dentistry and virtually all other phases of life today, the general practitioner has been shoved into the background.

"This is an age of specialization and the crime investigator of the future must be a specialist or the vast and perfectly-organized criminal syndicates of the country will run wild."

LEGAL PHASES DISCUSSED

F. W. Fellows, secretary of the State commission appointed some time ago by Gov. Richardson to reform criminal procedure, was one of the other chief speakers of the day and took up the question of crime not from the angle of detection but from the legal phase.

Mr. Fellows gave a comprehensive report of the objectives of the commission and the manner in which it is working to expedite justice and to plug up the holes through which the AMBASSADOR HERRICK is alarmed at the agitation against France . . .

Especially the attempt to call off the American Legion convention in Paris.

And, as usual, Mr. Herrick is right.

WHEN THEY SQUIRM

It is always entertaining to pick on sensitive nations and sensitive people. They always squirm in a manner so highly entertaining.

But when somebody else is discovered getting ready to collect on those squirms—well, then, it is different.

RICH PICKINGS

In England, Ireland and elsewhere, big commercial associations are being formed with the object of taking advantage of the present "mad" of the American tourists against France—seeking to turn to their own pockets the prodigious sums dropped every summer by American travelers—something between $250,000,000 and $300,000,000.

POUR OIL

The American Legion is, perhaps, more nearly the voice of America than any other body or organization.

France and the United States are going to live in the world together for a long time. It will not help much to allow an open rupture to be brought about.

LACHRYMOSE PATRIOTISM

More than anything else, the agitation against France is a hangover from the sentimental slush at the time of the World War.

Adored France—every American's second mother—La Belle France—Lafayette, we are here—blah, blah, blah . . .

The next time we have a war to fight, perhaps we can manage to go into it calmly, like grown-up, sensible people, with a darned disagreeable task on hand; not like a collection of music-hall ballad singers from Tin Pan Alley.

THE NEW COP

The good old-flat-footed cop, who walked the beat and brought home Mrs. Clancy's bad boy by the ear . . .

Well, he would have fled in dismay from the convention of the International Association for Identification now being held in Los Angeles.

The business of being a policeman has become a business of science and brains . . . a lot of both.

Not long ago I attended a banquet at which crime was discussed. Papers were read by various men of various sciences. The most able and most brilliant was by a Los Angeles policeman.

However, it must be confessed that science in police work—also honest effort—is largely wasted because of moron juries, political prosecutors and judges engaged in the earnest effort to deliver grandstand speeches from the bench for the benefit of the sovereign voters. As the police come up, the courts go down, like the other end of a teeter board.

Gertrude Ederle, I fear, has accumulated a press agent.

Her challenge to the knockers of her channel swim sounds very press agenty. If she can add an international controversy to her nine days' wonder, it will benefit the theatrical career upon which she is about to embark.

SHORTRIDGE TELLS ISSUES

Accounts for Republican Stewardship in Radio Talk and Asks Colorado Plan Aid

An accounting of the stewardship of the Republican administration in Washington in which he himself is a prominent figure, was rendered to a radio audience last night by Senator Shortridge speaking over Warner Brothers' station, KFWB.

Senator Shortridge, in a terse, direct address, touched on the major issues of the campaign for the Republican nomination for United States Senator, which he is seeking at the conclusion of a six-year tenure in Washington.

He urged his hearers to co-operate in obtaining for California and the Southwest the harnessing and control of the Colorado River. He said the Senate Committee on Irrigation and Reclamation, of which he is a member, has favorably reported the amended Colorado River development bill and that when it comes before the Senate in December he will exert himself to secure its passage.

WARNS OF DANGER

"This nation is committed to a policy of peace," he said, "and to further that movement, the Senate voted a resolution recognizing the existence of the World Court, with, however, reservations designed amply to protect the interests of American citizens. That is a policy of Calvin Coolidge and a plank in the Republican platform of 1924. In voting for adherence to the court I was carrying out the mandate of California, which in 1924 gave Coolidge and his policies a majority of more than 300,000."

Speaking yesterday noon at a luncheon of the San Bernardino Kiwanis Club, Senator Shortridge warned his fellow-Californians of an impending attack upon the prosperity of the Golden State.

"Matters of serious nature engage the attention of America," said Senator Shortridge. "The policy on which, to a great measure, the prosperity of the country, particularly California, has been based, is now under attack. I warn you a concerted effort is to be made in the next session of Congress to break down the protection which has safeguarded our agriculturists and our industrialists and made possible the high wages and standard of living which we now enjoy.

"I want you to know, I want my State to know, that I am a 100 per cent protective tariff man for the development of industry and agriculture. If there is one State in this Union whose present and potential prosperity depends on adequate tariff protection, if there be one State which is more nationally interested in that problem than all the other States, it is California. Again I warn you that an aggressive, organized attack is to be made upon the whole system and aimed at many of the rates of duty we have obtained on California products.

"Our walnuts, our almonds, our lemons, our rice, petroleum industry and all these are affected by the impending attack. The matter comes home to every Californian."

The attack has been announced by the Democratic party, he said, quoting Senator Robinson of Arkansas, who announced the tariff as the issue in 1928.

"California is prosperous and we must keep it so," said Senator Shortridge. He reviewed his work as a member of the powerful Finance Committee of the Senate, which writes the tariff bill.

LAUDS COOLIDGE

The Finance Committee, the Senator said, relieved more than 2,500,000 citizens from Federal income taxation, reduced taxes to the lowest income and yet aided the administration to slash the national debt.

"And the nation has moved on in safety under the control of the administration that hews to the lines of progress despite the clamor of political enemies," he continued, "it goes on calm, serene and unmoved. Calvin Coolidge, in my opinion, is the personification of Republican principles.

"However humbly, I stand by Calvin Coolidge. I stand by him on the tariff which has enriched this land of ours and I stand by him on other great issues which he has brought forward in keeping with the Republican platform on which he was elected."

Senator Shortridge also reviewed his work in obtaining a $100,000 appropriation for forest protection in Southern California. He was greeted warmly by the representative business men of the city. His talk, because of the club's dictates, was nonpolitical, but of wide interest to Californians.

On his way in from San Bernardino, Senator Shortridge stopped at Fontana to renew old acquaintances and to inspect development in the community.

His schedule today calls for a number of appearances in Orange county. Tomorrow he will appear in San Diego and Saturday will be spent in Imperial county. He will return to Los Angeles Sunday, leaving that night for the northern part of the State.

FILM DEAL RUMORED IN HOLLYWOOD

Officials Refuse to Deny or Confirm Lasky to Release Sennett Comedies

Rumors along film row that Mack Sennett comedies will be released through Famous Players-Lasky during the coming year were neither confirmed nor denied yesterday by officials of the two companies.

B. P. Schulberg, in charge of production at the Lasky studio, declared that he had no statement to give out at the present time. J. A. Waldron, general manager at Sennett's, refused to be interviewed.

The attitude of the two officials is considered as confirmation in Hollywood that negotiations at least are under way. It is said the deal has not reached the signing point as yet.

When the rumor first began to circulate in the film colony, consternation reigned. The Sennett comedies

"FINGERPRINTS"

Even a single strand of hair may be sufficient to send the killer of the future to the scaffold.

Laborious years of work in the laboratory have finally brought the study of human hair to an exact science, according to Hart Schrader, Jr., of the State Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation, who is attending the convention of identification experts at the Alexandria.

It is possible now, he stated, to identify a criminal finally and positively from three strands of his hair. Years of scientific study, however, were necessary to accomplish this. But now, given three strands of hair and the necessary laboratory equipment, the precisely-trained modern investigator will establish identity every time.

Not only has this been achieved in practice, but it has also been done in actual police work where crimes have been committed. Though hair of similar texture and color may look the same to the ordinary individual, under the microscope it is vastly different.

Not only is every person's hair different but even the hair of the individual also differs as respects the part of the body from which it comes. The hair on the neck and head of the same individual varies widely and the difference is readily detected under the microscope.

Age can be readily determined from the hair, Mr. Schrader stated. The peths in each strand of hair tell approximately the number of years the person has lived. Science has accomplished greater wonders than this but the average layman will shy away from an identification made through the hair and consequently the use of hair as vital evidence to finally determine a case has not been widespread. But in the future, human hair will take its place with fingerprints as unquestioned evidence in criminal cases, he said.

AUTO ENGINE ERASURES DETECTED

Scientific tools of detection have made the erasure of numbers from automobile engines impossible, Mr. Schrader also said. Though the wall of the engine on which these numbers have been stamped are chiseled down to the thinness of tissue paper, the old numbers can be determined by the use of these instruments. The manner in which this is accom-

MAYOR ASKED TO OUST DUNN AND ROOK

Board of Public Works Commissioner Dunn and Public Works Inspector Rook were urged on Mayor Cryer yesterday by Councilman Ray Chamberlain of the Council's Public Utilities Committee, as a result of testimony at the committee's investigation into the $200,981 bill of assessments in the West Adams storm drain district.

"I'll leave it to the Mayor," said Councilman Chamberlain, "whether the sworn testimony of these two men before our committee justifies the Mayor in keeping Dunn and Rook in office. I told the Mayor that the first step in wiping out the system of ignoring the City Engineer should be the removal of Commissioner Dunn and Public Works Inspector Rook, and that the Mayor should take the action to lead the way toward preventing any future cases similar to the West Adams street improvement. The Mayor said that he would take my suggestions under consideration."

The Council's committee investigations have been halted by the action of the attorneys of Peter R. Gadd, the West Adams contractor, in appealing to the courts. Chairman Randall and City Attorney Stephens and Assistant City Attorney Whitehead are confident that at the court hearing on September 10 the court will uphold the city's right to investigate the West Adams improvement, and hold that the Council, if it desires, has the right to revise the $1,056,000 assessment or take any action it sees fit to protect the property owners who are to pay for the improvement.

While the Council is thus marking time in the West Adams investigation until the court action has been taken, the Council has received a resolution from the Griffith Park Improvement Association declaring that $300,000 of the property owners' money "was thrown away in favoritism to the contractor" and indorsing Councilman Randall's demand for the removal of Commissioner Dunn and Inspector of Public Works Rook. The association's resolution was as follows:

"Whereas, investigation disclosed an alarming condition in the construction of public improvements, especially relating to the West Adams storm drain and sanitary sewer, where $300,000 or more of the taxpayers' money was thrown away in favoritism to the contractor:

"Whereas the evidence presented proves conclusively that Public Works Commissioner Dunn and Chief Inspector of Public Works Rook are wholly responsible for these actions

"Resolved that this association go

Carroll Lawyer Charges Errors in Perjury Trial

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (Exclusive) Forty assignments of error are asserted against Judge Goddard, who presided at the perjury trial of Earl Carroll, theatrical producer, in a bill of exceptions which Harland Smyth, his attorney, filed today with the clerk of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

The theatrical man was found guilty by a jury last June of perjury before the Federal grand jury in the Joyce Hawley, a lingerie model, was taken a bath in a tub which was placed on the stage of the Earl Carroll Theater at a party on the evening of February 22, last.

Carroll was sentenced by Judge Goddard to serve one year and a day in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta and to pay a fine of $5000. He is free at present pending the outcome of his appeal.

plished, however, is being kept secret in order that the organized rings of automobile thieves may not take steps to circumvent this latest development in the line of scientific crime detection and suppression.

MODE OF OPERATION MAY LEAD TO CAPTURE

Fingerprints are not the only method of detecting and identifying criminals. Their mode of operation may place them behind the bars.

Delegates to the annual convention of the International Association for Identification discussed the strange eccentricities of some famous criminals yesterday.

There was the famous gang of loft burglars in New York, which specialized in fur thefts and was headed by a man who had an international reputation among the police of the world. Invariably, this gang used a rope ladder as a means of entrance. The ladder finally was their undoing. It was examined in the laboratory, its place of purchase determined and the "mob" finally rounded up.

Then there are the burglar specialists. Some of them will take only jewelry. Others refuse to steal anything but clothing. Still others will touch nothing but hard cash. Then there are burglars who make a habit of dining in each home they break into. But some of these will eat only certain kinds of food. There was a roast ham burglar at Oklahoma City who was finally captured because of this predilection for ham.

The eccentricities and modes of operation of all criminals are now carefully recorded in the files of all the larger police departments of the country. These records have been the means of trapping many criminals.

JESSE JAMES'S GUN EXHIBITED TO DELEGATES

The single-action .45-caliber Colt revolver which Jesse James used during his last years and which accounted for seventeen of his killings was exhibited yesterday to the delegates by Dr. J. G. Duncan, president of the association and superintendent of the Oklahoma State Bureau of Identification.

It is a massive weapon. Dr. Duncan said the trigger had been filed so that the gun must be fanned when in use. The revolver is the property of one of Dr. Duncan's deputies, who obtained it from his father. The latter came into possession of the revolver a few days after James was slain.

CRIME ORGANIZED BY GREAT SYNDICATES

Crime is no longer a free-lance and haphazard proposition. Vast and perfectly organized criminal syndicates are now the rule, according to the identification experts at the convention.

The pickpockets were the first to organize into closely knit units, directed by a master of their trade and obeying orders as soldiers in the field. The bunko men were quick to see the advantage of organization and followed rapidly in the wake of the pickpockets.

At the present time there is virtually no phase of criminal activity which hasn't its overlord, according to the delegates, and which does not specialize in some one branch of criminal activity.

"These organizations function with the smoothness of huge corporations," according to H. H. Caldwell, superintendent of the Oakland Bureau of Identification. "They have their own attorneys, their staffs of investigators, their records and files. Their funds apparently are unlimited. It is against them that the police of the nation must concentrate their efforts."

FEATURES INDICATE CHARACTERISTIC OF OWNER

"It is not the man whose eyes are opened the widest who sees the most. He usually sees a great deal, but his vision lacks detail. It is the man who has deep-set eyes, which are rarely ever opened to their fullest extent, who sees details and is, therefore, an asset in police work."

W. E. Benton, who has devoted a lifetime to the study of faces and their characteristics, tipped off the delegates to the above fact yesterday.

Crooks, he said, usually show crooked on their faces. The two sides of a crook's face, ninety-nine times out of a hundred, will be different and unbalanced. It is an unfailing indication of a mind not evenly balanced and, therefore, crooked.

The balanced mind shows a balanced face. A peace officer, Mr. Benton pointed out, is almost always a nosey person. The nose forms a prominent part of his features. This is as it should be. An outjutting nose indicates curiosity, the qualities of an explorer. Those are the qualities which a peace officer must possess.

"RIGHT this way, ladies and gentlemen, to see the wild animals, clowns and dare-devil, death-defying acrobats!" or some such cry was the lure that drew approximately 600 people to the Franklin High School summer playground last night to a hand-made circus, staged by seventy-five children under the supervision of O. H. Freeman, director of the playground.

There were thrilling trapeze acts, tumblers, trained dogs, about twenty-five clowns and fearful and wonderful beasts made by the children. A chariot race at the end added a fitting climax to an evening replete with excitement.

Last night's circus was one of a series which have been held during the summer at fifteen city playgrounds. On the evening of the 28th inst., all the playgrounds will unite in a giant circus in the Polytechnic High School Auditorium.

clever criminal escapes after he is brought into court and the evidence against him presented.

The constitution of California, he said, sets out that "government is instituted for the protection, security and benefit of the people," and it is with this thought in mind that the present commission is working.

Mr. Fellows declared that there can be no question of the laxity of the law under present conditions. Greater speed in the trial of criminals is absolutely essential, he declared.

Then he detailed what the commission intends to accomplish. In the first place, he declared, the commission is seeking to cut in half the period elapsing between the time a suspect is held to answer and the time the information is filed against him by the District Attorney's office. The maximum period is now thirty days. It would be fifteen if the suggestion of the commission is followed.

It is also proposed, he said, that the demurrer of the defendant must be heard as soon as made, and upon over-ruling of the demurrer the defendant must plead forthwith. Failure to do so would authorize the court to pronounce judgment at once.

Further, it is proposed that examination of jurors should be primarily in the hands of the judge. Upon judgment of death a date should be fixed for execution not less than ten nor more than twenty days thereafter.

SIMPLIFY PROCEDURE

Pleadings and orders would be simplified to eliminate so far as possible technicalities. The committing magistrate would merely find that a public offense has been committed and that there is sufficient cause to believe that the defendant is guilty thereof, leaving to the District Attorney the classification of the crime committed, so that he might draw his information accordingly. Under the new provisions defendants who claim self-defense or an alibi would be forced to give the District Attorney notice of this.

Insanity defenses would be made tacit admissions of guilt under the new code and the defendant sentenced as if he were sane. This, Mr. Fellows said, would eliminate the frequent plea of insanity.

"The tentative position of the commission is that insanity, unless it existed at the time of the commission of the offense, ought not to interfere with the regular course of the law as it would otherwise have been meted out to the defendant."

The three-fourths jury verdict in cases involving the death penalty also was explained and the provision eliminating jury trial with the consent of both sides discussed.

The principle of double jeopardy in case of appeal also is recommended by the commission, Mr. Fellows said, in order that delays and long drawn-out cases may be eliminated as much as possible.

Habitual criminals, after the third conviction, would be sentenced to a life of imprisonment and such life termers would not be eligible to parole.

NEW CAMERA EXHIBITED

The "eagle eye" camera, a new type of camera designed exclusively for police work and the taking of fingerprints, was exhibited before the convention by George W. Blum, official police photographer of the San Francisco department. The camera resembles the ordinary box used by photographers but to it are appended a number of devices which make it far more effective for photographing minute objects.

A rapid-fire discussion of facial characteristics and their study as an aid to the scientific detective of today was given by W. E. Benton.

"The face is the true index of the mind and soul," Mr. Benton declared," and the old rough and tumble operative of old who was in the habit of "making" his man by a study of his face was familiar with the science to some extent.

As an instance, he cited the nose. "Every famous explorer the world has known has had an outjutting nose. They were nosey. Therefore they were explorers. Amundsen is an example. His nose is the most prominent feature of his face."

Clothes, voice, demeanor or general conduct may lie but the face will always tell. He urged the identification experts to make a thorough study of the subject in order to advance their own work.

Capt. Finlinson, inspector of detectives and superintendent of the police school, spoke of the work and results obtained at the school.

It was established, he said, to fill a vital need and the results attained have been more than expected. Trainees, he said, are given instruction in more than sixty subjects. Their mental, physical and temperamental qualifications are determined. When they graduate, they serve their department honorably and well.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Ryan and J. R. Wilkinson, superintendent of the bureau of identification at Windsor, Ontario, Can., were the last speakers on the afternoon program.

Mr. Ryan paid his respects to Aimee Semple McPherson and discussed finger prints from the standpoint of the Prosecuting Attorney.

"As my dear friend Aimee has said, 'I wonder where Joe Ryan's fingerprints are,'" he began.

The work on the McPherson case, he said, has taught him the tremendous value of finger-prints and positive identifications. He urged the identification experts to make their evidence sufficiently clear so that the jurys will be able to comprehend it. It is the difficulty of making the juror see the value of fingerprints and recognize their infallibility which has shattered many otherwise complete cases.

Mr. Wilkinson discussed standardized circulars and urged that all departments adopt them.

Dr. Glenn MacWilliams of Los Angeles, addressed the delegates at the Alexandria last night on "Sexual Perversion and Its Relation to Crime" and illustrated lectures on "Firearm and Bullet Evidence and Identification" were given by Capt. Edward C. Crossman, former city police officer, and Charles E. Waite, of the Bureau of Forensic Ballistics, New York.

"Sexualism has the same right in the English language as criminology," declared Dr. MacWilliams.

He said that sex perversion is the foster-mother of crime and pointed out that the ignorance of the masses on the subject of sex is the cause of crime.

"The sexual pervert is the most dangerous criminal and a curse to society," he said. "It is high time to grapple with the curse. We must begin with the education of our children, as the hope of the nation is in the child."

FAVORS RESTRICTIONS

The speaker said he did not have much faith in healing the pronounced sexual pervert. He said he is in favor of legislation making it necessary for a man and woman to pass physical examinations before they are allowed to join hands in marriage and stressed the value of restrictive marriage laws.

"Crime is hereditary and we should not hesitate to pass laws that will protect us against these conditions," he said.

Both Capt. Crossman and Mr. Waite said there are no two guns with like barrels and that it is possible in almost every case to identify the gun and the bullet fired from it in the commission of a crime.

"There isn't a bullet that can't be identified as to to its maker, no matter how badly it is mushroomed," Mr. Waite said.

Capt. Crossman and Mr. Waite illustrated with stereoptican views the different makes of guns and bullets and showed how they can be identified.

Mr. Waite said there are 119 makers of revolvers in the United States. He said the guns used by gangsters in crimes are mostly cheap ones which are purchased through mail order houses. He also said that there has been in the last few years a tremendous importation of guns from Europe. He put the number at 556,000 in 1922. Most of these, he pointed out, were sold by mail order houses.

EXTENDS INQUIRY

"We are now making tests to determine how much time may have passed between the time the gun was fired and when it was found as evidence," Mr. Waite told the convention.

Mr. Waite explained that he had made an intensive study of guns and bullets, both in this country and in Europe. He said he went to various gun-makers and discovered that the maker of one type of a revolver knew nothing of the standards of another make. Each gun-maker, he explained, has a distinct rifle in making a gun. He said guns can be classified almost the same as fingerprints. Mr. Waite also said that in his experiments with powder he learned that the grains are different in every case and can easily be identified with a microscope.

"We are now almost 100 per cent perfect in our identification of guns and bullets that have been fired," he declared.

It's Settled! Mary Astor to Marry Asher

It is all settled that the beauteous Mary Astor, film star, and Irving Asher, First National film official, are to wed in December, according to Mr. Asher's admitting of the tender impeachment yesterday. A honeymoon trip to New York is planned or it is even possible the pair will go to Europe.

MARY ASTOR

Miss Astor and Mr. Asher met at the Warner Brothers' studio during the making of "Don Juan," in which the young actress was playing. Mr. Asher went on the set as a Warner Brothers official and was so bowled over by the beauty of Miss Astor that he asked Bess Meredyth, scenario writer, for an introduction. The two went about together everywhere and later admitted they were engaged.

The actress is at present away working on location, but when she returns in the course of three or four weeks a party is to be given by Asher, at which the formal announcement of the engagement will be made.

Scenario Writer and Script Girl in Own Romance

Working in the land of movie romances it is little wonder that John Stone and Hilda Hess of the Fox studios have hearkened to the love call.

For seven years Mr. Stone has been a scenario writer and recently Miss Hess became affiliated with the same department as a reader.

JOHN STONE

They were married last night at the Temple Emanu-El. Among the many prominent motion picture celebrities present were Sol M. Wurtzel, Tom Mix, Lou Seiler, Ben Stoloff and others.

The couple will spend a honeymoon at Del Monte and return to reside in Los Angeles at 752 North June street.

tion was spread among Sennett officials, who immediately began to search for a leak, acording to authentic information received yesterday. Both Sennett and Waldron have held themselves incommunicado to newspaper men since that time.

The comedy studio is scheduled to close September 15 for an indefinite period. There are four companies now working and two more are expected to finish before that time.

Mack Sennett comedies during the current year feature Ben Turpin and Alice Day starring pictures, Billie Bevan and Madeline Hurlock two-reel comedies, all-star Sennett features and a new comedy series with Raymond McKee, Ruth Hiatt and Mary Ann Jackson.

It is believed Lasky's move to obtain short subjects is to meet the competition of Hal Roach comedies released through Metro-Goldwyn.

PASADENA BUSINESS MAN DIES

Inhalator Squad Fails to Revive R. D. Davis in Heart Attack

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Aug. 18.—Richard D. Davis, 58 years of age, died suddenly tonight at his home, 1484 East California street, from heart disease. He had been a resident of Pasadena since 1907, coming from San Francisco, and was heavily interested in local real estate. He was a director in the local branch of the Security Trust and Savings Bank. He once was president of the Tournament of Roses Association.

When he collapsed the fire department inhalator squad was called and worked for some time trying to revive him, but without effect.

HOLLYWOOD CITIZENS UNITE FOR REZONING

The West Hollywood Boulevard Property Owners' Association, a newly formed organization for the obtaining of an equitable rezoning of members' properties, will meet at the home of Mrs. Florence R. Eastman, 7415 Hollywood Boulevard, next Tuesday night, to form definite plans to present the association's claims at the City Planning Commission hearing September 2. Petitions for the rezoning of Hollywood Boulevard between Vista street and Ogden Drive now are before the commission. A survey shows that of eighteen improved properties within the area, eighteen are income properties, although the district is in A zone. Miss Nellie Hogan is president. Other officers are W. E. Conrad, secretary, and Thomas A. Carmody, treasurer. Mrs. Florence Eastman, Thomas P. McCrea, Mrs. Myrtle D. Fillett, S. U. Franke, Lee Barclay John Keith, D. L. Kraner, Mrs. Heckman and Mrs. Margaret Diehl constitute the executive committee.

PAVING TO BE DISCUSSED

A civic meeting will be conducted under the auspices of the United Associations of Silver Lake Artery at the Micheltorena school, Sunset Boulevard and Micheltorena street, at 7:45 p.m. today. Councilman Randall and J. E. Phillips, assistant engineer of the water department, will talk on the paving of Silver Lake Boulevard along the eastern shore of Silver Lake through water department property.

SKIRTS ON THE JOB

There are now 132 women as members of the various State legislatures. Connecticut alone has seventeen.

PUBLIC NUISANCES

In addition to the private beach nuisance there are an awful lot of petters who seem to think the other beaches are vastly more private than they are.

NOT IN PUBLIC

We suppose a lot of these bathing beauties really bathe, all right. But the reason we've never seen them do it is that they rarely do it in the ocean.

HARMONY IN HATS

In these days the girls think it important that the hat should match the dress. Maybe it makes some difference which is purchased first. There are more green hats than green dresses in evidence.

SELF-REPLENISHING

There is no tree more beautiful than the pepper tree. But the man who has to clean the fallen leaves from the lawn says he wishes they weren't all such automatic pepper shakers.

VACATION BENEFITS

Credit men and others may talk a lot about the wisdom and necessity of economy and living within our incomes, but nothing else convinces us of that wisdom and necessity like the reflections which come to our own minds as we are getting over a gay and carefree vacation.

ADVICE TO EUROPE

We mustn't let our sense of humor slip. After all, it's a little funny for us Americans, the most generally extravagant and installment-buying people the world has ever known, to keep reminding the Europeans that the way out of their troubles is by thrift, thrift and superthrift.

MORE NEWSPAPERS

Anyhow, the Teutons are getting their reading matter. There are now more than 16,000 newspapers and magazines in Germany and nearly 900 new ones were started last year. Nor are they printing the Hymn of Hate on the editorial page. The modern German newspaper furnishes cheap entertainment for everybody in the home.

THE GREAT GAME

The lightning calculator says that 15,000,000 Americans will soon be playing golf. It is shown that already the golfers of America are paying over $10,000,000 a year for their caddies. This is more than the combined salary list of the professional baseball leagues of the nation. But, while fresh golf courses are being opened every day, no one hears of any ball parks being closed. There is still room for both. The business man of today hires a crack professional to play his baseball for him. His golf he plays himself.

A CHINAMAN'S CHANCE

Over in China the lotteries are the light and life of the nation. Every citizen who has the price buys tickets and there are as many companies in the business as there are 5-and-10-cent stores in this country. When some of the military or political leaders endeavored to apply a heavy tax upon the lotteries a great howl went up from every laundry in the land. It would be like taxing the breakfast table in America. Now the companies are paying out about $40,000 a month to the chiefs, who promise faithfully that there shall be no tax. It sounds like blackmail, but it escapes being a direct tax upon the pet sport of the Chinamen.

YEARS AND MARRIAGE

According to the cumulative opinion of the American Medical Association lovers should marry before the age of 25 years. Whether there is any selfish motive behind this gesture is not disclosed, but it must be conceded that newlyweds are pretty fair business for the doctor. Of course, the physicians are sustained by many ancient arguments, but the modern drift is in the direction of putting the incident off or cutting it out. The contention is that people should not wed until their minds are thoroughly established and their future indicated. Nevertheless this hitching business will doubtless proceed on the same lines with which we are familiar. The kids that should not marry will be the first to break for the parson.

THE GERMAN DRAMA

Many of the legitimate theaters in Germany are in hard lines. Folks are mostly going to the movies. Some of the big owners and producers are organizing a pool or agreement to be sustained by popular subscription. Sixty thousand citizens of Berlin are asked to sign a contract in which they promise to visit the theaters that are party to the agreement a sufficient number of times in the year to assure the expenses of the productions that are promised. All the costs and profits will be in common. The actors, the managers, the owners and the subscribers will divide according to a proportion agreed upon. It is figured that this is about the only way in which the future of the drama in Germany can be assured—at least under present industrial and economic conditions.

THE BIG TRADE SHOW

Art and enterprise in trade display never received a better demonstration than that now given in Shrine Auditorium. Even those esthetic and over-refined people who are fond of referring to "the sordid aspects of commercialism" must admit that there is a certain poetic glamour hanging about the great Industrial and Trade Exposition now attracting thousands of visitors to this city. Judged by the spontaneity and enthusiasm of the admiring comments of people who know a well-arranged and highly artistic trade show when they see it, the richly varied collection of exhibits displayed in the big, cool, airy building, with its wide aisles and abundant lights, is such as rarely has been placed on view in America. Other expositions have been larger, none finer.

Surprise after surprise awaits the newcomer, even though he lends to the impressive scene only a casual eye. One local journalist became so excited over the show that he detected in it "two keynotes," thus discovering a new and dual basis of the musical scale, which hitherto had been thought to consist of but one keynote. However, people may be excused for getting excited over the exposition, for it is something to get excited about. In the petroleum products exhibit and demonstration alone one is afforded cause for amasement, while to see silk fabrics made right before one's eyes by an elaborate and intricate machine, with darting shuttles and innumerable threads of warp and woof, is to view a mechanical miracle.

One is impressed by the comprehensive exhibit of house furnishings and appliances featuring the California idea of built-in conveniences that have made the small, modern bungalow a place for which a millionaire might well wish to exchange his too-elaborately ordered domicile. The machinery exhibits, in which are seen the newest products of the inventor's and mechanic's craft, catch the admiring eye of this mechanical age. The store equipment and apparel booths, with their daily demonstrations by experts, are of much commercial interest, while the food section affords the most appetizing suggestions. One may risk the assertion that the material side of the exposition discloses to the average Angeleno many unsuspected evidences of his city's tremendous commercial and industrial progress, and it cannot fail to open the eyes of outsiders who have been thinking of the Los Angeles of five or ten years ago.

But the human side of the big show is still more interesting, as the human side always is. To see the buyers in the booths, with busy fountain pens, signing orders for merchandise that soon will be on the way to remote destinations, excites speculative fancy and awakens local pride in the recognition of this city as the great western market—a market that expands from year to year, gives promise to become the foremost in all the land. The human side also presents an attractive phase in the animated exhibits staged in the spacious Shrine Theater—young women decked out in the latest fal-lals of fashion, alternating their airy poses with the stunts and dances of vaudeville actors, the melodies produced by numerous musicians and the naive speeches of movie stars, most of whom are more ornamental than oratorical, though they can safely count upon outbursts of applause. Then there are the outdoor features of the program—the drives to the beaches, oil wells and orange groves—all of which the visitors cannot fail to enjoy.

With all these attractions it is not strange that many of the visiting buyers already confess to being "sold on Los Angeles" and that they did not have to be talked into the purchase.

SCIENTIFIC SLEUTHS

Assembled in this city for a five-day parley the officers of the International Association for Identification, among whom are some of the foremost detectives of crime in the world, will compare notes and tell each other how best to cope with the grand army of crooks. There are about 1000 delegates to this important convention, the twelfth of the kind to be held, and Los Angeles is extending to them its customary hospitality and good cheer.

This is expected to be disappearing time for local crooks, who hardly will care to risk encountering such distinguished experts in criminology as are to be found among the visiting detectives. If any yegg or gunman should be so lacking in discernment or discrimination as to select this time to "pull off a job" he will render himself a hundredfold liable to detection and a period of rest behind the bars. Some of the visiting delegates are originators of effective schemes to thwart or suppress crime, and they have a way of detecting it of which even the famous Sherlock Holmes never dreamed.

The cloak of romance clings perhaps more closely to the profession of the detective than to any other, save possibly the treasure hunter. The novel-reading public never tires of following the mazes of a great murder mystery, the writer of which throws suspicion upon character after character, misleading the reader until the final chapter, when the apparently innocent "best friend" of the dead man, or his presumably guileless old butler turns out to be the one who committed the dark deed.

It would seem that stories of clever detectives never cloy. Presented in the form of literature, even of a mediocre order, such yarns are found enticing to persons of high intellectual attainments. Woodrow Wilson confessed that there was no romance he liked better than a good detective story. Men of big business have found relief from corking care in the pages of Sherlock Holmes. James J. Hill is said to have taken bundles of Nick Carter's mystery yarns on his voyages to Europe and would seldom emerge from his stateroom when he became absorbed in an Old Sleuth or Diamond Dick story.

Oklahoma City is bent upon succeeding Los Angeles as the next meeting place of the officers of the Association for Identification. As part of the picturesque demonstration the delegates from that city are making to gain attention in order to secure next year's convention, one of them has been "toting" and exhibiting the veritable six-shooter carried by Jesse James when he and his brother bandits terrorized the Middle West with their peculiar and decidedly unpleasant form of guerrilla warfare. If this does not clinch the claim of Oklahoma for a place on the convention map it may reasonably be asked what will? Delegates from St. Paul and Minneapolis, however, may come forward with numerous specimens from the arsenal of the famous Younger brothers and cover Oklahoma with confusion.

Among the criminologists of the day the members of the International Association for Identification have won a high place, and their work in perfecting finger-print study and other means of identifying criminals is to be commended for its scientific thoroughness and efficiency.

BIG JOBS

Some of the big jobs in the world are: "To settle foreign debts; to abolish the economic frontiers of Europe; to provide that trade shall flow through the world without artificial hindrance; to get labor and capital to work together in harmony; to compose the differences in conviction and expectation between the modernists and fundamentalists." So says Edward S. Martin, editorial writer of Harper's Magazine.

Here is work laid out for the most ambitious. Who is able to put conscience into state so that it will feel as duty bound to honor its debts as does any individual? Britain's recent promise to pay will go far to stimulate common honesty in other European countries.

Economic frontiers have jungles that rival the savage American shores that confronted the fathers. Opportunities for fight call no less for heroics because hidden.

Dredging the sluices of trade and the courses of commerce, as well as supplying unhindered highways of intercourse for ideas, require engineering feats of mind and morals that are stupendous. Digging a Panama Canal through the mountains and quagmires of the isthmus is child's play compared with opening up friendly passages through the suspicions and prejudices of hostile countries.

He who attempts to bring peace between labor and capital takes his livelihood as well as his reputation in his hands. Genius as well as the virtues will be kept bright from usage here.

What command and wisdom dare attempt to compose the differences between fundamentalists and modernists? This war, as other conflicts, will likely end in a truce of weakness. It is paraded as a war to make the world safe for religion. But nothing will be settled save devotion itself; it will be on a lower level.

The youth who thinks all the opportunities have been used up is mussed up in his mind. Big jobs grow with the centuries.

When Thomas A. Edison turned on the first incandescent he dispelled great blotches of night from home and factory. However, he did not greatly affect the darkness of mind in the world.

When Orville and Wilbur Wright found wings for humanity they started all men off on tours of the air. But they left the mind as loggy as ever. Who will grow wings for the spirit and enable it to sail in the upper areas above petty squabbling and bestial weakness?

Peary and Amundsen discovered the North Pole. But the discovery of the place of peace between capital and labor is fraught with infinitely greater perils and hardships.

Burbank married the cucumber and melon and has received the homage due the great high priest of nature. But who will unite all worshipers in a common bond of love of God and man? He may not be hailed with fanfares; but earth and heaven will eternally benefit.

There are big jobs waiting for big men just around the corner. There are laurel leaves withering on the trees for lack of wearers. There is much Parian marble going to waste in the quarries that ought to be standing in public places commemorating illustrious deeds of mind and heart.

THE FOES OF REST

Now it seems that radio sets are being barred from many of the Old World hospitals. The idea is to make the institution as quiet as possible and there isn't much peace when an American jazz band is broadcasting from the Eiffel Tower.

THE WATERMELON

"About the most cheerful spectacle we know of is that of a man carrying a watermelon," says an up-country exchange. It might have added "It is also the most tempting."

The watermelon is humorist among vegetables. There is more laughter in its neighborhood than otherwheres, save possibly where the squash abounds. However, the latter is just a wit.

Nature must have conceived this child in one of her jovial moods. A large crescent to give the best effect must extend from ear to ear with something left over like a last good-by. Why is a raid upon a watermelon patch considered a joke instead of a crime?

Watermelons have another characteristic: they have no conscience. At least they seem to generate the criminal instinct in man. They are the tempters of plant life. Possibly, outside of the green apple, they incite more juvenile theft than any other institution.

They have about the same effect upon human nature as umbrellas. Men borrow either without compunction and yet hope to enter the pearly gates and play harps. They seem to lack all moral quality.

This fruit inspires both envy and remorse; envy, when the other fellow has it; remorse, when you have it and it is green. To produce the highest results it must be round and fat and red inside.

When you spank it and it says "pink," seize upon it with alacrity as a jewel of its kind. If it say "punk," shun it as a fraud and foe of humanity.

PROS

When an amateur sportsman turns "pro" we realize that he is in it largely for the money. But the thing we fail to realize is that the same is true of lots of other fine folks who turn professional, including uplifters.

FIENDS, TOO

A correspondent wants to know if it is proper to speak of bridge "fans." It may not be exactly improper, but it would be more accurate to call them addicts.

SEE NO EVIL

By James J. Montague.

The little children who attend
The movies mustn't think
That in this land, from end to end,
A body takes a drink.
For if they thought that this was true
The roguish little elves,
Might go and take a drink or two Themselves.

No more upon the silver screen
A wicked man may stand
In any rowdy drinking scene,
A highball in his hand.
If children thought such things were done
The impish little knaves
Would very soon be filling drunkards' graves.

The draught the gallant movie cop
Imbibes with furtive brow
Must carefully be labeled "pop"
Or "lemon soda" now.
For let the little children see
A cop in such a state,
And very soon they all would be inebriate.

In former days the little child
Was seldom sent to jail
Because his morals were defiled
With whisky, gin or ale.
He never seemed to crave a "kick,"
But that is, we suppose,
Because he never went to picture shows.

CONQUEST

BY ALMA WHITAKER

Maurice Johnson knows the sweets and triumphs of conquest. And they had to come out of black sorrow. The best triumphs often do come out of black sorrow.

You see, Maurice Johnson survived infantile paralysis at the age of 1 year—in soul and spirit and mind, with amazing courage—but he has never known the joy of using a good pair of human legs, of walking and running and dancing such as most of us regard as a rightful and very ordinary heritage.

And now at 50 years of age this man, who has conquered pain and sorrow, with the help of his most precious possession, a wheel chair, has given the world an exquisite volume of poetry—"Songs of Overcoming"—published by the Gorham Press of Boston.

Strangely, ironically, these songs are songs of hope and happiness, an autobiography of fine human conquest. They could have been so weary, so fraught with heartaches and unsatisfied yearnings, so replete with self-pity and martyrdom. Many an able-bodied poet has felt himself crushed with unsatisfied longings and cried his torture to the world. Most of us do a bit of tortured weeping about our paltry little woes and get sumptuously embittered over mythical heartaches—but one great, tangible, genuine sorrow, which has required a lifetime of perpetual renunciation, has brought conquest and spiritual triumph to Maurice Johnson.

Some of these "songs" are exquisitely fine. The book is really an autobiography written in verse, taking us from his quivering, troubled childhood through to his philosophic conquering manhood.

And the one thing of all others which made this conquest possible was a precious wheelchair—so long delayed in the coming because the family finances did not run to wheel chairs.

So difficult for us to envision supreme happiness and conquest coming to us in the form of a wheel chair. But that chair opened up the world for Maurice Johnson. It meant that at last he could get around, go places, meet people, see life—without being dependent upon some other human to carry him, without being perpetually apologetic for causing trouble. That chair turned him from a helpless log into a gay traveler ardent with interest—rich, rich, with a means of locomotion all his own.

One cannot read these "Songs of Overcoming" without feeling ashamed that one has ever dared to grumble, ever dared to wallow in self-pity, ever dared to curse our fate—a fate which brought us many a thing that proved exquisite joy to crippled Maurice, but which we accepted with indifference in our ignorance of our blessings. You see, all these things which have proved sublime triumphs to Maurice Johnson are ours by pleasant act of Providence . . . and only in long denial can we know their precious worth. And where we pout for a grander and more stylish automobile Maurice thanks God in an exaltation of gratitude—for a wheel chair.

LETTERS TO The Times

Peanut Politics

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 16.—[To the Editor of The Times:] To those of us who are familiar with public sentiment in regard to the need of the control and development of the Colorado River and its tributary territory the present course of pin-headed politicians in their clamor for the spoils of office is ludicrous but disgusting. "I'm fur the Boulder Dam an' he ain't," constitutes their entire platform. What an asinine plea! How it strips the jitney candidate of any semblance of fitness for office!

All of us in Southern California are warm advocates of the Federal construction of a high dam in the Colorado River. Gov. Richardson is a more practical friend of this legislation than is C. C. Young, with his brass-band tactics and extravagant campaign methods. The Young followers, not content to accept the Colorado River compact as agreed to under Secretary Hoover's guidance by all of the seven States vitally affected, secured a selfish reservation to the pact by the California Legislature. This was done over the protest of Secretary Hoover, Gov. Richardson and many other ardent friends of the Boulder Dam. That reservation was denounced by the up-river States in the Washington Congressional hearings and probably never will be accepted.

Six States ratified the action of their representatives over the compact, five of them with no reservations, and our Governor had the moral courage to regard that pact as binding, in spite of the fact that Hunt said "Don't you know the Colorado is our river and you must pay us a royalty on all the power you develop in it?"

Practical versus peanut politics, that's the issue in this campaign.

But how about the All-American Canal? Most of these driveling petty politicians shed crocodile tears over "the terrible menace to Imperial Valley from the horrible Mexicans" through whose "foreign territory" the present water supply of Imperial district comes. They cry for an All-American Canal at the expense of Imperial Irrigation District, to which it would be of very little benefit. We who have large investments in the district denounce those with no investments there who would saddle us with further bonded debt to pay for that which would be of little benefit to us.

Don't whine over Imperial Valley. "She's all right." She only needs to be saved from her fool friends. She needs the dam, as many other communities need it, but her interest in the proposed canal is negligible.

W. F. THORNE.

The Open Sea

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The article by Mr. Richard T. Ungren in your interesting paper of Sunday entitled "County's Beach Playgrounds Passing to Private Hands" should arouse the interest of everyone who has the future interest of Los Angeles at heart.

If, as it is frequently predicted, Los Angeles is to have a population of several millions of people, surely we will need all the beach frontage, not only along the shore of our own county, but from Santa Barbara to the Mexican line, and it is to be hoped that Chairman McClellan and the Board of Supervisors will take further steps not only to purchase all vacant shore property available, but also to take possession by condemnation of the property owned by the various organizations which seek to crowd out the public. Unless the people can have the benefit of our wonderful ocean breeze and the beaches they will go elsewhere to live.

More power to The Times for its ability to arouse the officials and the public to the need of having all of the ocean beach frontage for the benefit of all the people. Those who own beach frontage could do no greater patriotic service to their city, county and State than by selling to the county at a reasonable price their beach holdings.

H. P. RISING.

A Disinterested Observer

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Mr. Ungren's timely article in today's Times concerning the fact that the beaches of Los Angeles county and Southern California are passing into private ownership should be heeded. There is no time to be lost in handling this matter, for it is a fact. During my visit here the beaches have been a delight to me, but I have referred to the lamentable fact a dozen times that the private beach clubs are rapidly absorbing all the coast that is desirable for bathing and boating. You people of the west coast better do something to stop it!

HIGH TIDE AT PANAMA

While it is contrary to the usual idea, there is really no difference in the mean level of the Atlantic and the acific oceans, yet the difference in the tides at Panama is about eighteen feet. This is due to the shape of the Bay of Panama. As the tide sweeps the Pacific into this bay it meets a funnel-shaped shore line, which gradually contracts as the tide travels landward. The result is that the tide rises higher and higher until it reaches a maximum of ten feet above the average sea level. When it flows out of the bay it reaches a point ten feet below the average sea level, thus giving a tidal fluctuation of twenty feet. This same rise of an excessive tide may also be observed at the Bay of Fundy. On the Atlantic at the zone the tidal fluctuation is only two feet.—[Adventura.

Sought Precious Oil of Human Lantern

Program Replete With Good Features Yesterday

BY UNCLE JOHN

Lanterns burned brightly at KHJ last night. Lanterns filled with the love burning from well-trimmed lamps of endeavor by a group of Holland entertainers. G. Allison Phelps, philosopher, delivered an address on the subject "Lanterns," which carried a deep-seated message. He told a story of a Los Angeles pioneer who, hard pressed with night coming on his ranch, borrowed twenty-four lanterns from a Chinaman. Three days later they were returned, well cleaned and filled with oil. The Chinaman remembered the courtesy and years later, when the rancher was confronted with fore-closure proceedings, the Chinaman loaned him money. The pioneer became one of the wealthiest citizens of this city.

"Your body is a lantern," said Mr. Phelps. "Your thoughts are the oil which you pour into it. Life is the wick; your actions are the flames which burn before the eyes of humanity. If the oil is pure, then the flame from the wick will burn brightly and clearly. But if the oil is bad, then the flame of the lantern will become blacker and smoky.

SIMILE EXTENDED

Further excerpt from this radio philosopher's talk continued: "To most people life is a sort of period of darkness. We do not know just exactly why we are here or where we are going. Looking about, we see the millions of lanterns glistening with different degrees of brightness in the different stages of existence. In our hands we hold our lantern, trying with its light of thoughts and little actions to light the way and make it easier to travel. We find us are other people, all holding lanterns, some of which are full of the oil of hope and covered with the soot of surrender, others carrying flames that shine brightly, casting light not only to themselves but to the rest of the world.

"We find as we grope along, that the fire in our lanterns burns unevenly. When we perform a selfish act or hurt someone with our indifference or cut them with cruel words, the flame in our lantern dies down and our way becomes dark and dreary. But when we do something good, something that will cheer or help another; when we perform an act of kindness and prove that we do live for the purpose of making the lives of others as well as our own lives a little richer, a little more beautiful each day, then, suddenly, the flame in our lantern flares up with a glare that throws light on the faces of the stars that are kept clear. It is the crude oil from the earth that makes us rich. The oil that makes us rich is the pure oil of loving thoughts that comes from the mental wells to which we all hold equal rights."

OTHERS ON PROGRAM

"Radio Partners" is the nomme de plume of Ruth Roland and Mr. Phelps, who have never failed to please in England with their endeavors. Miss Roland's voice carries a certain appeal born of her human impersonative work on the screen. Lan Bell and his original Country Boys added zest to the procedure, while Estelle Love of motion pictures, Virginia Estelle Reed, pianist; Ben Baird of the Orpheum Circuit, and Charles Freund, steel guitarist, completed a variety of entertainment which held the audience until 10 o'clock, when representatives of Fanchon and Marco West Coast Theaters, took the floor in the interest of "Greater Radio Season." The appearance of these artists was impromptu and the personnel of the entertainers was not known until the last minute.

Activities of Los Angeles in manufacturing were presented by Dick Hadley, screen juvenile reporter of the "Children's Hour." This little lad can wander through a factory or the mammoth Shrine Auditorium, where the industrial exhibits are being displayed, and broadcast enthusiastically what he sees. Dick also plays seven instruments and has long been a favorite of the "Children's Hour." "Little Daffodil," Patricia R. Robinson; Constance Jeannette McKay; "Sweet Marie of KHJ;" Glen Cook; "Juvenile Optimist;" Lois Jane Russell, 8-year-old pupil of Winifred Pollard, in readings; Charles Harold Bernstein, 9-year-old pianist under the tutelage of Tillie L. Hiscox, and three little pupils of Marshall Stedman completed the happy party of children for home lovers of Radioland. A beautiful touch to the hour was added by Ida Palmer, soprano of KTAB, Oakland, in a group of children's songs.

ASTRONOMY AND SCRIPTURES

News Items at 8 o'clock were presented by the address of Dr. Mars Baumgardt, lecturing on astronomy, and the Scripture reading by Rev. S. H. Blackburn, pastor of Third United Brethren Church.

Popular noontime broadcast was opened in at 12:30, when Le Roy Parry and his orchestra and June Parker, blues singer, came on the air. These entertainers are a weekly feature of KHJ and have a wide following, for even though it has been made quite clear that requests by telephone for compositions are not invited at this station, there is always a deluge when they hold the board. This is particularly true of June Parker. The only regular matinee program of the week is the Wednesday garden talk at 2:30 by Fred C. McNabb. Yesterday he answered a folio of questions, gleaned from his heavy weekly mail, from home garden lovers.

Tonight at the Alexandria at 8 o'clock an important meeting is to be held for all exhibitors in the fourth annual Radio Show, which is to open at the Ambassador September 6.

DANISH CHURCHMAN WILL LECTURE HERE

Rev. L. C. Larsen, leader in the Scandinavian Methodist Church, and former president of the Methodist College at Aarhus, Denmark, is in Los Angeles in the course of a tour of the United States. He will address several meetings at the Danish-Norwegian Methodist Church, Fourth and Bixel streets. He has spoken in several Pacific Coast cities.

SAFETY CO-OPERATION PLAN

The co-operation of communities and business organizations of Southern California in the safety congress to be held in Los Angeles on September 28 was requested in a resolution presented to the City Council by Councilman Allan and adopted.

CITY PICNIC SPORTS STIR UP RIVALRY

Almost All Departments Enter Athletic Contests to be Conducted Saturday

Keenest rivalry exists between the various departments of the city government over the athletic contests to be conducted Saturday afternoon at Selig's Luna Park in connection with the Pension Day picnic of the All City Employees Association. Almost all of the departments have entered teams in the events and especial interest surrounds the contests for women.

In anticipation of the picnic the girls' track team of the Department of Water and Power are in daily training and practice on the roof of the department's building at Second and Broadway and at the Elysian Park Playground. Miss Esther Lampe is captain of this team.

The sports program will be managed by a committee composed of D. Webster Lott, George Heap, Carl H. Pahl, R. M. Angier, L. C. Larson, J. F. Moran, E. W. Breikreutz, E. O. Barnett, and Capt. William M. Cahill.

The athletic program will start with events for boys and girls. At noon Joe Romero and his assistants will serve barbecued beef sandwiches, "hot dogs" and coffee. During the afternoon there will be free animal shows, the "Eagle Dance" by a group of Hopi Indians and free dancing in the pavilion, the music to be furnished by Jack Cronshaw's Holly Maidens. Mayor Cryer will speak.

Reputedly Rich Husband Sued in Divorce Action

Charging her reputedly wealthy husband with extreme cruelty, Mrs. Cora Ehler, 1844 North Kenmore street, yesterday filed suit for divorce against Gerd Ehler.

Mrs. Ehler, who expressed the opinion her husband is worth $650,000, also filed an application in Presiding Judge Stephens's court for an order commanding Ehler to appear and show cause why he should not pay alimony of $500 a month pending trial of the case, and a fee of $3000 for her attorneys.

Mrs. Ehler charged her husband was miserly and grouchy, and she declared he failed to provide for her in such a manner as to enable her to live in accordance with her station in society. She declared Ehler permitted their home to approach a state of delapidation and that she suffered a complete nervous breakdown because of his treatment of her.

The couple were married September 18, 1923, but no formal separation has taken place, according to the complaint, which was filed by Attorney J. A. Coleman.

Poison and Shot Cause Delay in Alimony Action

Thomas L. Sanders, burdened with matrimonial troubles and a bullet hole through his shoulder, came into Superior Judge Gates's divorce court yesterday from the county psychopathic ward. He failed to end his difficulties by leaving his wife, Mrs. Agnes Sanders, who is now suing him for a divorce and asking alimony in the bargain.

According to testimony, Sanders had once swallowed a quantity of iodine in an attempt to kill himself because his wife didn't love him any more. The Receiving Hospital, however, frustrated his attempt with restoratives.

A week later the hospital had him back with a bullet hole through his shoulder which he declared his brother-in-law had put there. The police laughed and sent him to the psycopathic ward for observation.

After a review of Sanders's somewhat hectic recent existence, the court decided that Mrs. Sanders's alimony request should be deferred until a further investigation of her husband's condition is completed.

Wife May Have All His Wealth; He'll Take Dog

A dog solved the alimony problem of Mrs. Myrtle Haver in Superior Judge Gates's court yesterday.

Mrs. Haver appeared claiming ownership of the family car, furniture and dog, and asking for alimony from her husband, Charles Haver. When the question of division of property was put up to Charles Haver, the husband, he said:

"Well, Judge, she can have all the junk except the dog. All I want is my dog, but I want that."

The court ordered Mrs. Haver to deliver the dog to her husband, keep the furniture and sell the automobile, dividing the proceeds between herself and her husband.

LONG BEACH JUVENILES GET COURT

Session Conducted to Give Neighboring City Idea of How Tribunal Functions

For the first time in the history of the local Superior Court, a session of the juvenile department was conducted yesterday afternoon at Long Beach with Judge Keeler presiding.

Business in the local headquarters of Juvenile Court in the new Hall of Justice was closed at noon and Judge Keeler, accompanied by Mrs. H. L. Mohrenstecher, court clerk, and Bailiff Phillip, left for the beach city where the afternoon session was conducted in Department 28, assigned to Long Beach some time ago.

The session was held at the request of Long Beach civic organizations which expressed a desire to observe at close range the functions of the juvenile department with the idea that eventually such a court might be convened periodically in the beach city

PRISONERS ESCAPED FROM CAMP CAUGHT

After several days search, George Line and Richard W. Manning were rearrested yesterday at Fowler, near Fresno, according to information received by Deputy Sheriffs Monteleone and Adams. The two men, who were serving a short term in the Sheriff's detention camp in the Big Pine district, escaped from the camp a few days ago, it was stated. They were charged with violation of the Wright Act.

IMPROVEMENT PLAN ADOPTED

The ordinance of intention for the permanent improvement of Angeles Mesa Drive from Sixtieth street to Seventy-ninth street has been adopted by the City Council.

POINTS OUT NEED OF TREES

Civilization Perishes With Forests, Says G. W. Bunton, in Talk Before Kiwanis Club

As forests perish so perishes civilization, declared George W. Bunton, president of the Greater San Fernando Valley Association, in an address urging tree planting, delivered at the weekly Kiwanis Club luncheon at the Biltmore yesterday. Mr. Bunton, who has for years been interested in the movement to save the trees, pointed out the forest devastation that has taken place in this country during the last century and a half.

"The United States had 822,000,000 acres of forest 150 years ago," he said. "Today only a scant 100,000,000 acres remain. In 1924 alone our country had 93,000 forest fires which devastated 29,000,000 acres of timber lands.

"Trees purify the air, produce lumber, fix and fertilize the soil, feed and protect birds, temper the climate and conserve the water supply. Destroy all our forests and the country will face a serious situation. Palestina and Mesopotamia furnish horrible examples of what happens when all tree growths vanish. Once these countries were heavily wooded and supported large populations. Today they are largely denuded and maintain only a small population."

Mr. Bunton made a special plea for trees in the cities of Southern California. "I know of no more cruel or senseless procedure than the wholesale cutting down of trees when a new subdivision is laid out," he declared. "Every citizen of this section should be imbued with the idea of planting trees about his home and protecting those already standing.

"So far as maintenance of the forests is concerned, it can be accomplished only by the enactment of rigorously enforced laws requiring a permit to cut a tree and making planting compulsory. Germany has long required every man in that country who cuts down a tree to plant five new ones. The result is that Germany's forests are as great today as they ever were and there is no danger of a tree famine. We would do well to take a leaf out of German's book."

Police Officer Found Guilty of Threat to Kill

Officer Newall Shirley of 715 Fir street yesterday was found guilty in Municipal Judge Pope's court of a technical charge of disturbing the peace and of a threat to kill C. H. Graves of 2608 South San Pedro street, the complaining witness in the action against Shirley. He will be sentenced this morning by Judge Pope.

Jim Wilkerson of 134 South Delaware street, companion of Shirley's on the night he was arrested, also was found guilty of a charge of disturbing the peace. Both men were committed to jail without bail pending their sentences.

According to Deputy City Prorecutor Gilbert, Shirley and Wilkerson entered the apartment house operated by Graves on the night of the 13th inst., and demanded that they be given liquor. Both men were intoxicated at the time, Graves testified. When Shirley was denied the liquor he is asserted to have drawn his revolver and threatened the life of Graves.

COFFEE MEN PICNIC

The Leonard Coffee Company conducted its annual picnic at Brookside Park, Pasadena. Following a plan inaugurate last year, the lunch was prepared and served by the men. Sports consisted of baseball and boxing contests.

DEFENSE IN TONG WAR TO BE MADE TODAY

With the testimony for the State completed and all evidence introduced, the preliminary hearing of Ah Sang, Chinese, accused of the tong-war murder of Frank Lee, was continued until 2 o'clock this afternoon, when the defense will present its case. Lee, said to be a member of the Bing Kong tong, was killed on the night of July 20. A Chinese, whose description tallies with that of Ah Sang, is believed to have done the shooting. Sang was arrested fleeing from the scene of the shooting by Police Officer Dorchak and is known to be a member of the Hop Sing tong, according to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Eagan. Municipal Judge Scott is hearing the case.

Absence From Jail Tested as Alimony Help

Superior Judge Gates yesterday began an experiment to test the veracity of the old adage: "Absence makes the heart grow fonder." He ordered Hugh Oldenhage to produce $75 to satisfy the alimony wants of his divorced wife, Mrs. Ella Oldenhage, by or on September 3, next, or go to jail, after a married daughter of Oldenhage's had testified in behalf of her mother that her father had said he would spend the rest of his life in jail before he would pay alimony to anyone.

In his own defense Oldenhage denied the testimony of his daughter, but told the court that so far as he was concerned he would "go to jail right now because I don't intend to raise the $75."

"I'd rather you paid the alimony," Judge Gates answered. "But since you aren't adverse to going to jail today, we'll see if absence from the culaboose makes you grow any fonder of it. You pay the $75 by September 3, or you'll get more jail than you want."

FLYER WILL HANDLE NEW PLANE IN RACE

George Faw will leave Clover Field, Santa Monica, the morning of the 25th inst. in the "On to Philadelphia" air race, preceding the national air races in connection with the Sesquicentennial Exposition. Faw, who will also take part in the national air races, will fly a specially designed plane built by L. M. Bach, airplane designer and builder, at Clover Field. Faw will take the southern aire route.

Wedding Announced

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Isabel Rourke, daughter of T. Elliot Rourke of Santiago, Chile, to Cutler Brown, son of Herbert Cutler Brown and Mrs. Zoe Lowe Brown and grandson of the late Prof. T. S. C. Lowe of Pasadena and Los Angeles, the ceremony taking place Monday evening at the rectory of the Church of the Good Shepherd at Beverly, in the presence of the immediate family and a few close friends only. The bride's father is an American resident of Chile, where he has long represented important American interests. After a brief honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Brown will return to make their home in Hollywood.

In the Mountains

Miss Dorothy Zimmer, a senior at Westlake School, is enjoying a delightful summer's vacation visiting with Miss Helen Eastman, a classmate, at their mountain home at Mammoth Lake in the High Sierras. Both sub-debs will return to Los Angeles in time for the opening of school in September.

Returned Home

After a most delightful visit through the Northwest, Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Diehl have returned to their home in Pittsburgh, Pa. While in Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Diehl were delightfully entertained by Dr. L. G. Visscher and Mr. Diehl was also one of the guests at the jinks of the Bohemian Club several weeks ago. During their trip the Diehls visited in Los Angeles and points of interest in Southern California, as well as Del Monte and San Francisco, stopping en route at Seattle, Lake Louise and Banff. Mr. Diehl is vice-president of the Carnegie Steel Corporation and his charming wife, who was formerly Miss Frances Elijah, is one of the leaders of Pittsburgh society and is most active in clubs, musical circles and charity work of the eastern metropolis.

Song Recital

Beverly Hills society as well as its adjacent towns is most interested in the song recital to be given there tomorrow evening by Rafaelo Diaz, who has returned to Los Angeles for a brief visit. An interesting program has been chosen by the artist and Charles Wakefield Cadman will accompany him at the piano. Among the patronesses of the evening will be Mrs. Margaret J. Anderson, Mrs. R. D. Shepherd, Mrs. William Henry Russell, Miss Mollie Adelia Brown, Mrs. George Benjamin Hill, Mrs. Burton Edmund Green, Mrs. Eugene Consigny, Mrs. Chester Turner Hoag, Mrs. William Mead, Mrs. Norman Pabst, Mrs. Fred Niblo and Mrs. Willis D. Longyear.

For Bride-Elect

Miss Marian Lewis, one of the popular brides-elect of the month, whose marriage to Neal Vincent Smith will be solemnized the 25th inst., was the incentive for a beautifully appointed bridge tea and miscellaneous shower with which Miss Betty Wise entertained Saturday afternoon at the Encino Country Club. The centerpiece of the tea table was charmingly unique, being composed of tiny dolls attired in bouffant frocks, representing the bride and her entourage in procession to the altar, the color scheme being effectively carried out in orchid and yellow, in flowers, candles and place cards, which marked the covers for Miss Lewis, Mrs. William Silcock, Mrs. Richard Owen, Mrs. A. A. Alberto, Mrs. William Bauermeister, Mrs. A. A. Lewis, Mrs. E. E. Strickland, Mrs. H. E. Wise, Miss Evelyn Angle, Miss Reyetta Morehead, Miss Florence Andrews, Miss Dorothy Sprague, Miss Clarice Raisler and the hostess.

younger set. Mrs. Hull gave a beautifully appointed tea recently in honor of Mrs. Litsinger and Miss Litsinger of Chicago, and tomorrow evening will be one of the patronesses for the song recital of Rafaelo Diaz in Beverly Hills.

AN IMPORTANT ARTICLE

The Connecticut State Department of Health has sent out the following article on Rabies. I am reproducing it as it is so important.

AVOIDING RABIES

. . . If it is important to prevent rabies among dogs, it is all the more important to prevent rabies among humans. As rabies is always fatal when symptoms of the disease once develop, protection against it must be by prevention. There is no hope of curing the disease when it occurs.

"Beware of stray dogs—Certain precautions should be taken to avoid exposure to rabies. One is, to beware of stray dogs. Rabid dogs wander away from home during the excited stage in the disease and often travel for long distances. A stray dog that appears in the neighborhood may be a rabid dog during the excited stage when it is most dangerous. Stray dogs should be impounded in some safe place where they have proper care until their owners can be located.

"Do not fondle sick animals—Another precaution would be not to fondle sick animals. When it is necessary to handle sick dogs or other animals where rabies may be suspected gloves should be worn to protect the hands from the animal's saliva. Many persons are exposed to rabies by getting saliva on the hands without being bitten. The virus is present in the saliva and may enter the body through a cut or abrasion.

"Pen up sick animals—A sick dog should be penned up and watched for further symptoms. If the dog really has rabies, symptoms will soon develop so that a veterinarian will have little trouble in making a diagnosis. When the dog is killed at once upon suspicion of the disease it may be too early to find laboratory evidence of rabies. In that case a negative report would give a false sense of security. Upon penning up a sick dog, the health officer and dog warden should be notified.

"Take antirabic treatment — Any person bitten by a rabid dog or exposed to rabies by handling the dog, should take antirabic (Pasteur) treatment. If uncertain as to whether or not the dog actually has rabies, the animal may be killed and the head sent in good condition for examination. If the dog is held for ten days' observation, it should be confined so that it cannot bite any person or animal during that time. If the dog is found to have rabies at the end of ten days, the person bitten will have had time to take the antirabic treatment. If the dog does not have rabies at the end of ten days' observation, the person bitten will not have had to take the treatment unless the symptoms have already developed in him. Consult your physician at once if you have been bitten by a dog which is suspected of being rabid, as to the necessity of taking the antirabic (Pasteur) treatment. The Pasteur treatments are given at the Pasteur institutes in all large cities. The treatments take about three weeks. If your dog, cat or other animal has been bitten by a dog suspected of being rabid, it is well to consult your physician about the necessity of taking the antirabic treatment.

"Disinfection of premises—In case of rabies—The virus of rabies is supposed to be present in the saliva and milk of animals suffering from rabies. Any of these secretions coming in contact with the mucous membranes or with abraded skin may be infectant. A good disinfectant is probably as good as any preparation recommended for disinfection, in addition to the independence should be given to mechanical cleaning of floors and scrubbing with soap and water before the disinfectant is applied.

"Vaccination of dogs—Dogs may be protected from rabies by vaccination with antirabic virus. Owners are advised to consult their veterinarians and have this treatment administered to their dogs.

STAGE ROMANCE HERE LEADS TO ALTAR

Song Writer and Musical Comedy Star Will Wed Today

Miss Betty Chapin and Ballard MacDonald

MARKING the culmination of a romance that had its inception in Los Angeles more than a year and a half ago, Ballard MacDonald, song writer and composer of musical comedies, and Miss Betty Chapin, musical-comedy star, will be married today at Del Monte.

The marriage ceremony will be performed at 10 a.m. by Rev. J. Cutting, pastor of the Del Monte Episcopal Church, at the church chapel in the presence of relatives and a few friends of the couple. They will be unattended.

The couple, both prominent in theatrical circles, met during the run here more than a year and a half ago of Harry Carroll's "Pickings," one of MacDonald's productions and a show in which Miss Chapin had an important role as a dancer. Mr. MacDonald's latest musical-comedy success is "Monkey Business," now playing at the Majestic. He arrived in the city from New York about two weeks ago, coming here to stage this particular show. Miss Chapin arrived here Tuesday from Chicago where she had been playing in one of the outstanding musical shows of the season, "Eufus LeMarres Affairs."

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Pierce, parents of the bride-to-be and socially prominent in San Francisco, have arrived here for the nuptials.

The couple have postponed their honeymoon until the completion of a forthcoming production which Mr. MacDonald expects to stage here in the near future. They expect to make their home in New York City.

A special prize will be offered for the best baby under 2 years, born in the hospital. During the clinic Denewell Jones, noted Los Angeles child specialist, will deliver lectures to the mothers on the home care of babies, and motion pictures will be taken of the children who are present.

The LAST WORD

By ALMA WHITAKER

A WOMAN OF CHARM

She was easily the most charming and attractive woman I had met on the whole of a three-months' trip—and I had met many varieties. And she wasn't beautiful, and she was deplorably gowned.

We met in the library in the Administration Building in the Panama Canal Zone. She was wearing a grayish, loose, cool gingham dress and a crumpled old white hat squashed down on her head. Her complexion had been recklessly exposed to tropical climes and her hands were brown and hardened.

Yet you could not have mistaken her for anything but a thoroughbred and everyone who saw her itched with curiosity. So obviously was she "somebody."

SEEKING TROPICAL INSECTS

And here she was in Panama in the course of a year's scientific voyage on the yacht St. George, with five male scientists along.

They were seeking out all the strange insects that abound in these blistering tropics, collecting thousands of specimens of utterly pernicious, vicious little biters and stingers, together with the shrubs and vegetation they live on. Their ship was a laboratory and a museum, and they had a motion-picture cameraman along to photograph the little criminals in their lairs, and discover all their intimate domesticities and habits.

But it was this woman herself who was so tremendously interesting to me. Her voice was quite surprisingly lovely, that high-bred mellowed sweetness, and her diction enchanting—so instinctively did she choose just the right and simplest words in which to express herself.

And her eyes, beneath that preposterous hat, were alive with keen interest, and she certainly found life happily amusing.

SHE WAS OBVIOUSLY HAPPY

I began to bubble something about its being so unusual to find a woman thus engaged in scientific research. But, oh, dear, no, she assured me, many countries boasted many remarkable women in these scientific fields, infinitely more distinguished than herself. Promptly she began to name them—French women, Italian women, Swedish women, as well as several other English women. I had never heard of any of their names. "Oh, well, everyone interested in such things knows of them and their work," she assured me, "but, of course, they would be unlikely to be mentioned much in newspapers. That sort of work is important, of course, but not of much public interest."

Not of much public interest—when often their discoveries make life in the tropics healthier and more bearable, when it contributes important and vital knowledge to medicine, agriculture, commerce, civilization itself, when it means making uninhabitable parts of the world habitable, and rescuing whole populations from dire perils.

But what impressed me so particularly, was that this woman was so obviously happy, serenely happy, in this queer, uncomfortable work. I hate pesky insects myself, as most normal women do. But here was one who gets her life's joy out of capturing, studying, sorting, pre-serving and writing about the nasty little things. And she looked so infinitely happier than women in gorgeous gowns and limousines, showing off fashions and spending money and getting their pictures in the papers and changing husbands or starring in motion pictures or any of those supposedly attractive activities.

Everyone who met her felt this charm—and there in Panama City, which bristles with fair and siren women of many nationalities, she was easily the most attractive of them all.

Court Asked to Keep Husband From Her Home

Mrs. Beulah Anna Peringer, who sued John Allen Peringer for divorce on the ground he threatened her and interfered with her making a living for herself, yesterday filed an application in Presiding Judge Stephens's court asking that her husband be restrained from loitering about her home, peeping in at the windows or in any other way interfering with the renting of rooms.

According to her divorce complaint, Mrs. Peringer left her husband because of his cruelty and established herself in a rooming-house business at 547 West Fortieth Place. She declared her husband, who objected to one of her roomers, appeared on the scene and told her he would give her ten days in which to get rid of the tenant about whom he objected.

Conrad Hreha, suspended Los Angeles police officer, yesterday was cleared by Judge Keeler of Juvenile Court of a charge of contributing to the delinquency of Evelyn Capito, 17 years of age, of 116 East Fifty-ninth street.

Judge Keeler dismissed the complaint on the ground the State failed to produce sufficient evidence at Hreha's preliminary hearing to warrant holding him for trial.

The contributing complaint was filed following the dismissal in Municipal Judge Ballard's court last week of a complaint accusing Hreha of attempting to attack the girl. Arthus P. Munson, also a suspended police officer, now is awaiting trial in Superior Court on a charge of attacking the girl.

New Hardware Sign: 'Licenses to Wed Issued'

Victor Pacheco, 25 years of age, of 1437 East Silver Lake avenue, and his bride, Josephine Celaya, 18, were arrested yesterday at Pacheco's home by Detective Lieutenant Jones.

Pacheco was locked up on suspicion of perjury and the girl sent to Juvenile Hall.

According to Lieut. Jones the bride's mother, Mrs. Delphina Celaya of 3815 Princeton avenue, complained the couple eloped and married without her consent.

Pacheco said, according to Jones, he got a license in a Corona hardware store and that the ceremony was performed by a justice. Whether marriage licenses in Corona can be obtained in such an unusual place is being checked up.

STRING TO CONTRACT

Topsy-Eva Script Must Be Approved; United After Fred Thomson; Paramount Adds Beauties to Its Roster

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

It seems there was something of a string to the contract which the Duncan Sisters signed with First National.

VIVIAN DUNCAN

It is a string that pulls both ways. The famous sisters, under the contract, are to appear in a film version of their show, "Topsy and Eva," as everybody knows. However, the proviso on their part is that they write the said story themselves, or have it written for them. But on the other hand, first National reserves the right to reject the story if it does not suit them.

In other words, the sisters are refusing, according to report, to appear in the picture unless the story is their own, whereas First National won't make it unless they like the story.

But First National, it is understood, owns the rights to the story. So if the Duncans refuse to appear in the tale as O.K.'d by the film concern, then naturally somebody else will have to play it.

It seems that Colleen Moore is quite certain to play Topsy in case the Duncans do not appear in the picture. As for Eva, that role will remain to be cast.

It would appear quite impossible, however, that the Duncans and First National will fall to get together on the story, since the Duncans are so widely famous in the two roles that First National would naturally wish them to have the parts, and it is quite likely that the astute Duncans will not fail to hand over a script that will please the film company.

Fred Thomson's Stock High

Fred Thomson's stock seems to be going up and up. As F.B.O.'s pet star he is rapidly becoming the public's. It would seem. And naturally other picture firms are wall aware of that popularity.

FRED THOMSON

Wherefore we are not surprised to learn that United Artists, among others, are trying to coax him away from the fold. However, he has still some five pictures to make for F.B.O., with a mounting salary, his present stipend being $5000 a week, so that it isn't at all certain that even at the end of his present contract he will be willing to leave F.B.O., the firm that made him. It will take him about a year to make the five pictures.

Moreover, F.B.O. is coming so fast to the fore that they are securing some of the best artists in the field, and an affiliation with that firm is not lightly to be cast away.

Johnnie Walker in It

Johnnie Walker is as busy as his namesake used to be. This talented young actor slides from one nice role to another as easily as though he were on skates.

JOHNNIE WALKER

Now he has signed with Universal to play the leading male role in Edward Laemmle's new picture, "Held by the Law," in which Marguerite de la Motte has the leading feminine role.

Others in the cast include Ralph Lewis, Robert Ober, Fred Kelsey and E. J. Ratcliffe.

Walker lately finished the role of Stephen Decatur in "Old Ironsides," as well as other important parts. He was the original prodigal son in "Over the Hill," in which he made his first big hit.

Griffith's Next

Raymond Griffith's next picture for Paramount is to be called "Be Yourself," and Clarence Badger will direct it. As usual, the comedian will sit in on the writing of the story.

However, he is going to take a short vacation before beginning to even think about thinking. He will probably take a yachting trip up and down the Coast.

Emmet Flynn Returns

Emmet Flynn and his wife, who went abroad a few months ago, have returned to their native land. In fact, the director and his spouse landed in Los Angeles yesterday after a very pleasant trip.

Comedian in Drama

It isn't only the comedy girls who graduate into drama, it would seem. The comic boys get a look-in, too, once in a while.

Latest of the short-reel favorites to join the field of serious subjects is Otto Fries, for six years a featured comedian in Jack White's Educational Comedies. The actor has just been signed by Famous Players-Lasky to play the villainous heavy role in "Hotel Imperial," Pola Negri's latest vehicle.

Bob Leonard Signs Again

You cannot possibly imagine Robert Z. Leonard torn away from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios; and fortunately you don't have to do that violence to your imagination, for Leonard has been placed under a new contract by the above-named company, according to the announcement of Louis B. Mayer. Under his new contract, the director is to make four features, following "The Gray Hat," on which he will soon start work.

Patsy Ruth Miller Rests

Dorothy Phillips Flits

Bachmann Sees Kelly All Right

Albert Kelley, the young director who made such a success of his first picture, "Dancing Days," has been signed to make two other features for Preferred Pictures. J. G. Bachmann, president, did the signing.

Paramount Signs New Beauties

The Paramount stock company continues to grow these days by leaps and bounds. Now comes Walter Wanger, production manager of Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, who stepped off the train from New York yesterday with word that two new additions, both beautiful, have been made to the company's roster of players. The young girls are Margaret Quimby and Dorothy Hughes. Both were signed to long-term contracts and will do their first screen work at the Paramount Long Island studio.

Margaret Quimby

Miss Quimby was once a member of George White's "Scandals" and the Music Box Revue. Later she played leads with Reginald Denny and Edward Everett Horton under the Universal banner. When Mr. Wanger saw her recently in New York he was struck by her beauty, enhanced by the unusual combination of blond hair and green eyes.

Miss Hughes first became prominent as the winner of the Miss New York beauty contest. She was given a role in D. W. Griffith's "The Sorrows of Satan," and her work was so outstanding that she was signed to a long-term contract following the close of the picture. She is now playing in Richard Dix's current film, "The Quarterback."

Ena Gregory Buys Home

Perhaps it is the first stirring of domesticity in Ena Gregory's fair bosom, following the recent announcement of her engagement to Al Rogell, First national director. At any rate Ena, who is now playing the ingenue lead in "Down the Stretch," for Universal, has just bought her first house, which she and her mother will occupy next Monday. It is a delightful little English cottage, located in Roland Square, and is of a distinctive plan, having been designed by an artist member of Ruth Roland's family.

ENA GREGORY

So the happy groom-to-be, when he returns from the Black Hills, S. D., where he is selecting locations for the next Ken Maynard picture, will find the blond that he prefers already installed in a new one.

ENDS PRODUCERS' RIVALRY

LONDON, Aug. 18. (Exclusive)—J. D. Williams, managing director of British National Pictures, on his return from New York today announced the closing of a contract with Famous Players-Lasky of America whereby British pictures will be shown in the United States.

This marks what is termed as an end to the Anglo-American film trade war, which has caused a storm of bitterness in England for many months. Mr. Williams said he had lined up a world distribution for the next three British national pictures, the first being "Tip Toes," starring Dorothy Gish and Will Rogers. The second, "London," a film story by Thomas Burke, author of "Broken Blossoms," will star Dorothy Gish, and a third, "Madame Pompadour," also will star Miss Gish.

While British National is owned by British capital, and most of its actors are British, Director Williams is an American, as is also the production editor, J. W. McConaughy. It is asserted that British National has completed one of the finest equipped studios in the world, where the pictures will be taken.

HARRY'S NEW FEATURE STARTED THIS MONTH

FIRST NATIONAL COMEDY SAID TO BE ENTIRELY NEW IDEA

More laughs are on the way!

This is prophesied in an announcement from William H. Jenner, general manager of the Harry Langdon unit for First National, who states that the moon-faced comedian's next feature, "Johnny Newcomb," will be started on August 30.

The story of this laugh-provoker, said to be an entirely novel idea, is now in the final stages of preparation. Harry being assisted in the creation of gags by Arthur Ripley, Bob Eddy, Clarence Hennecke and Reed Heustis. Construction of sets has already been started by Lloyd Brierly at the new First National Burbank studio. This will be Harry Langdon's first picture in the new studio, and his third feature under his contract with First National.

FUNERAL OF A. L. WALKER CONDUCTED

Namesake of President Lincoln Laid to Rest at Rosedale Cemetery

Funeral services were conducted yesterday afternoon at Pierce Brothers funeral chapel at 2 o'clock for Abraham Lincoln Walker, who died last Monday at his home, 1240 South Union street, on his sixty-sixth birthday. Interment was at Rosedale Cemetery.

Mr. Walker was born at Fort Scott, Kan. The Walker family was friendly with the family of President Lincoln and Mr. Walker, deceased, was named after the President.

When 6 years of age he came to California with his parents and resided in Humboldt county. He attended Stanford University from which he was graduated in 1902 with an A.B. degree. After graduating Mr. Walker contracted with the United States government to go to the Philippine Islands and establish schools. He carried on this work for three years when President Taft was Governor of the Philippine Islands.

After returning to the United States Mr. Walker took up the practice of law which he followed for ten years. During the past few years he has taught in the public schools of Los Angeles and for three years in the high schools of Nevada.

Mr. Walker leaves a widow, Clara Walker; a son, Alva Walker; a sister, Mrs. Jessie Collier of Eureka, and a brother, Rv. L. P. Walker.

Girl Killed as She Dashes in Front of Auto

Pauline Hudson, 10 years of age, of 9228 South Budlong avenue, was killed last night when she ran into the street at Eighty-eighth street and Vermont avenue from between parked cars and was run down by an automobile. It was driven, according to Officers Holloway and Hollis, by John J Garland of 815 West Adams street, who was not held, as the officers said the accident was unavoidable.

The girl had been attending a theater with her older sister, it was said. After being taken to Receiving Hospital the body was sent to the county morgue.

Youths Bound Over for Trial in Theft Attack

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 18.—Morris Murphy, 25 years of age, of 123 North Avenue Twenty-two, and Joe Karasoff, 23, of 317 Bodie street, both of Los Angeles, were held today by Police Judge Spencer in $10,000 bail each to answer in Superior Court charges of assault to do great bodily harm and robbery.

It is asserted they attacked S. A. Tingley of 481½ Windward avenue, Venice, Monday night, broke his jaw, robbed him of $85 in money and jewelry and threw him out of their car.

Mrs. O. O'Grady of Ocean Park, who said she witnessed the attack, was the principal witness. When arrested, the men told officers, it was said, they had been drunk and remembered nothing of what happened. Both are truck drivers.

Henry Cause of Difficulties in 'White Collars'

The plot of "White Collars" which is now entering its 124th week at the Egan Theater, revolves around Cousin Henry, who in his parade from the job to job has developed a broad vocabulary and acquired all the graces of an orator in advocating his fixed idea that money is nothing and only character counts.

It deals with the love story of a multimillionaire, by inheritence, who weds his secretary and his efforts to convince her and her family that the theories Counsin Henry has so constantly dinned into the family ears may be only a matter of self-deceit in which neither the class above nor the class below has any belief or sympathy.

ROONEY SHOWS 'EM

Produced Musical Show That Ran Year on Broadway

So many people told Pat Rooney that he was known only to vaudeville audiences that he became really very vexed and decided to show the doubters just where he stood and where they stood so he produced a real musical show called "The Daughter of Rosie O'Grady" and it ran for a year on Broadway. And that is where Marion Bent, Pat III and Pat, Jr., have been for the last twelve months. A sell-out business for such a length of time Pat believes is ample for Exhibit A in his case against the doubters.

"We'll open again in New York soon," says Pat, "in another new show."

During the interim Pat is touring the Orpheum Circuit in a condensed, but none the less lavish, revue called "Roooneyisms of 1926-27." With the Irish dancer, besides Marion Bent and Pat Rooney III, are a number of girls, among them being Rita Townsend, Muriel Stryker, Anita Nieto, Mildred Burns and the Van Joyce sisters. He comes to the Orpheum here Sunday.

MARGARET GETS ROLE IN UFA PRODUCTION

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (Exclusive) Margaret Quimby, who arrived from Hollywood this week, has been chosen for a role in "Cheer Up, Charlotte," the UFA production, part of which is being made in New York in conjunction with Paramount. Some of the scenes of the German film were laid in America, so the director, Dr. Wolff, is taking them here instead of making them in the Berlin studio.

The Associated Motion-Picture Advertisers are giving a luncheon tomorrow for Dr. Reisenfeld, who has just returned from Europe.

ELSIE JANIS SEEN IN WARNER VITAPHONE

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (Exclusive) Elsie Janis is to appear for Vitaphone.

This announcement was made yesterday by Walter L. Rich and Samuel L. Warner, who announced the completion of negotiations for the screening of the star.

Miss Janis's Vitaphone appearance will come as a prelude to Warner Brothers' presentation of Syd Chaplin in "The Better 'Ole," the date of opening to be later with the Colony Theater, which has recently been acquired by Warner Brothers, as the theater that will house the Syd Chaplin picture.

KEITH CLAYS VAUDEVILLE

Donald Keith was selected as the juvenille lead in "We're in the Navy Now," Paramount comedy of the Navy, featuring Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton, according to announcement by B. P. Schulberg, associate producer.

KEITH PLAYS JUVENILE

According to an announcement from Maurice E. Sebastian, Frank Heathco has become associated with him in the unit he recently organized for the production of a series of pictures starring Jack Hoxie. Heathco will supervise the business affairs of the company and will have charge of the offices of the Tec-Art studios.

Sally O'Neil is spending every day at the Culver City plunge where she is taking a concentrated course in swimming from Roger Cornell, preparatory to starting work in "The Mysterious Island," in which she will be required to perform many thrilling scenes under water as well as to do several spectacular dives. Benjamin Christianson is directing this production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Pensive Foreign Beauty

Xonia Dosni,

Appearing in one of the feature roles in the intriguingly titled UFA production "The Waltz Dream," opening at the Forum, Saturday.

STAGE STARS GO TO FOX

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (Exclusive)—Charles Winninger and Walter Catlett have transferred their humor to the screen in "Summer Bachelors" which Allan Dwan is producing for Fox Films.

They got back to town this week after filming over the week-end at a house-party in the Adirondacks.

Madge Bellamy and Allen Forrest play the romantic leading roles in the picture, which is based on the story by Warner Fabian now running in a magazine. Matt Moore has a capital role as an absent-minded Columbia professor. Hale Hamilton, Leila Hyams, Clifford Holland, Olive Tell, Cosmo Bellew and Charles Urdale are in the supporting cast.

"Summer Bachelors" is a story of how husbands play when their wives are away in the country. The locale is New York City, its night clubs, country clubs and other summer playgrounds.

Gilda Departs Next Week for Boston Showing

One week more and Gilda Gray departs for Boston.

This is the third and last week of the famous dancer's personal appearance engagement at the Million Dollar Theater in conjunction with the showing of her first motion picture, "Aloma of the South Seas."

Incidentally, this will be the last opportunity for Los Angeles theatergoers to see Miss Gray dance on the stage as her present tour will be her last, her future activities to be devoted entirely to her motion-picture career.

The dancer is accompanied by a troupe of twenty-five players including dancing girls and Prince Lai Lani and his native Samoan chieftains.

FINE FEATHERS FOR CLAIRE IN NEW ROLE

FOUR YEARS OF SHABBINESS ENDED IN PICTURE FOR M-G-M

For the first time in four years Claire McDowell is wearing fashionable, modern clothes—on the screen!

Her name has just been added to the cast of "A Little Journey," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture directed by Robert Z. Leonard, in which Claire Windsor and William Haines play the leading roles.

Mothers have heretofore been Miss McDowell's forte. In this present production she plays the part of Claire Windsor's aunt, Louise Rutherford. The character calls for smart, modern clothes.

In "Ben Hur," the well-known actress wore the costumes of the period of Christ. In "The Show-off," Miss McDowell's latest picture, made in New York, she played a modern character, but one that wore only house dresses and gingham aprons.

Sills Operates Puppet Theater in New Picture

A complete Italian puppet or marionette theater in operation will be shown on the screen at the Figueroa tomorrow when Milton Sills's latest First National release, "Puppets," opens. The story revolves around a Sicilian puppet master, as the manager of a marionette theater is called. In making the picture Director Archinbaud utilized the services of Bufano's puppets and Bufano himself was on hand to show the actors how to manipulate his toys.

Many scenes back stage in a puppet theater are shown. Sills himself is the role of Nicky, the puppet master, handles many of the puppets in these scenes.

DIX'S NEW COMEDY COMING TO RIALTO

The background is laid in an imaginary kingdom that is said to be quaint, and interesting. Alice Mills is Richard Dix's leading lady. Chester Conklin also appears in "Say It Again."

SHOWS EDERLE SWIM

'MERRY WIDOW' THEME

UFA Production Coming to Forum Based on Strauss Opera

"The Waltz Dream," a UFA picture produced in Germany and released in America by the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer organization, is to be the new attraction at the Forum Theater, starting Saturday, according to an announcement today from John P. Goring, managing director of the West Pico-street playhouse. "The Waltz Dream" in many ways parallels, it is said, the American production of "The Merry Widow," in that it contains a beautiful love theme and is a romance of gay, reckless royalty, laid in a jeweled setting of Vienna. "The Waltz Dream" is a picturization of Oscar Strauss's operetta of the same name.

It is the first foreign-made picture with a humorous touch to be exhibited in America. Mady Christiand plays the role of Princess Alix of Flausenthurn, and Willie Fritsch is seen in the leading male role. Xonia Dosni also plays the part of the captivating young cabaret singer. The picture was directed by Ludwig Berger.

On Friday night Miss Zoila Conan, screen ingenue is to judge the Collegiate contest. Miss Conan is a former Denishawn dancer. She will award the $25 cash prize that is to be given to the winners of the Collegiate contest Friday night.

Because of his success his other engagements have been cancelled to allow him to offer an entire new outlay of songs next week In fact Lucas's numbers are all so new that he has not even had time to record them for the phonograph which means that those who hear him next week will get a little pre-hearing of his forthcoming records.

EASTERNERS SEE DEVELOPMENTS

Pittsburgh Party Inspects Harbor

Long Beach Officials Act as Guides

Visitors Are Interested in Possibilities

LONG BEACH, Aug. 18.—Additional evidence of the rapidly growing interest of eastern industrial concerns in the development of Long Beach harbor and its bid for recognition as a world port was seen here today in the inspection tour of a party of Pittsburgh men headed by William A. Magee, twice Mayor of the Pennsylvania Steel City and a national authority on finance and business administration. Accompanying Mr. Magee were L. H. Goshorn, former City Treasurer of Pittsburgh, and other business men of the eastern city.

Following a conference with Mayor Filmore Condit, Assistant City Manager Buick H. S. Deckman, president of the Seaside National Bank, and Charles B. Land, industrial secretary of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, the visitors were taken on a trip through Long Beach harbor on which more than $5,000,000 has been spent by the city in the past two years in expansion and construction. The city's industrial area bordering on the harbor channels and adjacent streets, the forty-acre site of the proposed $2,000,000 Ford assembling plant, the Craig shipyards and other points of interest were shown the visitors, after which a trip was made through the Cerritos Channel to Los Angeles harbor.

Mr. Magee, who retired from public office in January last, is in Southern California, it was explained primarily as a representative of a group of eastern capitalists to study a system of iceless refrigeration developed here. This work has been completed and Mr. Magee and the other members of his party are now engaged in making a more extended survey of conditions, with special reference to industrial opportunities offered by the Long Beach and Los Angeles harbors and the relation of the two ports to Mexico, South America and the Orient. Natural resources including cheap fuel and raw materials of various kinds are being given special study, it was said.

Neither Mr. Magee nor any of the other members of the party would make a definite statement relative to the particular projects they have in mind, nor would they give an affirmative answer to questions concerning the possibility of locating these projects in the local industrial area. Mr. Magee declared, however, that many of the best-known capitalists of Pittsburgh are watching Southern California and that reports taken back by them concerning Long Beach harbor may lead to important developments here.

Cause of Death of Ontario Man Still a Mystery

UPLAND, Aug. 18.—James Loch, well-known Upland citrus rancher of Fifteenth street and Mountain avenue, who was discovered lying unconscious in Mountain avenue, two blocks from his home, last Sunday morning, with a badly fractured skull, died last night at the San Antonio Community Hospital without regaining his faculties sufficiently to explain what had befallen him and the cause of his death will in all probability remain an unsolved mystery.

When the aged man's inert form was discovered early Sunday, by Mrs. W. C. Taylor of West Twentieth street, his hat was found nearly fifty feet from where he lay and the contents of his pockets were strewn all around him, which at first gave rise to the theory that he had been struck down by a hit-and-run motorist. Careful examination of the body by physicians, at the hospital, however, revealed no bruises such as might have been occasioned by being struck by a motor car and Chief of Police J. P. Sawyer is at a loss to account for what happened to Loch.

The deceased, who was in his sixty-first year, leaves a widow and two sons, James L. Loch and William Y. Loch, both of this city, also a brother, O. H. Loch of Phoenix, Ariz., who was called here following the rancher's being taken to the hospital. Funeral services, which are in charge of the J. B. Draper Company, will be conducted tomorrow afternoon, at 3 o'clock, at the Presbyterian Church with the Rev. R. C. Stone officiating. Interment will be at Bellevue Cemetery with the Upland Masonic Lodge in charge of commitment services.

FIRST COTTON IN CORCORAN DISTRICT

CORCORAN, Aug. 18.—The first cotton in this district of this year's crop was baled yesterday in this city at the Ellett gin, being produced on D. H. Duke's seventeen-acre tract southeast of here. It was graded as good middling one and one-sixteenth inch acala staple. The crop was planted in March. A handsome purse has been made up by the merchants of this city to be given to Mr. Duke for producing the first bale of cotton for the year. It will be sold at auction under the auspices of the local Chamber of Commerce.

He leaves a widow, three daughters, Misses Anna, Bertha and Madeline Capbeville, and two sons, Albert and Ernest. He also is survived by a brother, Louis Capbeville, who lives at Tepachapi, and several brothers and sisters living in France. The deceased was a native of France and came to California thirty-five years ago.

DEATH ENDS DOMESTIC QUARRELS

Druggist Takes Poison After Trouble With Young and Pretty Wife

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 18.—A quarrel with his pretty young wife led to the suicide this morning at 9:20 o'clock of Francis Heath Schnitker, 33 years of age, prominent Newport and Balboa druggist, and son of J. J. Schnitker, former Mayor of Newport Beach, it was revealed at a Coroner's inquest held this morning at Balboa.

Schnitker and his wife failed to agree on a number of things, according to testimony at the inquest. This morning, after a violent scene with his wife, Schnitker is said to have visited his father at a drug store in Newport Beach and bade him goodby. He then returned home, told his wife he was going to take cyanide of potassium, engaged in a struggle with her and then took the poison.

Schnitker's father was called and endeavored to save his son's life by administering an antidote. Dr. Conrad Richter was also called, but failed to revive young Schnitker. An inquest was held this morning by Coroner Charles D. Bowen. A verdict of death by suicide was returned.

Law Interferes With Breakfast in Beach Homes

VENICE, Aug. 18.—Residents of the Speedway district south of Avenue Thirty-five, including Palisades Del Rey, took their coffee black this morning and wondered where their newspapers were. They found themselves industrially marooned as the result of a campaign to enforce a special ordinance passed in March by the Los Angeles City Council restricting to pleasure cars the Speedway from Windward avenue south to the city line.

Twenty-five arrests already have been made, and Capt. McClary stated they will continue. Drivers of all kinds of delivery trucks, including milk, ice, grocery and meat, found themselves with tickets requiring their presence in the Los Angeles Municipal Court.

In the district south of Avenue Thirty-five there is no alternative highway by which residences may be reached with deliveries. Householders seem to face the necessity of having their food products delivered in limousines or airplanes.

Today trucks carrying building materials for Palisades Del Rey development work were forced to go miles out of their way by the Centinela-Inglewood route.

Enforcement of the ordinance, it is said, is due to complaints by beach residents that heavy trucking on the narrow Speedway annoyed them by vibrations. It is reported that certain of the companies whose drivers were arrested are planning a fight on the ordinance.

YOUNG LAD WANTED TO BE DESPERADO

VENTURA, Aug. 18.—Testifying that his 14-year-old son had gotten acquainted with two notorious gunmen while staying on his father's oil lease, the father of Gerald Nabers of Fillmore, held for the shooting of Howard Heath, his 14-year-old companion, told Judge Rogers that the lad wanted to be a "bad man."

It was brought out in the testimony that the two boys had been playing together when Gerald, who had bought a gun with money saved from his earnings, wanted to shoot into the dust at the feet of some men who were passing. When the Heath boy objected and started to go home, his companion is said to have shot him through the abdomen. The bullet is still lodged in the spine of the unfortunate lad. The case was continued to August 23.

PAYS HEAVY FINE

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 18.—A. V. Paddock, 115 Twenty-third street, yesterday paid a $500 fine to City Recorder W. A. Leonard after pleading guilty to charges of possession and sale of liquor, according to reports from the beach city. Paddock was arrested at his home recently by Officers L. V. Raymond and Harry Riggs. Several gallons of asserted liquor were found in the man's house, it was declared. Paddock was held in bail under $1250 bond. He paid his fine and was released late yesterday afternoon.

USE GAS TO KILL ANTS

Cyanide Fumigation Latest Theory to Destroy Insect Pests at Pasadena

PASADENA, Aug. 18.—Cyanide fumigation is the latest hope of Pasadena building officials in their quest for an effective counter-measure against the inroads of white ants into the woodwork of buildings in the city, and experiments will be conducted within the next few days with the hope that the remedy will prove entirely adequate.

Officials of a Los Angeles cyanide-manufacturing concern are making preparations for the experiments which they declare will prove to local officials the truth of their claim that cyanide fumigation was 100 per cent effective against white ants which recently attacked the public library of San Francisco.

Chief Building Inspector Putnam of Pasadena is meanwhile starting a thorough survey of the city to determine the exact extent of the damage to wooden buildings here by ants. The ultimate status of the fight against the ants will probably be one of control rather than complete extermination, it is said.

Application of creosote to timbers is known to be sufficient to prevent the ants from attacking wood so treated, and it is probable that a provision embodying this precaution may be embodied in the building code of the city.

Control of similar ant depredations in Australia has recently been accomplished by placing tin flashing in concrete foundations, according to information coming to the local building department from J. B. Lobekin of 1121 Carson street, a former contractor in Sydney and Melbourne, Australia.

Red ants will kill the white ants, but they never have the opportunity except under artificial conditions, as the white ants remain under cover at all times, erecting tunnels wherever they go.

BOND ISSUE WINS

Long Fight for School Funds Ends in Victory

ARCADIA, Aug. 18.—That the third time is a charm, at least for Arcadia school-bond elections, was proved here yesterday when a twice-defeated $89,000 issue was overwhelmingly approved. The vote was 494 to 116.

The victory is attributed to a referendum ballot on the use to be made of funds, which before split the school board and was held responsible for defeat of the issue.

Whether the present First-avenue plant should be enlarged or five acres purchased at Duarte Road and Holly avenue and a new West Arcadia grade school erected was submitted to the voters yesterday in connection with the bond vote, and the West Arcadia project won out, 356 to 248.

The West Arcadia project will be carried out, according to school officials, and the remaining funds will be used to purchase two more lots adjoining the First-avenue plant.

FORTUNE FOR GRAPES

Association Has Millions of Dollars Ready to Be Paid to Growers

FRESNO, Aug. 18.—Eleven million dollars in cash will be paid out in the next few months by the Sun Maid Raisin Growers, principally to raisin growers of the San Joaquin Valley, it became known today when it was announced at the meeting of the growers' advisory council that $10,000,000 will be paid growers in advances of the 1926 crop when it is delivered to the association.

Included in the total to be paid out by the co-operative association is the annual dividend on 7 per cent preferred stock, amounting to approximately $400,000, and the remainder represents a progress payment on the 1925 crop, for which checks were mailed to growers on the 15th inst. The dividend payment will be made on the 30th inst, and the first disbursement of the 1925-crop advances will be made about September 1, approximately two weeks earlier than usual, owing to earlier maturity of the 1926 crop.

On all of the principal raisin pools the initial payment this year will be the same as that of last year, being based upon market and financial conditions.

The advance payment on sulphur-bleached raisins will be one-half cent per pound higher.

Because of the statistical position of the market it is expected that progress payments on the 1926 crop will be about two weeks earlier than those of last year.

The dividend and progress payments will be made out of cash accumulating in the operation of the co-operative's business, while the advance payments on the new crop will be from funds borrowed from banks as the result of the co-operative's strong credit and borrowing power.

The delivery season will open on September 1, it was announced, which is two weeks earlier than last year, and payment of the advances will be made six days later, the announcement of the association states.

The advance payments will be on a basis of from ½ cent to 3½ cents per pound on raisins, according to variety and grade, and from ½ cept to 4 cents on currants, according to grade, the schedule shows.

The ½ cent per pound advance will be on inferior-grade raisins and currants of all varieties. This quality is largely used in conversion channels for Sun-Maid amber-type syrup.

Two cents per pound will be advanced on standard-grade Muscats, Thompsons and Sultanas, while the advance will be 3½ cents per pound on standard-grade currants and 3 cents on sulphur-bleached Thompsons, soda-dipped Thompsons and oil-dipped Thompsons. Two and one-half cents will be advanced on oil-dipped Sultanas. A differential of ½ cent per pound for grades higher than standard is also announced in virtually all pools.

Friendly Bears Disappointment to Glendale Man

GLENDALE, Aug. 18.—The amiability of the bears in Yosemite National Park has proved a deep disappointment to James Neil, 126 West Lomita avenue, the leader in the fight to retain the giant eucalyptus trees on that street. In a recent Council meeting Councilman W. F. Tower allied himself with those who are seeking the removal of the trees, and Mr. Neil later sought out Mayor Harry G. MacBain, who was about to start for the conference of the League of California Municipalities, and made him a proposition.

"If you can get one of those bears in the park to eat up Councilman Tower I'll give $1000 to any charity in Glendale you wish to name," he promised. Today Mr. Neil received a postal from Councilman Tower telling him that the bears were as friendly as so many bigamists. A note added by Mayor MacBain, that he had hopes that a real fierce bear might yet be found, has failed to bring any consolation to Mr. Neil, even though he is almost certain to keep his $1000.

Officialdom to Attend County Picnic En Masse

SANTA ANA, Aug. 18.—With the promised attendance of every candidate for public office, the County Supervisors, members of the State traffic squad and all city marshals and chiefs of police in the county, a distinctive touch of official atmosphere will be added to the dinner meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county, to the held August 26 at the new Orange County Fair grounds, it was announced today by George Raymer, secretary of the Greater Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, in charge of arrangements.

The culinary arrangements are in charge of the women of Garden Grove, who have promised an old-fashioned American farm chicken dinner with plenty of fixings. A special program, including a large number of entertainment features as well as addresses on matters of county interests, has been prepared for the occasion, it was announced by Raymer.

WITNESS MAN'S DEATH

Watchers Unable to Reach Side of Crazed Veteran In Time to Save His Life

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 18.—While a horrified police officer and a civilian looked on, powerless to interfere, W. W. Watson, Canadian war veteran, and believed to have become crazed by bootleg liquor, slashed his throat early today and died a few seconds later.

Watson, who was employed as day clerk in a hotel occupied a room in another hotel a few blocks away. He had been drinking heavily and soon after 4 o'clock this morning became violent, tearing up the furnishings of his room and creating considerable disturbance. One of the first things he did was to take a steel bar out of his wardrobe trunk and smash the telephone on the wall. He refused to open the door and those who sought to reach him feared he would leap from the window if the door was smashed in.

Patrolman John W. Cloud, who walks the beat by the hotel, stationed himself on the sidewalk opposite the hostelry to keep an eye on Watson, while efforts were being made to open the door quietly. John Rogers, who came along at that time, stood by the officer's side and the two, looking through the window of the brilliantly lighted room, saw Watson reeling around inside.

Suddenly he made a lunge for the bureau drawer, pulled out a safety-razor blade and drew it across his throat. Cloud raced to the hotel with Rogers and with the night clerk, proceeded to break in the door of Watson's room. Watson lay dead on the floor when they reached his side.

Information given to Coroner S. C. Kelley revealed that Watson came to the hotel about two months ago and had occupied the same room from that time. Papers showed that he had been discharged from the Canadian forces at Vancouver. He was about 35 years of age.

HARVEST IS STARTED ON BABY LIMAS

Yield This Year in Valley is Two Weeks Earlier, It is Reported by Ranchers

VAN NUYS, Aug. 18.—The annual harvest of the crop of baby lima beans has started, work having begun today in the large fields of Harry Clever, Van Nuys rancher. He states that his beans have matured within ninety-one days, which is the record since he has been engaged in growing beans in the Van Nuys community. Previous to this time he always has had time to prepare for the putting in of his fall lettuce.

With the early maturity of the bean crop all ranchers will be extremely busy and they will have plenty to do to get their beans harvested and their fields in shape to plant lettuce.

According to a statement made today by John H. Walters, manager of the bean association, there are 14,000 net acres planted to baby limas in the valley districts. About 400 acres are planted in kidney beans.

The average field last year was thirteen sacks from a total acreage of 15,125. The beans brought about $300,000, according to Mr. Walters's report.

While this year there is a slight fall-off in the total acreage, a better yield is expected per acre, it being believed that with present prospects about 225,000 sacks will be threshed.

Last year the bean price was $10.13 per sack of 100 pounds. This year the price is expected to be lower, having opened recently on baby limas at $7.25. If present conditions maintain the baby-bean yield this year will bring between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000, Mr. Walters asserts.

POLE THAT WAS AUTO TARGET IN NEW PLACE

MISSION ACRES, Aug. 18.—So many motorists persisted in running into a pole alongside a highway near here, that it has been thought best to remove the pole and put it somewhere else. The pole holds the crossing signal at the southeast corner of Brand Boulevard and Chatsworth Drive and long has been a target for speedy autos and trucks. It has been damaged or knocked down numerous times in the last few months. Each time the pole has been struck it has cost the city several dollars in repair. Yesterday another huge truck skidded into the pole and broke it off at the base. This was the last straw, so to speak, that "busted" the camel's back. The city authorities today leveled the old pole stump and have stuck a new pole up at the northeast corner, hoping autoists from now on will dodge it when they pass.

INCREASED VALUES

VERNON, Aug. 18.—The assessed valuation of the city, which is the manufacturing center of Los Angeles county, is given for this year as $33,606,771, an increase of $24,001 over last year.

Arrest Halts Trip Back to Old Home State

POMONA, Aug. 18.—Arrested today at Needles while en route on a Southern Pacific train to his old home in Minnesota, Alvin Shulz will be returned to this city to face charges of attempting to leave the State to defraud creditors, Judge White having issued a telegraphic warrant late last evening, a few minutes after it was learned Shulz had boarded the train here.

That Shulz was an unwelcome traveling companion of his wife, who also was on the same train, was the belief expressed here today by officials who stated that after a long series of marital difficulties, Shulz had finally agreed to pay his wife's expenses to her home in Minnesota and terminate the married state, but apparently at the last minute the husband had a change of heart and unannounced to anyone he appeared on the station platform at train time with a ticket to a similar destination and boarded it as it started on its journey. M. J. Savage, operator of a local grocery store, swore to the complaint claiming that Savage yet owed him some money upon his meat-market equipment. Shulz will be returned to this city for preliminary hearing.

NEGROES CONFESS

Men Accused of Robbery Held by Ventura Authorities

VENTURA, Nov. 18.—Sam Smith and Jim Radford, negroes, who are said to have robbed a caboose in Oxnard Monday night and to have beaten a man whom they found sleeping beside the tracks, confessed the attack to Dep. Dist.-Atty. James Hollingsworth this morning.

The men are said to have entered the car by jimmying the door with a piece of steel Monday night. Prying open the doors of the closets in which the railroad men kept their belongings, they took a suitcase containing clothing. As they were leaving they stumbled over William Brook, who was asleep near the tracks. Fearing that he would give them away to the police, they gave him a severe beating. He reported them to the police, who found them.

BEACH RESIDENTS FORM CHESS CLUB

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 18.—Formation of a County Chess Club is planned according to members of the Laguna Beach organization. Chess players residing in Orange county interested are asked to communicate with the Laguna club, which is located in rooms adjoining the Chamber of Commerce Building. It is also announced that guests are welcome at the club at all times. Arrangements have been made whereby members of the beach body will be present Tuesday and Friday afternoons to give instructions to new players.

KILLED IN EXPLOSION

Oil Worker Victim of Fatal Accident When Match Falls Into Powder Can

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 18.—James Cahill, aged 50, was killed and Patrick Quirk will be confined at San Joaquin Hospital for three weeks, as the result of a disastrous powder explosion, which occurred late yesterday afternoon on Sec. 8, 27-28, north of Bakersfield, where the Barnsdall Oil Company is preparing to drill a well to offset the Shell Company's "discovery" well in the new Poso district.

Cahill died at a local hospital about noon today where he had been taken following the accident.

Cahill, together with Quirk, was employed last Tuesday morning by the Barnsdall company, only a few hours before the injuries occurred which later ended in death. The man leaves no family.

According to officials of the company, which employed the two men, they were excavating for a pipe rack. Rocky formations were encountered. Black powder was employed for the blasting work and the men had set a four-foot fuse to the charge.

It is believed that when a match was lighted, the head flew off and landed in a huge black powder can, which was setting at a distance of ten feet from the work.

As the powder was ignited Cahill rushed over to it in an attempt to extinguish it before an explosion occurred. It is not known whether or not the man had lifted the can when it exploded, but his entire body, with the exception of two spots scarcely larger than the size of a person's hand, was burned almost to cinders.

Mr. Quirk, who was near the powder can, received serious burns on his face and hands.

ROMANCE BORN IN RUSSIA ENDS HERE

Countess Ludmila Krazinsky

RED REVOLT HAS SEQUEL IN DIVORCE

Russian Countess Tells Story of Flight With Aid of Musician

Stranger than fiction is the story which Countess Ludmila Krazinsky swore was the truth before she took the witness stand yesterday in Superior Judge Hollzer's court to show cause why she should have a divorce from her husband, Georges Zaslawsky.

The Countess Krazinsky, according to her testimony, was a lady-in-waiting to a Russian grand duchess when the World War claimed the life of her husband and left her with a large fortune and widow's weeds.

The winter of 1921 found her in revolutionary Petrograd, she declared, where her life hourly was in danger. It was then that Zaslawsky, a musical conductor in the Imperial Conservatory at the Russian capital, entered her life with promises to help her escape from Russia if she would marry him. She gave her promise, she testified.

Together the two began a perilous journey out of Russia and after enduring untold hardships they reached Prague, Bohemia, where they were married. They had not even been married a month, the countess declared, until her husband became abusive. "He took my wealth and squandered it," she said.

Later they came to America. Zaslawsky, now teaching music here, had sued his wife for divorce on grounds of desertion but failed to contest her cross-complaint. Judge Hollzer granted her a divorce and $50 monthly alimony.

Deputy County Counsel Enters Private Practice

Mortimer Kline, for the past two years a deputy County Counsel, and formerly a deputy District Attorney, yesterday tendered his resignation to County Counsel Matteon. Kline, who had informally notified Mattoon of his intention to resign several weeks ago, will enter the private practice of law today with the firm of Andrews & Andrews with offices in the Union Oil Building.

During his service in the County Counsel's office Kline acted as legal adviser to the County Board of Education and also handled a large part of the county road department's legal work, including the prosecution of condemnation suits instituted by the county to acquire property for the extension and building of new highways.

Kline acted as counsel for the county last year in the prosecution of the Malibu Ranch case, in which the county acquired a right of way through the ranch for the building of the new coast defense highway, which eventually will extend from the Mexican border to the Canadian border.

Naval "General" Fickle Spouse, Wife Complains

General J. Harrison, a sailor in the United States Navy, had another girl in another port, according to testimony yesterday in Judge Wood's court, where Corynne G. Harrison was granted a divorce. Mrs. Harrison stated her husband associated with other women when he was on a cruise, but she declared he wrote her later that "I am sorry I was so foolish to step out and do what I did."

Asked how her husband happened to have the name of General, the wife told Judge Wood she understood he had been named after his great-grandfather, but beyond that, she declared, she knew nothing of his antecedents. The couple were married November 27, 1925, and separated May 22, last, according to Mrs. Harrison's complaint. Harrison did not appear to contest the case.

QUICK COURT ACTION PLEA GETS REPLY

Three Confessed Robbers Find Summary Justice Can be Meted

Quick court action is what Stanley Abernathy, Richard Donnelly and Sam Anderson asked with regard to their cases, in which they were charged with robbery in several instances. They received what they wished, having pleaded guilty to the charges. Abernathy was sentenced to from fifteen years to life in prison by Jurge Burnell, who will listen to an application for probation for Donnelly tomorrow. Judge O'Donnell will decide Anderson's sentence today.

The three young men are said to have spread their activities over the county during the last few months. They were charged with the robbery of R. H. Christie of the Christie Hotel, Hollywood, whom they are said to have aided in an automobile accident and then robbed on April 4, last.

In addition to other robberies, the three are said to have held up a Los Angeles motorcycle officer, taken his vehicle and then used it in robbing numerous Japanese gardeners. It was the use of the motorcycle that led to their arrest.

Special Board to Redistrict State Approved

Emphatic approval of the proposed constitutional reapportionment amendment, which would create a reapportionment commission to carry out the duty of the Legislature in the event that body fails to act, was expressed last night by Joseph Scott, attorney, in a statement to the All-Parties Reapportionment Committee, 346 South Hill street.

Indorsing Proposition No. 20 on the November election ballot and criticising legislators for their failure to carry out reapportionment by population, which would give the southern California proper representation in the Senate and Assembly, Attorney Scott said:

"I am in favor of reapportionment because I believe in obeying the plain mandate of the constitution in that regard, and in view of the lawless conduct of the Legislature in refusing to follow the plain requirements of the constitution I am in favor of transferring the duty from that body to another group more amenable to the courts, so that peremptory cooperation can be required of them to carry out the constitutional will of the people.

"It is such a travesty when the legislators ignore the obligation imposed upon them by the constitution and then prate upon the breakdown of law and order when the only concern some seem to have about constitutional questions is the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment."

Mother Freed in Sanity Test Sues for Her Children

Seeking the custody of her four children, who, she declared, are being detained at the home of a Mrs. Cammack, 216 Electric street, Alhambra, Mrs. Mae Bole yesterday filed an application for a writ of habeas corpus in Judge Keeler's Juvenile Court, asking that Mrs. Cammack be compelled to surrender the children to her.

Mrs. Bole stated the children were placed with Mrs. Cammack at a time when Mrs. Bole was placed in the psychopathic ward of the General Hospital through stipulation of attorneys in her divorce suit against her husband, Roy Bole. Action on the divorce case now is pending in Superior Court. Mrs. Bole stated she was discharged from the psychopathic ward immediately following her incarceration, but, she declared, Mrs. Cammack failed to return her children to her. The mother charged she has been deprived of her rights in her children and that it is to their best interest that they be given to her. The children in the case are Paul, Hazel, Herbert and Wayne Bole.

Widow Opens Court Contest on Gates Will

Precipitating a court fight over the $75,000 estate of James Sherman Gates, who was said to have ended his own life June 22, last, after an asserted attempt to slay his wife, Mrs. E. Estella Gates, the widow, yesterday filed a contest in Probate Court of her late husband's will.

Mrs. Gates charged her husband was of unsound mind, suffered hallucinations and also that he was subjected to undue influence at the time he executed his will. Under the terms of the will Gates's estate was principally distributed to his sister-in-law, Mrs. Louise E. C. Gates, and other relatives.

The widow charged that Gates, during his lifetime, entertained an unfounded antipathy for her, and that it was his brooding over imaginary wrongs that finally led him to attempt to slay her and to his suicide.

Sword or Song Wife's Weapons, Husband Holds

Describing how his wife, armed with a sword which was part of a fraternal-order costume, chased his son by a former marriage about the house, Marion Stowell yesterday obtained a divorce in Judge Walton J. Wood's court from Teletha Stowell.

"She finally chased my son out on the front porch and I took the sword away from her," said Stowell.

Stowell also asserted his wife played the role of a "sleepy-time gal" and kept him awake until late hours of the night because she did most of her sleeping in the daytime.

"When I tried to sleep at night she sang religious hymns to me," Stowell testified. "My health finally became so impaired that I could not properly attend to my business."

ADMITS SHOOTING IN GARAGE FIGHT

Clarence Barber

SIX HELD AS WITNESSES TO SLAYING

Garage Manager Admits Shooting Intruder But Pleads Self-Defense

Arrests of six men as witnesses to the slaying of Isreal Grosher, 24 years of age, a salesman, of 2209½ Brooklyn avenue, were made by police yesterday, and they will be produced at the inquest which is set for 10 a.m. today. They are Jack Baer, 2237 Michigan avenue; Charles Duncan, 2410 Vineyard street; C. E. Gillis, Herman Apartments; Pico Ramies, 620 Neptune avenue, Wilmington; Philip Cruz, 549 West Nineteenth street, San Pedro, and Louis Phillips, 2347 Sheridan street. The arrests were made by Detective Lieutenants Condaffer and Hickey.

Clarence Barber, manager of a storage garage at 110 East Third street, according to the officers, admits he shot Grosher but declares it was in self-defense. According to Barber's story, as related by the police, several men entered the garage Tuesday night and tried to purchase liquor from his brother, Harold Barber, without success. Later they returned, it was said, and again demanded liquor and when they failed to get any started a fight in which one of the night workmen, J. Higgins, became involved. Barber, according to the police, says he entered the garage while the fight was in progress and seeing his brother in danger of being badly beaten, went to his rescue.

Barber declared, the police say, he saw Grosher make a motion as though to draw a weapon and produced his own pistol and fired. The bullet struck Grosher in the back and entered his abdomen.

The officers said, so far as they could learn, neither Grosher nor any of the other men in the fight was armed.

BULKHEAD STARTED TO GIVE CLUB MORE BEACH

In efforts to increase the depth of the beach frontage A. T. Cummins, contractor, yesterday began construction of a lateral bulkhead on the sands of the Gables Beach Club at Santa Monica. The bulkhead will cost $10,000 and will measure 300 feet in length, extending along the entire property line of the club, slightly shoreward of the mean low-tide mark. Several thousand tons of sand are being placed on the shore side of the wall, which is composed of creosoted pilings, placed eighteen feet in the sand. This sand will give the club a greater depth of level beach front, while the tidal action will gradually level the beach in front of the wall.

NEW SEMINARY HEAD SELECTED

Very Rev. M. F. Winne Here for Fall Opening

Will Direct Training Youths for Priesthood

Construction Under Way on Catholic School

Announcement has just been made of the appointment of Very Rev. Marshall F. Winne, C.M. Ph.D., a native son, as president of the new preparatory seminary for the diocese of Los Angeles and San Diego now under course of construction at Third and Detroit streets.

Dr. Winne arrived in the city a few days ago to begin preparations for the opening of the seminary which will start classes September 7. He came here directly from Chicago, where he has been principal of the De Paul University High School, one of the largest Catholic high schools for boys in the city of Chicago.

EDUCATED IN CITY

Dr. Winne received his early education in the city schools and the Los Angeles High School and took his college courses at old St. Vincent's College, receiving his bachelor's degree in 1907 and his master's degree in 1909. He received the doctor's degree at the University of Dallas. His ecclesiastical studies were pursued at St. Mary's Seminary, Perryville, Mo., and he was ordained by Bishop Conaty in old St. Vincent's Church June 13, 1913.

The same year he was appointed director of discipline and professor of sociology at the University of Dallas. In 1917 he was elected to the office of treasurer and professor of philosophy at the Kenrick Theological Seminary, St. Louis.

VINCENTIANS IN CHARGE

The following year he returned to Dallas to serve as president of the University of Dallas. Under his presidency the university increased its enrollments, new departments were added and the finances of the institution increased by a successful financial campaign.

In 1923 Dr. Winne returned to Kenrick Seminary as head of the department of philosophy and associate professor at Webster College. The following year he was appointed director of seminarians and head of the philosophy department at St Thomas Seminary, Denver.

The faculty of the new seminary will be composed of members of the Vincentian order of priests, founded by St. Vincent de Paul, one universal patron of charity. At the present time the order is in charge of fourteen seminaries and colleges in this country.

Ex-Policeman Convicted of Beating Baby

A. E. W. Nels, former police officer, was found guilty yesterday in Municipal Judge Pope's court of brutality toward his 11-months-old son and will be sentenced today.

According to the testimony of Nels's wife, her husband would beat the baby in the face with his fists when it cried. If she attempted to remonstrate, she was given the same treatment, she said.

Her child, with its face badly bruised, was presented before the court as evidence. Nels resides at 1018 1-2 Spence street.

WINS DELAYED GAME

LONG BEACH, Aug. 18. (AP)—A game of marbles interrupted at Topeka, Kan., forty-seven years ago, when the mother of one of the boys called him away to take a trip, was resumed here today by Squire Du Bois, public-recreation superintendent, and Senator Charles Thompson of Topeka. The two men met at the Iowa picnic here last week and immediately recalled the interrupted game. It was played out today on the city's roque courts, with the recreation superintendent winning all the marbles.

John W. Cooke's Backers to Hold Mass Meetings

Two mass meetings in support of the candidacy of John W. Cooke for City Counsel from the First Councilmanic District at the special recall election to be conducted September 21 will be held next week.

There will be a meeting next Wednesday evening at the Allesandro School, 2201 Riverside Drive, under the auspices of the First Councilmanic District Civic League, of which Charles C. Grider is president.

Next Thursday evening there will be a Cooke mass meeting at Columbia Hall, Lankershim.

Mr. Cooke will speak at both meetings. The candidate has been employed in the city engineering department for seventeen years and for the past three years has been in charge of the San Fernando Valley district of the engineering department. He lives in the Silver Lake section.

On the ballot at the special election will be the question as to whether Councilman Randall shall be recalled and this question will be followed by the list of candidates, including the name of Councilman Randall.

Council Seats to be Softer Than Ever Now

The seats of the mighty at the City Hall—i. e., the chairs in which the fifteen City Councilmen sit daily and ponder and discuss affairs of state relating to the health, peace, safety and prosperity of the people of Los Angeles—will now be more comfortable. It was Councilman Allan who led the crusade for softer seats for Councilmen, and so yesterday the Council appropriated $37.50 to purchase one soft cushion for each of the Councilmanic chairs.

On each cushion will be stenciled the words, "City Council." This special feature was added to the cushions to prevent their mysterious disappearance. Sergeant-at-Arms Daniels will now, before the Council goes into deep and weighty discussion, make a survey and check of the cushions and round up, recover and restore to its rightful place any missing cushion.

CARMEL MOVE OPENS TODAY

Newsboys' Attorney Seeks Writ to Subpoena Nine Witnesses to Appear Here for Trial

Action is to be instituted in Superior Court today in an effort to compel the issuance of subpoenas to bring nine witnesses to Los Angeles from Carmel to testify for the defense at the trial on the 23rd inst., of four news venders on charges of selling obscene literature because of th sale of an edition of the San Diego Herald containing an article concerning Aimee Semple McPherson.

Milton Golden, attorney for the news venders, announced yesterday he will file a petition for a writ of mandate seeking to compel Municipal Judge Rosenkranz, sitting for Judge Stafford, to issue the Carmel subpoenas. Judge Rosenkrans refused the summons Tuesday on the ground an affidavit presented by Mr. Golden was insufficient.

It is the contention of Mr. Golden the affidavit filed with Judge Rosenkranz in support of his motion to issue the subpoenas complies in every respect with the code provisions and that if he must draw a new affidavit setting forth facts, as requested by Judge Rosenkranz, to show the materiality of the testimony of these witnesses, he will have to, he declares, show his hand.

Warrant Officer McIntire yesterday served a subpoena, obtained by Mr. Golden, on Mrs. McPherson, to be present as a defense witness when the news venders' trial opens on Monday. The subpoena was served at Angelus Temple and was accepted by the evangelist.

The mandate petition, Mr. Golden stated, will be filed the first thing this morning and Acting Presiding Judge Valentine will be requested to set the petition for hearing on the same day in view of the fact the trial is near at hand.

This afternoon Superior Judge Miller of San Francisco, who is sitting in the local court, will hear arguments on an order to show cause why a temporary restraining order should not be issued in the injunction suit brought in behalf of the news venders to prohibit police from interfering with the sale of the San Diego newspaper. This action is directed against Chief of Police Davis, City Prosecutor Friedlander, and others.

Others who have been served with subpoenas as defense witnesses include Dep. Dist.-Atty. Ryan, who investigated the McPherson case for the District Attorney's office and Chief of Detectives Cline. Subpoenas have also been issued for Dist.-Atty. Keyes, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, the evangelist's mother, and their secretary, Miss Emma Schafer, but have not been served. Mr. Keyes has been absent from his office "taking part of his vacation." He is expected to return today, his secretary said.

CHAPMAN FUNERAL TODAY

Uncle of Young Fullerton Man Declares Liquor Had Nothing to Do With Death

Funeral services for Frank M. Chapman, who died in Long Beach last Monday night, will be conducted at the Hollywood Chapel this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in Hollywood Cemetery. Chapman's home was in Fullerton.

Mr. Chapman died of heart disease, according to the report of an autopsy finding. The autopsy was made necessary when Dr. C. W. Ransom declined to issue a death certificate until an official analysis had been completed.

Dr. Ransom told Long Beach police, according to their report, that Mr. Chapman was dead when he arrived and that Mrs. Chapman, the widow, declared that "all present" had taken "one highball," but that she believed it was her husband's heart condition, of which he had frequently complained, that had caused his collapse.

Charles C. Chapman, the young man's uncle and a millionaire citrus grower of Orange county, in commenting on the police report yesterday, denied that liquor had the slightest connection with his nephew's death.

The Interviewer

"I can't say I observed during my recent seven-months' stay in Europe the excessive ill will against American a lot of persons would have us think exists on that continent," said E. L. Marston, New York banker, who is at the Biltmore.

"I have made several trips to Europe in my time and did not find the attitude of the Europeans as a whole on this visit different from what it has always been. I did observe that in some of the smaller places a feeling prevails that our new immigration law is too strict. A lot of people in Europe, especially among the less well-to-do, yearn to come to America and the immigration bars irk them.

"I had just left Paris when the recent demonstrations against Americans took place there. I don't believe these demonstrations should be given too much weight. It's easy to work up excitement in Paris. The Parisians are a mercurial people. The French have their troubles, one of them being their inability to collect taxes from the peasant. This situation is well expressed, I think, by a New York friend of mine who sums it up in rhyme as follows:

"'Being stout and true of heart, the Frenchman does not lightly part with money when he has a lot, but keeps it in a chest or pot. And when the tax collector comes and utters loud encomiums on Briand or on Painleve, and asks the peasant will he pay a bit toward the foreign debt, or else to France's great regret there'll be a change of Cabinet. The peasant, for he is Gaul, politely listens to it all, but bids the tax collector go with "Non," which is the French for "No"!"

"New Guinea is Australia's future hope for her oil supply," said W. G. Langford, Sydney oil man, who is at the Alexandria. "Australian prospectors are now busy looking for oil in New Guinea, with prospects getting better all the time that this island will eventually prove an oil field.

"The formation in New Guinea is much like that of Java and other islands in the East Indies. As yet no paying well has been brought in, but it is probable that oil in paying quantities will be struck soon. New Guinea is now under Australian rule under the provisions of the Versailles Treaty.

"I have spent considerable time in the island myself, which is one of the few portions of the earth's surface still remaining unexplored. The New Guinea natives are probably the most savage tribes in the world today, many of them being cannibals. Under the Australian rule, however, New Guinea is gradually being civilized. A police system has been instituted, extending to all parts of the island except the hills in the interior, and this system is succeeding in keeping the natives in order. On the coast there are many mission schools, where native children are being educated. The New Guinea aborigine differs from the Australian, being on a higher plane culturally and also possessed of greater intelligence."

"Vigilantes functioning somewhat like those of the days fo the Forty-niners have been organized in Chicago to assist the authorities in putting an end to the gang war in that city," said P. J. Holden of Chicago, who is at the Biltmore.

"The vigilante groups, which are composed of ordinary citizens that have been sworn in as deputy sheriffs lend a hand in raids and other activities that are being pursued to quell the lawless element. The gang disorders have a good bit of resemblance to the feuds of the mountaineers in the South, being fights between groups of bootleggers and other types of gangsters with different interests. Since the vigilante organization came into being conditions have improved considerably."

JOHNSON QUITS BOARD

Mayor Cryer yesterday received the resignation of Philip R. Johnson as a member of the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation, Mr. Johnson giving as his reason pressure of private business. Mr. Johnson formerly was president of the board and recently was succeeded by H. G. Haffer as president. The resignation was accepted by the Mayor and Mr. Johnson's successor will be appointed to fill the remainder of the commissioner's term.

GIRL ASKS $50,000 FOR HEART BALM

Declares She Wed in Good Faith Only to Discover Man Already Married

Declaring Frank Sebastian Penole, sometimes known as Frank Sebastian, wooed her and went through a purported marriage ceremony with her for the purpose of deceiving and betraying her, May Belle Medley, 21 years of age, yesterday filed suit against Penole for $50,000 damages.

Miss Medley asserted she became acquainted with Penole in August, 1922, and that she permitted him to accompany her to various places under the representation that he was a single man. November 14, 1924, she said, she went through a marriage ceremony with Penole, believing that she was becoming his wife. She stated she lived with him until January 10, last, under the belief that she was Mrs. Penole, only to discover on that date that the man she thought to be her husband was already wedded to Rose Penole.

Miss Medley declared she had aided Penole in acquiring property now owned by him and that her chances for domestic happiness had been damaged by his asserted acts. She charged that her status as a single woman had also been damaged by her asserted fraudulent marriage to Penole. Attorneys B. Rey Schauer and Phil Gibson filed the suit.

Hertz to Play All-Wagnerian Music Tonight

A traditional feature of Alfred Herta's concerts at the Hollywood Bowl, an all-Wagner program, is scheduled for tonight.

Seven works of the great composer will be given. Herta directed at Bayreuth, the Wagnerian operahouse, following years before he was brought to America to conduct at the Metropolitan Operahouse.

Herta started the all-Wagner program feature early in his career at the Bowl and it was received with so much enthusiasm that each year—and this is his fourth at the outdoor theater—he has repeated it.

Maud Allan, noted dancerine, is the soloist tomorrow evening, dancing the "Pathetique Symphony" with the orchestra, guided by Herta, and also the "Blue Danube Waltz." This is a regular Bowl event and Bowl season tickets admit the holder to this concert.

The program for tonight:

Overture, "Rienzi."
Siegfried Idyll.
Orchest. "Flying Dutchman."
Prelude and finale, "Tristan and Isolde."
Overture and Bacchanale, "Tannhauser."
Introduction Act III, "Dance of the Apprentices and Entrance of the Guilds, 'Die Meistersinger.'"
Ride of the Valkyries.

CONTRERAS POURS RUM INTO SEWER

Fish were reported biting exceptionally good yesterday afternoon—in fact, large schools of mackerel and other sea fish went on a rampage and were seen dancing the Charleston and acting in other ways that are entirely unbecoming to good respectable sea fish.

This all happened out near the end of the new outfall sewer, near Redondo Beach, but the cause was traced directly to the sink on the twelfth floor of the Hall of Records, where George Contreras, head of the county dry forces of the District Attorney's office, was destroying $25,000 worth of confiscated "booze."

It took five husky men the petter part of the day emptying bottles, jugs and barrels; eighty-five cases of asserted Scotch whisky, valued at $7000, fifty-five five-gallon cans of 180 proof alcohol, ten ten-gallon kegs of moonshine whisky, one twenty-gallon barrel of high-proof hootch, 300 quart bottles of miscellaneous headaches, and 500 pint bottles of liquid firewater which made up the assortment that was destroyed.

Eight copper stills of 500-gallon capacity each will be destroyed and turned over to the county tinsmith; a large assortment of suit cases taken from bootleggers also will be destroyed.

The barrels and bottles will be turned over to the county store.

Up until a late hour last night a steady stream of liquor was flowing down the sewer and many a poor, unsophisticated mackerel will be nursing a feverish headache this morning.

When Birds Go to Housekeeping

Julian Huxley, grandson of the famous scientist, Thomas Huxley, is a bird specialist. He says male birds arrive first in the spring and take possession of a home site and a certain amount of territory around it, just like any other settler. If two male birds arrive at the same time they fight it out for possession. Then the bird pioneer begins to sing. The female birds arrive later and separate when they reach the locality. If a female is alone, she simply takes her place on the site of the male bird's claim and the two are a pair for the season. If two rival females arrive together, they fight for possession. The pioneer settler hovers about, an interested, even an excited spectator, but takes no part in the fuss. It doesn't take very long for a bird village to set up housekeeping.—[Capper's Weekly.

Mice and Matches

There is a popular belief that fires are often started by mice gnawing on matches. Engineers connected with the Underwriters' laboratories in New York decided to make a test. They put several mice in a cage and gave them nothing to eat but matches. Not one of the mice would touch them. After a few days they had to be taken from the cage and released to prevent their starving to death.—[Pathfinder.

RICH BOYS, ROUGHING IT, REACH HERE

Son of General Electric President and Companion Work Way from New York

Gerard Swope, Jr., and Osmun Skinner, each 20 years of age, have roughed it rather than dawdle the summer vacation away in white flannels and idleness. Though Gerard's father, Gerard Swope, Sr., is president of the General Electric Company, and Osmun is of well-to-do parentage, the youths chose a cross-country trip in a Ford roadster and manual labor aboard the Robin Hood, a lumber freighter, in preference to the ease they might have had.

Following the example of David Swope, twin brother of Gerard, who came westward early in June to work on the Irvine ranch in Orange county, the two left New York City June 21, and after traversing a zig-zag course of 8500 miles, arrived in San Francisco two weeks ago. Throughout the trip, they never once slept indoors.

They have been spending a few days at a fraternity house of the University of California, Southern Branch, and leave this morning aboard the Robin Hood, prepared to work their way to New York. They will arrive in time to resume their studies at Dartmouth University.

Each is keeping a diary of his experiences.

City Club Will Honor Talented Local Whistler

Margaret McKee, whistler, will be the guest of honor at the Friday musical tomorrow at the Los Angeles City Club.

The daughter of Edgar McKee, member of the City Club, Miss McKee is a native daughter of Los Angeles and won recognition in musical concert circles when a little girl. She has appeared both in this country and abroad since going to New York six years ago.

She remained in New York for a time, appearing in successive seasons in the New York Hippodrome, Irving Berlin's "Music Box Revue," and appeared with Sir Harry Lauder both in New York and on tour. She played the Blue Bird part in Florenz Ziegfeld's "Annie Dear." She has appeared before President and Mrs. Coolidge and while in London last season was heard by Princess Mary and the Duchess of York.

Miss McKee is visiting her home here for the first time in four years. She returned to Los Angeles to serve as maid of honor at the marriage of her sister, Miss Leah McKee.

Divorce Suit of Wealthy Beach Pair Postponed

Owing to the pressure of other business, Presiding Judge Stephens yesterday continued to September 13 trial of the hotly contested divorce suit of Edgar R. Herwick, millionaire Long Beach oil operator, and Ariel Herwick.

Both Herwick and his wife charged each other with cruelty, Herwick declaring that on one occasion Mrs. Herwick threw a fork at him and that she also associated with an automobile salesman in San Francisco while he was in jail in San Diego. Mrs. Herwick asserted her husband associated with other women.

The program follows dinner. All Missourians are invited.

POLITICS

THE WATCHMAN

Trend of Political Thought and Action

BY THE SENTRY ON HIS BEAT

Edward H. Hurlbut, editor and publisher of the San Francisco Tribune, is one of the oldest and most experienced political observers in Northern California. Through the years The Watchman has read Mr. Hurlbut's comments on politics, not always with approval, but never without respect for the sincerity and shrewd understanding of the writer.

"Ned" Hurlbut lives right in the center of the political stronghold of Boss McCabe and Terrible Tom Finn. He calls McCabe "Al," and the San Francisco Sheriff, "Tom." Occasionally he finds himself shoulder to shoulder with these gentlemen in this or that political contest. At other times he opposes the McCabe-Finn combination and makes no apologies whatsoever.

Something more than ordinary interest, therefore, attaches to Hurlbut's latest comment on the gubernatorial contest, as follows:

"Senator Hiram Johnson has made his first major talk after invading the State in behalf of Clarke for Senator and Young for Governor. I did not hear it, but newspaper men who did declare that the senior Senator has all his old-time platform control. The only question is, how far can he delegate his personal following over to another—or to two others? In the days when progressivism was the burning issue Johnson was the distinguished militant, but he led his forces for his own elevation, not the elevation of another. And the high tide of progressivism has receded, until now what we seeth to be drifting into is a sort of a kid gloved communism. What are left of the Progressives have hooked arms with the Socialists, some sections of Labor, what reds there are left, the parlor Bolsheviks, and a considerable —and by far the most important— grouping of white collar people who seem to be getting squeezed just a bit more as the years roll by and are becoming vaguely resentful and restless. Then there is the group that is eternally baiting the corporations.

"It always was the judgment of this writer, if it is of any interest, that neither Clarke nor Young was the type of personality to coalesce such forces of opposition to established forms as are undoubtedly present. Whether, were Johnson himself back again at the height of his power, he could do it, would be a question. The Clarke-Young candidacies have a world of publicity, and shrewd and seasoned political managers and newspaper publicists. But it seems to me the fault is with the candidates themselves as not being of the natural 'leader' variety.

"Probably, had Johnson better material to work with he would secure a better result; as it is, it begins to look to the man on the side lines that there is a general swing back coming both to Gov. Richardson and to Senator Samuel Shortridge on the ground that, with every opportunity given, no especial reason has been advanced for a change—save and except that here are two important public posts that other people would like to fill.

"Gov. Richardson had a magnificent meeting at the Whitcomb Hotel during the week, when some 500 women met to welcome him. This must have been a surprise to the opposition. It was one of the most representative lists ever assembled in this city for a candidate. The Governor gave a good account of his stewardship, meeting the issue of schools squarely on the nose, welfare work and the other major problems of especial interest to the women."

Country newspaper men and their wives, numbering more than 200, will renew their fealty to Gov. Richardson at a banquet next Friday at the Alexandria, when the chief executive will deliver what is predicted to be the most important speech in the entire campaign, according to Justus Craemer of the Orange Daily News, and chairman of the newspaper men's campaign committee.

Four years ago when the Governor, in his second-hand automobile, traveled hundreds of weary miles over California carrying a message of economy, efficiency, law and order into every village and city throughout the State, he was always sure of finding one friend wherever he stopped. This friend proved to be the country newspaper man, the man, who, in most instances, wrote the news items, then took them into the office, set them up and printed the paper himself. There was a common bond of interest between Gov. Richardson and these friends of his, for it has not been so many years ago that he was setting type out of the case and chronicling the daily activities of his friends and neighbors as only the country newspaper man knows how.

George M. Stout, secretary of the State Veterans' Welfare Board, has made public a statement strongly indorsing the candidacy for re-election of Senator Shortridge.

"No man better deserves the support of the Republican party of California than Senator Shortridge," declared Stout. "He has given active support to every bit of constructive legislation advocated by the representatives of the service men's organizations, including the restricted immigration bill and the World Court.

"When Commander Quinn, the great California Legion leader, was struggling for the veterans' adjusted compensation bill and the lines were so closely drawn that one vote seemed sufficient to throw the balance, Senator Shortridge gave the vote that not only overrode a Presidential veto, but accomplished its enactment. As a veracious representative of his people, he took his stand and abided by their advice and their dictates."

Thomas F. Flaherty, secretary-treasurer of the National Federation of Postoffice Clerks, and legislative agent for that organization, with headquarters at Washington, is taking his first vacation in thirteen years, so that he can come to California to offer his services in the campaign to re-elect Senator Shortridge.

The Ventura Free Press has written a strong editorial urging the nomination of Frank F. Merriam, Republican, candidate for Lieutenant-Governor. It is entitled "Elect a Competent Understudy," and is as follows:

"The voters of California are going to select, among others, at the primary, a man to fill the office of Lieutenant-Governor, who will find his heaviest duties those of presiding officer in the State Senate.

"There is only one man in the race for that office who has presided over a branch of the Legislature, and he is Frank Merriam. As speaker of the Assembly for two years, Mr. Merriam displayed very marked ability in presiding over a house divided against itself by factional fights. If elected Lieutenant-Governor, he would be just as able and fair in the Senate.

"We believe that even those who are running against Merriam will admit that he is better qualified than anyone else in the race for that office."

Fred W. Blanchard, Los Angeles business man and well-known as a progressive Republican leader, last night issued a statement indorsing Joe Crail for the Tenth District Republican Congressional nomination.

Indorsement of the candidacy of Rex B. Goodcell for the Republican nomination for Governor was announced yesterday by the Mineral League Industry of California by Sidney Norman, chairman of the executive committee. The action was taken at a meeting of the executive committee at the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

State Senator Lyman M. King is receiving strong support in Fresno. A number of the leading attorneys and business men of the Raisin City have indorsed his candidacy, and King cards and auto stickers are numerous there. Mr. King spoke twice last week in Fresno to fraternal gatherings and will be there again this next week, having accepted invitations from the Kiwanis Club and the Commercial Club.

Reports announced yesterday at the Home-for-Sheriff headquarters in the Ferguson Building showed that former Police Chief Home established a big lead over other candidates in straw-vote polls taken recently in several sections of the county.

It was announced that the polls showed in Lancaster two to one in favor of Capt. Home as against his opponents; Belvedere, seven to one; six blocks in Hollywood, three and one-half to one, and Maywood, six and one-half to one.

Capt. Home was one of the principal speakers last night at a meeting of the Tri-City Republican Club at the Montrose High School. It was a nonpartisan meeting of people from all over La Crescenta Valley.

That the fruit growers of the Ninth Congress District should be vitally interested in the choice of W. E. Evans as Republican nominee for Congress is the statement made in an open letter by State Senator Taylor, chairman of the Ninth District Republican Congressional Committee.

Statement is made by Taylor that Republican representation has been of untold value to citrus agriculturists during the past six years, and that it is necessary to send to Washington a lifelong Republican, such as Evans, the choice of a conference with more than 600 delegates.

An active volunteer committee of women, representing the chief cities in the county, is aiding in the campaign for the reelection of Judge Charles S. Burnell to the Superior Court, according to former County Counsel Hill, chairman of the general campaign committee.

An indorsement of Judge Frederick C. Valentine's candidacy for the Superior Court was received yesterday at his campaign headquarters from Benjamin W. Hahn of the law firm of Hahn & Hahn.

An indorsement from the Pasadena Bar Association was yesterday added to the support of Dep. Dist.-Atty. H. S. G. McCartney's campaign for election to the Superior Court bench.

Douglas L. Edmonds, candidate for a short term Superior Court post, has been indorsed by Harriet W. Works, one of the leading club women of Los Angeles. Recent indorsements for Edmonds include Reynold E. Blight, Henry A. Wheeler, Dr. E. H. Noe, Charles S. Mann, and William H. Fischer.

Personal visits will be made by Sheriff Traeger to every corner of Los Angeles county during the twelve days intervening before the primaries in his campaign for re-election with more than thirty speaking dates on his schedule. He will attend a rally planned by residents of th vicinity of Monterey Park on the 26th inst.

Superior Judge Crail, a candidate for re-election, has been invited to be present on the speakers' platform at the Pension Day picnic of the city employees, Saturday at the Selig Zoo.

Superior Judge William Haslett, a candidate to succeed himself for the unexpired terms of Judge John M. York, has received indorsements from the Los Angeles Bar Association, the City Attorneys' Association of Southern California, the Pasadena Bar Association and the Long Beach Bar Association.

Election of Voltaire Perkins as Assemblyman from the Sixty-third District has been advocated by Harriet W. Works, Mrs. Myers T. White, Vere R. Norton, Mrs. Louis Torrance, Edna Porter Phillips, Mrs. W. R. Mitchell, Elizabeth L. Chapman, Mrs. Granville Fletcher, Hazel Lane, Mrs. Amanda Barber and Mrs. Adeline L. Egan.

Indorsement of the candidacy of Buron Fitts for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant-Governor has been made by LeCompte Davis, prominent Los Angeles attorney, and Secretary of State Jordan.

John B. Elliott, candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator, has received the indorsements of the Progressive Alliance, a nonpartisan organization working for the support of Progressive candidates on various tickets.

Mr. Elliott will be the guest of honor and speaker at a joint meeting of the Democratic Luncheon Club and Woman's Democratic League in the Peacock Room of the Alexandria at noon today.

Great stress is being placed on protection of forests and watersheds in the Ninth Congress District and upon Federal aid in the construction of roads and highways by Supervisor Wright, candidate for the Republican nomination for Congressman, he stated yesterday.

PIONEER OF HOLLYWOOD SUCCUMBS

Fred S. Pettangill One of Subdividers of Original Tract in District

The death of Fred S. Pettangill, 78 years of age, occurred at his home, 1256 Formosa avenue, Hollywood, yesterday morning after a lingering illness.

Mr. Pettangill was a native of Maine and a Civil War veteran. He came to Los Angeles more than forty years ago and lived the greater part of the time in the same block, at Fountain and Formosa avenues, where he died. He was one of the subdividers of the original West Hollywood tract upon which he lived and financed and built sixteen of the residences thereon. At the time of his death he retained title to considerable of the property.

As an enthusiastic motorist he was familiar with every portion of California and his car never went empty if he could find any neighbor or friend to take along. He was famiiliarly known to the neighborhood as Uncle Fred.

Having no children of his own, he lavished his favors upon the children of others. His first wife died some years ago. He leaves his second wife, Mrs. Minnie Babcock Pettangill.

The funeral will be conducted at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon from the Hollywood Funeral Chapel, 1724 North Highland avenue.

LUBITSCH CONTRACT PURCHASED

Lasky, M.-G.-M. in Deal With Warner Brothers for Services of Director

Warner Brothers last night announced that the unexpired contract of Ernst Lubitsch has been sold to Famous Players-Lasky and the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Corporation for a sum reported to be in excess of $200,000. Under the terms of Mr. Lubitsch's contract, he was to direct the production of three more pictures.

Desire to devote exclusive attention to the production of pictures which will lend themselves to their newly perfected musical accompaniment known as the Vitaphone is the reason given by Warner Brothers for the transaction. They report a gratifying success with the recent introduction of the synchronized musical score accompanying the showing of "Don Juan" at the New York theater.

Announcement of the Los Angeles theater at which the Vitaphone will make its western debut will be made soon, it was said.

GUARD SHOT AT HOME OF ACTOR GAINS

Joseph Block, Recovering from Wound Inflicted by Former Coogan Chauffeur

With the report last night that Joseph Block, guard of the Coogan home at 673 South Oxford avenue, who was shot in an early morning gun battle on the 9th inst., will recover completely, there also came insistent word from relatives and friends of Herman E. Shipley, former chauffeur for Jackie Coogan, expressing the belief that Shipley, named by Block as his assailant and believed by police to have done the shooting, did not commit suicide.

Shipley's body was found in a garage on the Coogan Ranch near Compton and subsequently shipped to Tipton, Iowa, for burial. A postcard addressed to Mrs. Coogan, mother of the youthful film actor and bearing a scrawled handwriting declared by Capt. Bean of the local homicide squad to tally with Shipley's, caused Los Angeles police to declare the case closed when the body was discovered by Detective Lieutenants Condaffer and Hickey. The card of crude writing stated the sender subsequently would be found dead and was signed Don. A Coroner's jury bore out the suicide belief in the inquest conducted in San Diego.

At the Good Samaritan Hospital last night, Block was reported to be making rapid recovery.

Attorney Urges Vote for Water and Power Issue

Support of the $11,000,000 power and the $10,000,000 water bond issues appearing on special ballots at the August 31 primary election, was urged yesterday by Attorney Donald Barker.

"The constantly growing demand for electric energy in Los Angeles, due to development of the city in every line of undertaking, calls for improvements to the city's electric system which can only be met through the voting of the $11,000,000 power bond issue," declared Mr. Barker.

"The bond issue will enable the development of 26,000 additional horsepower of hydroelectrical energy from the Aqueduct power plants, and improvements which will bring this publicly owned and operated utility additional net earning of $500,000.

"The $10,000,000 water bond issue will enable the development of the city's present water resources in the Owens Valley to their fullest possible extent.

"Every citizen of Los Angeles is a stockholder in the municipal water and power systems and should support these publicly owned utilities, which do not increase taxes, by their affirmative votes for the bonds."

Incinerator in Santa Monica to be Enlarged

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 18.—Plans for a greatly improved municipal incinerator and an expansion of facilities for disposal of city garbage are on Santa Monica's program, following a visit of inspection made yesterday by Herman Michel, newly elected Mayor of Santa Monica, and a group of city officials, including Police Chief Webb, Fire Chief Jackson and City Physician Weaver. Following the inspection tour, the Mayor went into conference with City Engineer Carter over plans for temporary improvement in conditions consequent upon the rapid growth of the city.

According to the Mayor, a 100-ton incinerator to cost approximately $100,000 will be required adequately to dispose of the city's garbage. Michel also favored moving any new incinerator to a location less prominent than the present site on Lincoln Boulevard, one of this city's principal cross-town thoroughfares. The choice of a new site, according to the Mayor, should be in the hands of the City Planning Commission to be appointed later.

ILLINOISANS TO PICNIC

Former residents of Winnebago county and Rockford, Ill., will have a picnic reunion Saturday at Sycamore Grove. Hot coffee will be served. Special souvenir badges will be supplied and a program presented under the lead of H. J. Brubaker.

PLAYERS IN COMEDY CLUB GUESTS TODAY

Dan Bruce, head of the entertainment committee of the Los Angeles Co-operative Club, announced yesterday that Ole Olsen, Chick Johnson, William Demarest and other actors of "Monkey Business" at the Majestic Theater will be the guests of the organization at its luncheon in the Biltmore today. Herbert Rawlinson will be assisted as master of ceremonies by Walter Hiers. The luncheon will be set at 12 o'clock in the main lobby.
